Law, Ditmar Take Mound For Opener

New Yorkers Listed 13-10 Favorites To Win Fall Classic

The eyes and ears of hundreds of thousands of Tri-State District baseball fans focused today on Forbes Field at Pittsburgh where the Pirates and New York Yankees opened the World Series.

Sunny Skies Forecast For Opener Of Series

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Sunny weather was forecast today for the opening of the World Series between the Pittsburgh Pirates and New York Yankees at Forbes Field. A high temperature of 68 was expected.

The Yankees were 13-10 favorites over the Pirates, who brought Pittsburgh its first National League pennant in 33 years.

Scheduled to pitch the opener were Vernon Law (20-9), lanky Buc righthander, and Art Ditmar (15-9), another right-hand hurler.

Some 38,000 were set to watch the colorful attraction in Oakland, while millions were planning "long" lunch hours or other excuses to see the battle on television or to hear it by radio.

Casey Stengel, heading his 10th American League pennant winner, brought the Yankees into Pittsburgh on the crest of a 15-game winning streak.

However, Danny Murtaugh's Bucaneers, who have defied odds and early inning problems, were given strong backing by district fans to knock off the Yankees in six games.

ALL THE PIRATES weren't on the field when the World Series got under way this afternoon at Forbes Field in Pittsburgh. Pirate fan Henry R. Barcus of Cleveland hoped to get a standing room ticket for the opener. (UPI Telephoto)

Debate Set On Plan For Ike-K Talks

Strong 'Distaste' Expressed By Both For Meeting Now

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) —A neutralist resolution urging a meeting between President Eisenhower and Premier Khrushchev comes up for discussion in the U. N. General Assembly today, even though both leaders have expressed strong distaste for the proposal.

Man Wanted To Get Mr. K With Bomb

NEW YORK (AP)—A man who said he "wanted to get" Soviet Premier Khrushchev with a "Molotov cocktail" type fire bomb was arrested early today near the United Nations headquarters.

The man was nabbed by city police as he climbed a wall from the East River Drive into a parking lot just north of the U. N. headquarters.

He carried a homemade bomb, a soda bottle containing a gasoline saturated rag.

Police identified him as Richard Hogan, 22, of Queens, New York City.

He told police he had been recently interviewed by psychiatrists at Bellevue Hospital, where he had been taken by his parents.

Plane Dives Into Harbor At Boston

'Secret Document' Figures In Crackup; Investigation Opens

BOSTON (AP) — An Eastern Airlines four-engine Electra transport plunged into Boston harbor on takeoff Tuesday, killing 61 of the 72 aboard. All of the 11 known survivors were injured seriously.

A mysterious "secret document" figured in the crash. State Police Capt. Carl Larsen, in charge of rescue operations, said a member of the Air Force Office of Special Investigation told him it was aboard at takeoff but later missing. Larsen said the FBI started a search.

The crash, one of a series of mishaps involving the turboprop Electra and the second in less than three weeks, brought urgent demands for investigation.

As the Civil Aeronautics Board ordered seven investigators to the scene, Rep. Steven B. Derounian, R-N.Y., called for a congressional inquiry. Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., calling for corrective action by the Federal Aviation Agency, said "structural deficiencies found in this airplane have not been corrected."

But Gen. E.R. Quesada, federal aviation administrator, said sketchy information available did not seem to show any relation between Tuesday's crash and previous accidents involving Electras.

The plane took off from Logan International Airport at 5:45 p.m. bound for Philadelphia, Charlotte, N.C., Greenville, S.C., and Atlanta. It came down about 200 yards offshore.

Among the 67 passengers were 15 Marine Corps recruits en route to Parris Island, S.C. Ten of them were among the known dead. At least three others were injured.

"The thing was split wide open," said Lt. Cmdr. Everett Cook, USNR, who saw the plane after it nosed into the water off the Winthrop Yacht Club.

"When I got there part of the plane was still afloat," said Cmdr. Donald Regan, USNR, one of the first to reach the scene. "a good many of the passengers were strapped to their seats and could not get out. The seats were floating. I noticed that their weight was pulling them over so that their heads were in the water.

"They were all a mess — blood, broken legs, split skulls and everything else."

Eastern Airlines at Miami at first said the pilot, Capt. C.W. Fitts, and copilot M.J. Calloway, survived. But later the airline could not confirm this and they could not be located in any hospital.

The body of Flight Engineer Malcolm M. Hall of Memphis, Tenn., was recovered.

Two stewardesses survived, identified by the airline as Joan Berry, 22, of Prentice, Miss., and Patricia Davies of Jacksonville, Fla.

"It happened so fast there was no time to think. We were up in the air — then suddenly we hit the water. I remember calling for the pilot and copilot. There was no answer," Miss Berry said.

"I opened the rear door and pushed myself out. The pain from my broken leg was so severe I passed out."

Hundreds joined in the rescue effort — police, firemen, owners of small boats, skin divers, pilots of Coast Guard helicopters and boats and Navy ships. Men waded knee deep through oil-smeared muck of the mud flats to bring back bodies.

U.S. Boasts New Satellite In Orbit

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —America's newest satellite — a veritable chatterbox in the sky — whipped around the world today, paving the way for a space-age communications system for U.S. military forces.

The 500-pound Courier 1B shot skyward Tuesday atop a Thor-Able -Star rocket. It is circling the earth every 115 minutes in an orbit ranging from 575 to 750 miles above the surface.

As dramatic evidence of its success, the new space messenger was used within hours after launch to relay a teletype message of peace and good will from President Eisenhower to the United Nations.

The message was sent from Washington to Ft. Monmouth, N.J., where it was beamed to Courier 1B. The note then was transmitted to another ground station which relayed it by high-speed radio to New York. The President's message welcomed 16 new nations to the U.N. and expressed hope they would continue to witness such scientific advances as this new satellite.

A taped congratulatory message from Secretary of the Army Wilhur M. Brucker also was relayed via the 51-inch sphere. Brucker said Courier 1B "represents a phenomenal advance in the field of communications."

The satellite carries 300 pounds of the most complex electronic gear ever sent into space by the United States. At the heart of the system are five magnetic tape recorders capable of simultaneously receiving and transmitting 68,000 words a minute.

Courier 1B is designed primarily to receive and store teletypewriter messages from one ground station and unload them on command from another.

The Army plans to bombard the satellite with millions of words in the coming days to completely prove out the system. Much of the wordage will be supplied by news wires of The Associated Press and United Press International.

If Courier 1B proves the feasibility of using such vehicles for swift movement of secret military information, the Defense Department plans a network of operational courier satellites within a few years.

The five sponsors pressed ahead, nevertheless, hoping that an overwhelming vote in favor of the meeting may change the positions Eisenhower and Khrushchev have stated.

Debate on the neutralist resolution coincided with increasing discussion among delegates about another summit conference, possibly next spring. An Australian amendment urging a Big Four meeting—but without specifying the time—also is on the docket for the General Assembly today.

Britain's Prime Minister Harold Macmillan discussed it with Khrushchev Tuesday in a private conference lasting 75 minutes.

The New York Herald Tribune reported that Macmillan and Khrushchev prepared the ground for a spring Big Four summit meeting, possibly in Geneva. Khrushchev reportedly wanted the meeting in January or February, immediately after Eisenhower's successor is inaugurated. But Macmillan argued that the new president should have more time to settle into his new office, the newspaper said.

Hays Hits Eisenhower's Program At Rally In Salem

Rep. Wayne L. Hays of the 18th District, speaking at a Democratic rally at the American-Slovak Hall at Salem Tuesday night, criticized the Eisenhower administration for not showing initiative in foreign policy.

An overflow crowd of nearly 1,000 persons heard Rep. Hays declare that the present administration had reacted only to Khrushchev's offensive, "playing strictly a defensive game with no touchdowns."

The speaker said that the next four to eight years will require some decisive action regarding foreign policy.

Hays recalled a conversation he had with the Russian premier several years ago when Khrushchev said he did not have to wage war on the United States because the Soviet Union would gradually persuade other countries to adopt Communism until America was isolated.

"This has been proven," Hays said.

Discussing aid to distressed areas, and also social security, the speaker said Congress passed a bill providing $250 million to help economically disturbed districts but that President Eisenhower vetoed it, favoring increased foreign aid.

Touching on social security and medical aid to the aged, the congressman said "the Republicans have consistently opposed a broader program but now are talking as though they were the initiators of increased medical aid to the aged."

Atty. Guy Mauro, vice chairman of the Columbiana County Democratic party, was master of ceremonies. Don Gosney, county chairman, introduced Rep. Hays. State and county candidates were introduced and refreshments were served.

Savage Blast In Plant Kills 11, Injures 60

KINGSPORT, Tenn. (AP) — A savage blast—which claimed 11 lives and left at least 60 others injured ripped through a sprawling chemical plant here Tuesday and rocked this upper East Tennessee city of 26,000 people.

Today officials of the Tennessee Eastman Corp. began probing smouldering rubble of the smashed section of the 400-acre plant in an effort to determine the cause.

The explosion occurred in the acid division of the analine processing section where dyes are made. Officials said the building is operated by remote control and normally no workmen are inside.

Downtown Kingsport—a mile and a half from the plant—was shaken and shattered glass from store windows littered the streets. The blast was heard 20 miles away in Johnson City.

"It happened just like that, no warning, didn't know what was happening," said Earl Whetsel, an Eastman pipefitter, "the blast, then glass and stuff flying around."

Fire touched off by the explosion raged for about three hours before it was brought under control.

An unidentified guard at a nearby ordnance plant said he was driving along in his truck when the blast occurred. "It sent my truck through the air for about 100 yards," he said, "but I landed right side up. I didn't know what had happened."

The plant, a subsidiary of Eastman Kodak Corp., produces plastic, cellulose fibers, polyethylene and other chemicals.

About 8,500 persons are employed in the Eastman operation here.

Numbers Slips Found After Drinker's Jailed

Police today were continuing investigation of the case of a Chester man in whose possession alleged numbers slips were found after he had been arrested Tuesday night on an intoxication charge.

No formal charges were filed against the man, who was taken into custody at 7:46 in the City Bar in Diamond Alley by Patrolman R. E. Higgins. A report attached to the arrest record said the alleged numbers slips were found after the man's arrest for intoxication.

A city ordinance that took effect in January makes mere possession of a lottery ticket a violation of the "anti-numbers" law.

Sen. Kennedy Will Talk At Salem Sunday

Sen. John F. Kennedy, Democratic presidential nominee, will speak at a countywide party rally late Sunday afternoon at Reilly Stadium in Salem, Don R. Gosney of Columbiana, county chairman, announced today.

The stadium program will get under way at 4:30, with the Massachusetts senator's talk scheduled between 5 and 5:30, Gosney said.

He will come to Salem from another rally in Youngstown, accompanied by Gov. Michel V. DiSalle and Rep. Wayne L. Hays, 18th Ohio District Congressman. The three will lead a motorcade from Youngstown to Salem.

The Salem stadium seats about 7,500. Gosney said an overflow crowd is expected for the senator's first Columbiana County appearance. He emphasized the public is invited.

Gosney is scheduled to introduce Rep. Hays, who then will introduce Gov. DiSalle and Sen. Kennedy.

Goldfine Denied Delay In Tax Evasion Trial

BOSTON (AP) — The U. S. Court of Appeals has refused to grant industrialist Bernard Goldfine, 70, a delay of his tax evasion trial because of his physical condition. His counsel said doctors fear a suicide attempt.

Goldfine's trial, which opened Monday in U. S. Dist. Court and was in recess Tuesday during arguments in the Court of Appeals, resumes today before Judge George C. Sweeney.

The textile executive, who became a free man Tuesday after serving a 90-day sentence for contempt of court, is charged with evading nearly $800,000 in taxes.

Councilman Resigns Post At Wellsville

Cartwright Blames 'Censorship' In Huff With Council's Head

Councilman Clarence Cartwright submitted a verbal resignation as a member of Wellsville City Council Tuesday night, claiming he was "censored" and could not say certain things during the meeting.

Cartwright, Second Ward Democrat, said he would make the resignation effective Oct. 18, the next meeting. The apparent blowup came when Mrs. Mary Rahter, Council president, was asking for committee reports.

When asked if he had anything to report for the franchise committee, Cartwright first stated, "Shades of Khrushchev!"

"I had something to say but was told in a round about way not to. If I have to be censored, please accept my resignation effective the next meeting night."

Mrs. Rahter replied that he was privileged to talk about city business and asked him if was sure he wanted to resign. Cartwright curtly replied "Yes."

It was indicated during ensuing conversation that what he apparently wanted to say had to do something with him personally. Mrs. Rahter told him that when he was elected to public office that he should have expected to have things said about him.

Cartwright remarked that a "high official said the $10 pay as councilman is gift pay and I was called an ----." Is this right?"

Mrs. Rahter asked Council if the members thought the conversation should stick to city business and several said yes. Councilman William Stroble said he could not judge whether or not Cartwright should make a statement as he

Newell Tavern Man Fined On Sunday Hours

The operator of a Newell tavern was fined $200 and costs Tuesday by Squire John D. Herron of New Cumberland on a charge of violating the state law which designates the legal opening hour on Sundays at 1 p. m.

Wallace J. Simcox, doing business as Stutz's Bar on Washington St., Newell was fined on the charge filed by Hancock County sheriff's deputies.

The sheriff's office in New Cumberland said Simcox was cited for opening the tavern before 1 p. m. Sunday. Deputies said he was arrested at about 11:30 a. m.

Squire Herron also fined Melvin Parsons, 38, of Weirton $10 and costs for hunting on another person's land without permission from the owner.

U.S. And Soviet Agree On Space Flight Issue

BARCELONA, Spain (AP)—The United States and the Soviet Union, the only entries in the space race so far, have agreed on a set of standards for judging records of man-in-space flights.

The agreement will be presented, probably Thursday, to the Federation Aeronautique Internationale, which for more than 50 years has been the official world judge of airplane records.

CINCINNATI (AP)—Three passengers suffered minor injuries and a fourth had a heart attack yesterday when a bus and a truck collided at a busy downtown street corner. Police said the bus driver, Charles Sanning, 58, and the trucker, Hollis Franklin, 44, Florence, Ky., both said they moved on the green light.

Road Project At Wellsville Up To City

Initiative Lies With Community, Area Head Tells Council

Although the relocation of Route 7 through Wellsville is included in a long-range 5-year program by the State Highway Department, Wellsville City Council was informed Tuesday night that the work will not proceed unless initiated by the city.

William P. McKenna of New Philadelphia, Division 11 engineer, explained the relocation would cost an estimated $6 million and that the city's share would be about $300,000, or 5 per cent.

McKenna appeared before Council at its invitation. Two weeks ago Council voted to invite him to explain what the situation is on the proposed project. Members said they had been receiving inquiries from residents of Buckeye Ave., the proposed route for the new highway, as to when the work would begin.

McKenna said that he has little to report and that the most recent work of a large nature in Wellsville's relocation was done in October 1957 when a preliminary survey was made.

He said figures set at that time are no longer applicable because of increased construction costs. "The 2.6-mile section now would cost $6 million, approximately," he said.

In December 1958 the city was told the project would cost $4½ million and that the city's share would exceed $343,750. This figure represented 5 per cent plus $125,000 for preliminary engineering costs. McKenna did not mention this.

He said that any action will have to be initiated by the city, con-

1,000 Hear Congressman

Rep. Wayne L. Hays of the 18th District, speaking at a Democratic rally at the American-Slovak Hall at Salem Tuesday night, criticized the Eisenhower administration for not showing initiative in foreign policy.

An overflow crowd of nearly 1,000 persons heard Rep. Hays declare that the present administration had reacted only to Khrushchev's offensive, "playing strictly a defensive game with no touchdowns."

The speaker said that the next four to eight years will require some decisive action regarding foreign policy.

Hays recalled a conversation he had with the Russian premier several years ago when Khrushchev said he did not have to wage war on the United States because the Soviet Union would gradually persuade other countries to adopt Communism until America was isolated.

"This has been proven," Hays said.

Discussing aid to distressed areas, and also social security, the speaker said Congress passed a bill providing $250 million to help economically disturbed districts but that President Eisenhower vetoed it, favoring increased foreign aid.

Touching on social security and medical aid to the aged, the congressman said "the Republicans have consistently opposed a broader program but now are talking as though they were the initiators of increased medical aid to the aged."

Atty. Guy Maure, vice chairman of the Columbiana County Democratic party, was master of ceremonies. Don Gosney, county chairman, introduced Rep. Hays. State and county candidates were introduced and refreshments were served.

Goldfine Denied Delay In Tax Evasion Trial

BOSTON (AP) — The U. S. Court of Appeals has refused to grant industrialist Bernard Goldfine, 70, a delay of his tax evasion trial because of his physical condition. His counsel said doctors fear a suicide attempt.

Goldfine's trial, which opened Monday in U. S. Dist. Court and was in recess Tuesday during arguments in the Court of Appeals, resumes today before Judge George C. Sweeney.

The textile executive, who became a free man Tuesday after serving a 30-day sentence for contempt of court, is charged with evading nearly $800,000 in taxes.

Sen. Kennedy Will Talk At Salem Sunday

Sen. John F. Kennedy, Democratic presidential nominee, will speak at a countywide party rally late Sunday afternoon at Reilly Stadium in Salem, Don R. Gosney of Columbiana, county chairman, announced today.

The stadium program will get under way at 4:30, with the Massachusetts senator's talk scheduled between 5 and 5:30, Gosney said.

He will come to Salem from another rally in Youngstown, accompanied by Gov. Michel V. DiSalle and Rep. Wayne L. Hays, 18th Ohio District Congressman. The three will lead a motorcade from Youngstown to Salem.

The Salem stadium seats about 7,500. Gosney said an overflow crowd is expected for the senator's first Columbiana County appearance. He emphasized the public is invited.

Gosney is scheduled to introduce Rep. Hays, who then will introduce Gov. DiSalle and Sen. Kennedy.

4 Plane Crashes Took 223 Lives

NEW YORK (AP)—The crash of a Lockheed Electra in Boston Harbor was the fifth major accident involving these turboprop airliners. Four of the crashes have taken 223 lives.

The accident Tuesday was the second Electra crash in less than three weeks.

The Federal Aviation Agency last March ordered that the more than 130 Electras operating in this country fly at sharply reduced speeds. The restriction was imposed after the second of two crashes in which wings were ripped off in flight.

Lockheed Aircraft Corp., makers of the plane, has announced a $25-million modification program to strengthen the plane structure and to return them to normal operations.

The first Electra crash occurred Feb. 3, 1959, when an American Airlines plane plunged into Flushing Bay about a mile short of La Guardia Field. Sixty-five of the 73 persons aboard were killed.

The second crash was Sept. 29, 1959, near Buffalo, Tex., when the left wing of a Braniff International Airways plane snapped off in flight. Thirty-four died in the crash.

On March 17, 1960, a Northwest Airlines plane crashed at Tell City, Ind., killing 63. The plane's right wing had ripped off.

On Sept. 14 another Electra crashed on landing at La Guardia. However, all 76 persons aboard escaped, even though the plane flipped on its back and burned. The plane struck a dike on its landing approach.

PUC Takes Only Day To End Hearing To Hike Water Rate

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Public Utilities Commission has taken only one day to complete its hearing on Masury Water Co.'s application for a 13.8 to 15.5 per cent rate increase in Trumbull County. The hearing was scheduled through Friday.

However, there are several technicalities. Commission Attorney-Examiner Robert A. Strickling said at the close of the hearing Tuesday that he will hold it open technically in case Asst. Atty. Gen. Andrew R. Sarisky cares to take part later. Sarisky is assigned to the commission.

Another technicality is that this is considered to be a commission hearing. Chairman Edward J. Kenealy opened the hearing, then turned it over to Strickling, so a commissioner is considered to have heard it. The three commissions will review the transcript and evidence, and technically need not even ask Strickling's recommendations, although he probably will have an important role in preparing the order.

The proposed increase would affect an unincorporated district of Brookfield and Hubbard Townships in Trumbull County. Appearing in opposition were County Commissioners Roy A. Stillwagon and W. A. James, and Sanitary Engineer Omar N. Cochran.

They said in effect that the company received a 15.9 per cent increase in 1957, and that another increase would mean their Brookfield water district — which buys water wholesale from Masury—would have to have metered sales of at least $58,510, compared with $54,755 in 1959, to meet the increased cost.

The company, a wholly-owned subsidiary of Shenango Valley Water Co. of Pennsylvania, says rising costs make the increase necessary.

A Choice Between Viewpoints

The presidential campaign has turned into the home stretch.

During October and the first seven days of November, all of us will make up our minds about our next chief executive.

If there are as many undecided voters as the pollsters say they are finding, they will quit wavering and jump to one side of the fence or the other.

Those of us who are more adaptable to the two-party system that gives voters two sides of every political fence to jump to will spend the time between now and Nov. 8 using whatever power of persuasion we have in behalf of our partisan point of view. That is what Sen. Kennedy and Vice President Nixon will be doing, too. They do not apologize for their partisanship, and they would not be asked to apologize for it.

There is no reason for their backers to apologize, either. This republic's system of government is built on opinion and counter-opinion. It is one of our guaranteed rights.

LOOKING at the campaigns and the candidates at this point, we find our partisanship for Vice President Nixon has been strengthened by the way he has stated the issues of the presidential election.

If our partisanship had been for Sen. Kennedy, instead, we could say the same thing about him. He has stated clearly what the issues are, and he and the vice-president are in agreement on the main one.

It is whether the role of the federal government should be changed from referee to participant; whether it should no longer be content to enforce rules controlling the enterprise of its citizens and take over responsibility for enterprise.

In the jargon of political scientists, the issue is whether the United States should plunge further into the welfare state way of doing things, or call a halt to the credo that Washington should do everything that sprouts in the fertile minds of homegrown authoritarians.

The secondary issue in the campaign, with due respect to those who insist it is the primary issue, is how to deal with that symbolic demon of mid-century confusion currently known as Khrushchev but previously known as Stalin, Hitler, Mussolini and Tojo.

Each candidate, it is claimed, would be the better one to stand up to Khrushchev. This is a claim that cannot be decided to anyone's satisfaction, though it must be acknowledged that Mr. Nixon is now the second-ranking figure in an administration that has been dealing with the thorny problem of the Soviet Union's hostility to the free world.

Both in Vice President Nixon and Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, Khrushchev and his associates are looking at an already-well-known team of anti-Communists.

THEIR VIEWS on the Communist Conspiracy are known.

The views are as familiar to their own countrymen—and to Communists—as their views on private enterprise.

We do not understand why Sen. Kennedy has swung leftward, to the extent that he is alarming his moderate friends in the Democratic party.

We do not know how his position can be reconciled with those of his running mate, Sen. Johnson, who is as moderate in his views as Walter Reuther is immoderate.

Former President Truman and Franklin D. Roosevelt both learned to their regret that Americans can be taken only so far to the left before they yield to their instinct for moderation. Perhaps Sen. Kennedy's public opinion experts have learned something the rest of us don't know.

That may be the turning point in the process that undecided voters will be going through before they make up their minds.

They may have to decide whether they believe the United States is on the right track to the decade of high employment, high income and greater productivity that everybody has been predicting, or whether a sluggish inventory readjustmnt is a political lever to pry the nation leftward.

Has the United States been doing so badly under the Eisenhower administration that it must ditch its confidence in private enterprise and personal decision?

Is Vice President Nixon, who has been standing ready and prepared to fill the office of presidency since January 1952, so out of tune with the times that he should be replaced in 1960 with an untried administrator and an economic philosophy borrowed from the discredited British Labor Party?

The two-party system gives every U.S. voter a choice between viewpoints. It works best when the choice is clear. Sen. Kennedy and Vice President Nixon have shown where the choice lies—between a turn to the left and continuation in the same direction.

Stengel, Murtaugh And Associates

This is one year when it would make sense to lay off the threadbare World Series theme that this would be a better world if everybody played baseball. The World Series is only the climax of another baseball season. It is not the key to a way of life.

But in this country, in its way and its place, baseball is a purely warm and wonderful blessing for millions of us. It gives us a chance to take our minds off things we need a rest from occasionally.

It's one of the easiest means of putting the mental gear box into neutral, for those times when the part of wisdom is to pull off to the side of the long, hard road and make sure that all the wheels are still on the jalopy.

It's one of the few things millions of us can agree on, because baseball is played by the book. There is a right way to do things, and the ballplayers and managers who reach the top are the ones who know right from wrong.

Besides, if Americans didn't spend so much time talking about baseball they would talk about something else, and it is impossible to think of anything else they'd enjoy talking about half so much.

It is going to be a pleasure to turn over the apron of the stage to a pair of estimable gentlemen like Casey Stengel and Danny Murtaugh, symbols and spiritual leaders of two organizations of young men known respectively as the Yankees and Pirates. It is impossible to think of anything Stengel, Murtaugh and Associates can do in the next few days that will scare anyone, hurt anyone, or in any way affect the fate of mankind.

Few other activities can make that statement.

Taxpayers Pay For The Hop-Heads

The rule of thumb is that a million dollars' worth of pure heroin is worth five million when it has been diluted and distributed for use by its victims.

The four-million-dollar consignment picked up by U.S. narcotics agents in New York City this week would have been a $20 million business if it had not been seized.

But even that does not begin to show how expensive heroin turns out to be in the United States. This poppy-derived narcotic is one of the most troublesome causes of crime—not only because of what it does to its users but because of what they must do to support the narcotics habit.

The alcoholic who must raise the money to buy his bottle of whisky each day can support his affliction at a fraction of the cost that burdens the narcotics addict. As a hop-head's habit worsens, his daily expense easily may rise to more than $20 a day. But as the habit worsens, the addict's ability to earn money declines.

The desperate addict's recourse is robbery, burglary and organized vice. Thus, the ultimate cost of hop-heads is borne by taxpayers. And ironically, the same taxpayers pay for the fight to keep narcotics out of the country, which has the net effect of subsiding an artifically high price for the narcotics that get into the country anyway.

What the world needs is a blight that will kill the poppy plant as devastatingly as the Dutch elm disease kills elm trees.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Dear Uncle Sam: Why can't you get some kayo wallops into our U.N. routines? Emily Post passed away over a week ago but your spokesmen seem to be acting as replacements in the presentation of formats for the "correct thing."

Courtesy is swell but in this World Fight Club where some delegates are having a field day swinging from the floor, using the kidney punch with horseshoes in the gloves, there is no percentage in performing like well-raised tennis players.

Your delegates don't often look, talk or act as if they are in the main bout with some of the toughest lads on earth. They act as cool as if they were well-bred corporation directors somewhat disturbed by an uncouth member spitting on the floor.

You are up against scene chasers, table whackers, rule breakers and some of the roughest dramatic actors ever seen under one roof. But the over-all impression is that our boys are delivering singing-telegrams and rehearsing for a choral group rendition of "Hearts and Flowers," with offstage voices from the Vassar Daisy Chain.

I find Secretary Herter so gracious he could be addressing the Harvard Glee Club. Mr. Wadsworth strikes me as indignant as if he were back at Yale in a snowball frolic. "Let's be refined, no matter how we are insulted, and kick in the chin," is not enough.

The blazing truths are on our side but we dim the heat and fire. Why such patience? You are Uncle Sam, not Lord Chesterfield. Get steamed up, please!

Yours, Joe Q. Citizen.

IF KHRUSHCHEV, the table-thumper, meets Ike will it be pound for pound?

Query preceding second Nixon-Kennedy TV debate: "Wanna take a tranquilizer or tune in?"

"Sunrise at Campobello" in movie form is better than stage play. In our book it is due to the sensational step of Hollywood in casting as F.D.R. the actor, Ralph Bellamy, who played the role in the theater. If it ran true to form it would have given part to Jimmy Cagney, Mickey Rooney or Frank Sinatra.

Poll shows that of all old gospel hymns the favorite is, "The Old Rugged Cross." Second, third and fourth choices are, "What a Friend We Have in Jesus," "In the Garden" and "How Great Thou Art." Grand old hymns, but what about "Rock of Ages," "Lead Kindly Light," "Bringing in the Sheaves," and "Crown Him The King of Kings"? "I Love to Tell the Story," has always been far up, but the 1960 poll dropped to 20th place, it is announced. Our belief is that the poll takers goofed on this one and that it still rates far up.

What's become of old-fashioned presidential candidate who kicked the duff out of his opponent, no holds barred.

Well, You Can't Win Them All!

New Racket Links Are Uncovered

By Victor Riesel

Apparently the federals, the Chicago police and I have commonly come upon a union official linked to an urbane gang chief who not so long ago refused to deny he had "any scruples against people."

Victor Riesel

That gang chief is Tony Accardo, whose assignment it once to make certain that Al Capone was untouchable.

Accardo's philosophical attitude towards murder was placed on the record long after Capone died. By then Tony had reached that place in affluent society where he began depositing hundreds of thousands of dollars in Swiss banks.

It was on July 11, 1958, that Sen. John McClellan put Accardo on the stand. The senator asked him: "Do you have any scruples against killing people"? Accardo refused to answer on the ground that it might incriminate him.

Accordo has gone the way of all syndicate crime flesh. He now is up in court on an income tax evasion indictment.

IT DEVELOPS that the federals have discovered that one of his friends and part time business associates is Al Pillotto, president of the Hod Carriers Local 5, Chicago Heights.

They had a working agreement in something called the Owl Club, a gambling joint. President Pillotto also did a fine business in strip tease entertainment in a bit of Sodom and Gomorrah known as State Street in Calumet City.

There is some doubt that the street of swill is a satisfactory officers' training school for leadership in a union. But that hasn't apparently reached national Hod Carriers headquarters, which is now a chunk of neo-classic architecture in Washington called the Joseph V. Moreschi Building.

At this writing, Pillotto still is president of the local though the office of U.S. Attorney Robert Ogilvie in Chicago and the Chicago gendarmerie themselves have him under investigation.

President and Brother Al Pillotto would not be more than a passing story if he was not symptomatic of what's happening in other Hod Carrier locals — and the locals of some other international labor organizations.

When these stories finally break wide open, they will find labor's high command where it was on the eve of the McClellan committee probe — failing to police itself.

THE FEDERAL and local authorities will be blamed for the scandals they dug up. And Accardo's contacts will go on doing business as usual, chided but not chastened.

Fact is that the Compliance Division of the U.S. Labor Department's Section on Reporting and Disclosure has been probing Hod Carriers and Common Laborers locals not only in Chicago but in the New York and Pittsburgh areas as well.

Fact is that Accardo is now under the spotlight and it soon will be revealed that he has other contacts in other cities — in the Hotel and Restaurant Workers locals in northern Mid Western cities.

This is no "movie." This is real life. Accardo doesn't cultivate union officials out of sheer affection for the proletariat. His word is law.

To him, the union posts which his friends can capture are part of a business. He uses them to push his interests against legitimate businessmen by killing off sales and competition.

Those are the locals in his barony. Other crime chiefs capture other locals and turn them into corrupt boroughs inside big international unions.

If topside doesn't clean them out and permits the AFL-CIO Ethical Practices Committee to suffocate in some pigeonhole, the scandals will break out.

It will be no one's fault but those who just did not bother with what is happening down below.

And from inside there should be no criticism of the authorities who take seriously their task of defending the people, all the people.

World Still Guessing

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

It was just as if the trees bent under a big wind and then shook the dust out of their hair and stood straight again as the wind passed.

Nikita Khrushchev, after two weeks of rocking and shocking the United Nations with his demands and threats, still leaves the world guessing as it did before he arrived: Why did he come here?

He has accomplished nothing visible. If he wanted to win over the neutrals, there is no sign he did. If he wanted a meeting with President Eisenhower, he did his best to prevent it.

Possibly he did want a meeting with Eisenhower. He didn't say so. He didn't say he didn't. By not slamming the door tight, he left it a little open. Yet, he didn't quite do that, either.

He said he would meet with the President but only on terms he knew Eisenhower wouldn't and couldn't accept. He wanted the President first to apologize for the flight of the American U2 spy plane over Russia.

Then Eisenhower made a summit meeting impossible any time soon by saying nothing doing until American and Russian representative first met to make sure Khrushchev meant business.

Khrushchev tried to save face then by saying what he had said before—that he would not meet with Eisenhower, either, until the President apologized for the U2. This was neither shrewd nor clever. It was an almost childish piece of tit-for-tat.

If not a summit meeting, then what did the Russian want?

In his very first speech to the United Nations he said he wanted disarmament, and in the same speech said he wanted the United Nations to get rid of its one-man secretary-general and set up three secretaries.

One would represent the West, one the neutrals, and one the Communist bloc. But this was a wrecking expedition since, under Khrushchev's plan, any one of the three secretaries could veto what the other two wanted to do.

When he realized he had received a cool reception on this—even among the neutrals to whom he was bidding hardest—Khrushchev then threatened. He said there could be no disarmament unless the United Nations was revised to suit him.

This didn't get anywhere either but it was a piece of outright bullying which could not escape even the most retarded among the neutrals.

Khrushchev demanded that Red China be admitted to the United Nations—a move the United States opposed—and prospects are that Red China will not be admitted.

It has become almost common practice in American journalism now to accept as a fact a reported ideological split between Khrushchev and Red China on the grounds that Khrushchev insists war with the West is not inevitable while the Red Chinese communists insist it is.

It is possible this is part of a plan agreed to between Khrushchev and his Chinese allies for this purpose: to soften the West into thinking Khrushchev is a man with whom peaceful and satisfactory settlements can be worked out. If the West buys this idea, it may then be inclined to slacken its defenses and will to resist Red advances.

That would be a great and cheap victory for communism. But Khrushchev's performance at the United Nations, instead of demonstrating how reasonable he is to do business with, has been all to the contrary.

Down Through The Years

From The Review Files

THIRTY YEARS AGO — Mrs. Lyda Brown of Chester was chosen grand conductress of the West Virginia Grand Chapter of the Order of Eastern Star during the annual state convention at Bluefield, W. Va.

A petition asking a referendum on the emergency ordinance providing a $25,000 bond issue to purchase and install water meters for domestic use was circulated at a mass meeting in City Hall, Wellsville.

Mrs. J. B. Porter was qualified as president of the newly-organized Elwood Farm Women's Club of Newell.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — Mayor O. Earl Greenawalt proclaimed Oct. 5 through Oct. 12 as "Business Women's Week" in East Liverpool as the local club prepared for the observance.

Clerk John W. Coleman reported that the total September Civil and criminal receipts in Municipal Court was $669.

TEN YEARS AGO — Four hundred fifteen physical examinations were given to first and fourth grade children in eight school buildings in the area.

Miss Ruth Winland was installed as president of the East Liverpool Women's Club.

Odd Facts

The days of the week get their names from mythology. Sunday is the sun's day, Monday the moon's. Tuesday was for Tyr, Norse god of war, Wednesday for Woden, chief Germanic deity. Thor, Norse god of thunder, gave us Thursday, and Friday is for Frigg, Norse goddess of marriage. Saturday is for Saturn, Roman god of harvest.

When Mount Holyoke College for women opened in 1837, its Book of Duties said: "The young ladies are to be required to walk one mile per day until the snow renders it desirable to specify time instead of distance." The time was set at three-quarters of an hour.

The largest block of commercial forest land under one management is the 81,314,000 acres in national forests. Of this, some 15 million acres are in national parks or game refuges where no logging or hunting is permitted.

Dictator Tactics

By David Lawrence

Election May Give K Clue For Moves

Is the danger of a world war being increased by what is happening at the current meeting of the United Nations in New York City?

David Lawrence

The speeches at the General Assembly use high-sounding phrases about "peace and disarmament," and there are frequent references to the need for a "reduction of tensions." But the stark fact stands out that one man — ruthless, capricious, arbitrary and volatile in temperament — can at a moment's notice order a huge military operation to start a small war or a big war on any continent.

Nikita Khrushchev is giving the world a demonstration of the power of his dictatorship over tens of millions of people not only in the Soviet Union but in the captive countries which his armies control.

He is also giving an exhibition of how he exerts a coercive power over a group of so-called neutralist nations which do his bidding.

Khrushchev is still being considered by too many people on this side of the Iron Curtain as merely a bizarre individual who is endeavoring to restrain a war-like Red China and who is himself supposedly anxious to maintain peace.

But Adolf Hitler, who was also something of a showman, was able to convince many people inside and outside the allied governments in the 1930s that he, too, wanted only peace. Suddenly he unleashed his military forces even while the western powers were negotiating with him.

THE MENTALITY of a Khrushchev is scarcly different from that of a Stalin, who, in the midst of apparently friendly negotiations with the West in the summer of 1939, made an alliance with Hitler that enabled the latter to start World War II by concentrating on one military front.

Expediency of the moment usually governs the impulses of a dictator.

The whole world has been watching Khrushchev since he broke up the summit conference at Paris last May. What was hoped would be a passing storm turned out to be the beginning of a diplomatic hurricane, with frequent changes in direction but no loss of intensity.

Instead of negotiating seriously with the West, the Moscow dictator has threatened and bludgeoned. He has rendered futile all conferences or commissions which previously had been started with the idea of setting up some "modus vivendi" or temporary arrangement to prevent another world war.

THE SOVIET premier has unwittingly managed to unite the western leaders but he is nevertheless playing a bold hand. He is convinced that the United States has already repudiated President Eisenhower and is ready to administer a resounding defeat to the present administration at the presidential election next month.

Coming to the United States in the midst of the political campaign, the Soviet dictator is undoubtedly taking seriously the many speeches made by prominent Americans declaring that the defenses of the United States are weak and that the Washington leadership has been so poor that American prestige has diminished throughout the world.

If what the critics are saying about their own country is true, Nikita Khrushchev would naturally feel that he has the upper hand and that, if he provokes a crisis, the government here will feel powerless to take stern measures therein.

IN THE MONTH between now and the presidential election, it is unlikely that the Soviet leader would take precipitate action but can it be safely assumed that he would exercise the same restraint on the trouble-making side in the period between Election Day, Nov. 8, and Inauguration Day, Jan. 20? If there is to be a change of administration here, and many high officials prepare to resign, would this be the time that Nikita Khrushchev might select to create a crisis of major proportions?

No government with a parliamentary system would hold an election under similar circumstances but would tend to postpone it until times were calmer.

To people abroad, the coming election in the United States hangs on an issue well known throughout the world — a vote of confidence or a vote of no confidence in the existing government.

Nikita Khrushchev is deeply interested in the American election contest. It could give him a cue for his big moves in 1961.

We Would Want To Lose

This was one of those decisions you make for laughs, like deciding what you'd do if you had a million dollars tax-free and no strings attached.

We were deciding—the lady I live with and I—whether she'd go campaigning with me if I ran for president.

She doubted that the game would be worth the candle. In the first place, she didn't believe she could be friendly with the goons who hang around politics.

In the second place, she doubted that she could take politics seriously.

In the third place, she always feels like she should have won the Kentucky Derby if anyone gives her a bunch of flowers.

In the fourth place, she figured two days of irregular meals, lack of sleep, being pushed around by mobs and having to keep a civil tongue in her head when her instinct would prompt her to tell the bumbleheads to get lost before she took off a shoe and spiked 'em would put her in a happy sack for a month.

Besides, she wouldn't want to be first lady of the United States anyway. She couldn't be that grinny. And she wouldn't want strangers ramming around her house at all hours of the day and night, because she liked to be alone and moreover she had hung up the washing in the yard all her life and Washington would have fits if she was seen hanging up her old man's winter longies to freeze themselves limber in the old-fashioned way.

No, concluded the lady I live with, she didn't think she would go campaigning with me.

But I was entitled to an opinion, too, and what it added up to was a dissent. It would not be a question of her going campaigning with me, because I had no intention of going campaigning. Man and boy, I had seen enough campaign razzma-tazz to tout me off for life.

McKinley and Harding had the right idea. Make the political touts come to you.

I would stay home. Airlines, buslines, railroads and automobiles would make me accessible. I'd sleep in my own bed every night and put my feet under my own table. Aside from the guards needed to keep snoopers at bay, our hideaway in Rosy Fingered Dawn would be the same as always.

I would refuse to run. That is what is wrong with the job in the first place—a man seeks it when it should seek a man. The country would have to take me on my terms or lump me. I would wear no man's collar. I would be a free agent.

By keeping my mouth shut, I'd avoid the hassles that grow out of statements. I would avert the craziness of promising things that are impossible.

There would be a new dignity in politics if all candidates would keep their mouths shut. It is only when they open them that they resolve doubts about their competence.

As for the horse-feathers of scudding through the air, elbowing through crowds, riding in open cars and talking in rainstorms, no job is worth that much, especially not one where you may be shot at.

I couldn't be elected president with this point of view, and that was all right. It's not the kind of job anyone wants. Something has happened to it for everybody but a few people who haven't anything else to do. The rest of us are happy where we are.

That's why we decided—the lady and I—it didn't matter how we campaigned or didn't, because we'd be wanting to lose anyway.

A Choice Between Viewpoints

The presidential campaign has turned into the home stretch.

During October and the first seven days of November, all of us will make up our minds about our next chief executive.

If there are as many undecided voters as the pollsters say they are finding, they will quit wavering and jump to one side of the fence or the other.

Those of us who are more adaptable to the two-party system that gives voters two sides of every political fence to jump to will spend the time between now and Nov. 8 using whatever power of persuasion we have in behalf of our partisan point of view. That is what Sen. Kennedy and Vice President Nixon will be doing, too. They do not apologize for their partisanship, and they would not be asked to apologize for it.

There is no reason for their backers to apologize, either. This republic's system of government is built on opinion and counter-opinion. It is one of our guaranteed rights.

LOOKING at the campaigns and the candidates at this point, we find our partisanship for Vice President Nixon has been strengthened by the way he has stated the issues of the presidential election.

If our partisanship had been for Sen. Kennedy, instead, we could say the same thing about him. He has stated clearly what the issues are, and he and the vice-president are in agreement on the main one.

It is whether the role of the federal government should be changed from referee to participant; whether it should no longer be content to enforce rules controlling the enterprise of its citizens and take over responsibility for enterprise.

In the jargon of political scientists, the issue is whether the United States should plunge further into the welfare state way of doing things, or call a halt to the credo that Washington should do everything that sprouts in the fertile minds of homegrown authoritarians.

The secondary issue in the campaign, with due respect to those who insist it is the primary issue, is how to deal with that symbolic demon of mid-century confusion currently known as Khrushchev but previously known as Stalin, Hitler, Mussolini and Tojo.

Each candidate, it is claimed, would be the better one to stand up to Khrushchev. This is a claim that cannot be decided to anyone's satisfaction, though it must be acknowledged that Mr. Nixon is now the second-ranking figure in an administration that has been dealing with the thorny problem of the Soviet Union's hostility to the free world.

Both in Vice President Nixon and Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, Khrushchev and his associates are looking at an already-well-known team of anti-Communists.

THEIR VIEWS on the Communist Conspiracy are known.

The views are as familiar to their own countrymen—and to Communists—as their views on private enterprise.

We do not understand why Sen. Kennedy has swung leftward, to the extent that he is alarming his moderate friends in the Democratic party.

We do not know how his position can be reconciled with those of his running mate, Sen. Johnson, who is as moderate in his views as Walter Reuther is immoderate.

Former President Truman and Franklin D. Roosevelt both learned to their regret that Americans can be taken only so far to the left before they yield to their instinct for moderation. Perhaps Sen. Kennedy's public opinion experts have learned something the rest of us don't know.

That may be the turning point in the process that undecided voters will be going through before they make up their minds.

They may have to decide whether they believe the United States is on the right track to the decade of high employment, high income and greater productivity that everybody has been predicting, or whether a sluggish inventory readjustment is a political lever to pry the nation leftward.

Has the United States been doing so badly under the Eisenhower administration that it must ditch its confidence in private enterprise and personal decision?

Is Vice President Nixon, who has been standing ready and prepared to fill the office of presidency since January 1953, so out of tune with the times that he should be replaced in 1960 with an untried administrator and an economic philosophy borrowed from the discredited British Labor Party?

The two-party system gives every U.S. voter a choice between viewpoints. It works best when the choice is clear. Sen. Kennedy and Vice President Nixon have shown where the choice lies—between a turn to the left and continuation in the same direction.

Stengel, Murtaugh And Associates

This is one year when it would make sense to lay off the threadbare World Series theme that this would be a better world if everybody played baseball. The World Series is only the climax of another baseball season. It is not the key to a way of life.

But in this country, in its way and its place, baseball is a purely warm and wonderful blessing for millions of us. It gives us a chance to take our minds off things we need a rest from occasionally.

It's one of the easiest means of putting the mental gear box into neutral, for those times when the part of wisdom is to pull off to the side of the long, hard road and make sure that all the wheels are still on the jalopy.

It's one of the few things millions of us can agree on, because baseball is played by the book. There is a right way to do things, and the ballplayers and managers who reach the top are the ones who know right from wrong.

Besides, if Americans didn't spend so much time talking about baseball they would talk about something else, and it is impossible to think of anything else they'd enjoy talking about half so much.

It is going to be a pleasure to turn over the apron of the stage to a pair of estimable gentlemen like Casey Stengel and Danny Murtaugh, symbols and spiritual leaders of two organizations of young men known respectively as the Yankees and Pirates. It is impossible to think of anything Stengel, Murtaugh and Associates can do in the next few days that will scare anyone, hurt anyone, or in any way affect the fate of mankind.

Few other activities can make that statement.

Taxpayers Pay For The Hop-Heads

The rule of thumb is that a million dollars' worth of pure heroin is worth five million when it has been diluted and distributed for use by its victims.

The four-million-dollar consignment picked up by U.S. narcotics agents in New York City this week would have been a $20 million business if it had not been seized.

But even that does not begin to show how expensive heroin turns out to be in the United States. This poppy-derived narcotic is one of the most troublesome causes of crime—not only because of what it does to its users but because of what they must do to support the narcotics habit.

The alcoholic who must raise the money to buy his bottle of whisky each day can support his affliction at a fraction of the cost that burdens the narcotics addict. As a hop-head's habit worsens, his daily expense easily may rise to more than $20 a day. But as the habit worsens, the addict's ability to earn money declines.

The desperate addict's recourse is robbery, burglary and organized vice. Thus, the ultimate cost of hop-heads is borne by taxpayers. And ironically, the same taxpayers pay for the fight to keep narcotics out of the country, which has the net effect of subsidizing an artificially high price for the narcotics that get into the country anyway.

What the world needs is a blight that will kill the poppy plant as devastatingly as the Dutch elm disease kills elm trees.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Dear Uncle Sam: Why can't you get some kaye wallops into our U.N. routines? Emily Post passed away over a week ago but your spokesmen seem to be acting as replacements in the presentation of formats for the "correct thing."

Courtesy is swell but in this World Fight Club where some delegates are having a field day swinging from the floor, using the kidney punch with horseshoes in the gloves, there is no percentage in performing like well-trained tennis players.

Your delegates don't often look, talk or act as if they are in the main bout with some of the toughest lads on earth. They act as cool as if they were well-bred corporation directors somewhat disturbed by an uncouth member spitting on the floor.

You are up against scene chasers, table whackers, rule breakers and some of the roughest dramatic actors ever seen under one roof. But the over-all impression is that our boys are delivering singing-telegrams and rehearsing for a choral group rendition of "Hearts and Flowers," with offstage voices from the Vassar Daisy Chain.

I find Secretary Herter so gracious he could be addressing the Harvard Glee Club. Mr. Wadsworth strikes me as indignant as if he were back at Yale in a snowball frolic. "Let's be refined, no matter how we are insulted, and kick in the shin," is not enough.

The blazing truths are on our side but we dim the heat and fire. Why such patience? You are Uncle Sam, not Lord Chesterfield. Get steamed up, please!

Yours, Joe Q. Citizen.

IF KHRUSHCHEV, the table-thumper, meets Ike will it be pound for pound?

Query preceding second Nixon-Kennedy TV debate: "Wanna take a tranquilizer or tune in?"

"Sunrise at Campobello" in movie form is better than stage play. In our book it is due to the sensational step of Hollywood in casting as F.D.R. the actor, Ralph Bellamy, who played the role in the theater. If it ran true to form it would have given part to Jimmy Cagney, Mickey Rooney or Frank Sinatra.

Poll shows that of all old gospel hymns the favorite is, "The Old Rugged Cross." Second, third and fourth choices are, "What a Friend We Have in Jesus," "In the Garden" and "How Great Thou Art." Grand old hymns, but what about "Rock of Ages," "Lead Kindly Light," "Bringing in the Sheaves," and "Crown Him The King of Kings"? "I Love to Tell the Story," has always been far up, but the 1959 poll dropped to 26th place. It is announced. Our belief is that the poll takers goofed on this one and that it still rates far up.

What's become of old-fashioned presidential candidate who kicked the duff out of his opponent, to hulla hurra?

Well, You Can't Win Them All!

New Racket Links Are Uncovered

By Victor Riesel

Apparently the federals, the Chicago police and I have commonly come upon a union official linked to an urbane gang chief who not so long ago refused to deny he had "any scruples against people."

Victor Riesel

That gang chief is Tony Accardo, whose assignment it once to make certain that Al Capone was untouchable.

Accardo's philosophical attitude towards murder was placed on the record long after Capone died. By then Tony had reached that place in affluent society where he began depositing hundreds of thousands of dollars in Swiss banks.

It was on July 11, 1958, that Sen. John McClellan put Accardo on the stand. The senator asked him: "Do you have any scruples against killing people"? Accardo refused to answer on the ground that it might incriminate him.

Accardo has gone the way of all syndicate crime flesh. He now is up in court on an income tax evasion indictment.

IT DEVELOPS that the federals have discovered that one of his friends and part time business associates is Al Pillotta, president of the Hod Carriers Local 5, Chicago Heights.

They had a working agreement in something called the Owl Club, a gambling joint. President Pillotta also did a fine business in strip tease entertainment in a bit of Sodom and Gomorrah known as State Street in Calumet City.

There is some doubt that the street of swill is a satisfactory officers' training school for leadership in a union. But that hasn't apparently reached national Hod Carriers headquarters, which is now a chunk of neo-classic architecture in Washington called the Joseph V. Moreschi Building.

At this writing, Pillotta still is president of the local though the office of U.S. Attorney Robert Ogilvie in Chicago and the Chicago gendarmerie themselves have him under investigation.

President and Brother Al Pillotta "would not be more than a passing story if he was not symptomatic of what's happening in other Hod Carrier locals — and the locals of some other international labor organizations.

When these stories finally break wide open, they will find labor's high command where it was on the eve of the McClellan committee probe — failing to police itself.

THE FEDERAL and local authorities will be blamed for the scandals they dug up. And Accardo's contacts will go on doing business as usual, clothed but not chastened.

Fact is that the Compliance Division of the U.S. Labor Department's Section on Reporting and Disclosure has been probing Hod Carriers and Common Laborers locals not only in Chicago but in the New York and Pittsburgh areas as well.

Fact is that Accardo is now under the spotlight and it soon will be revealed that he has other contacts in other cities — in the Hotel and Restaurant Workers locals in northern Mid Western cities.

This is no "movie." This is real life. Accardo doesn't cultivate union officials out of sheer affection for the proletariat. His word is law.

To him, the union posts which his friends can capture are part of a business. He uses them to push his interests against legitimate businessmen by killing off sales and competition.

Those are the locals in his barony. Other crime chiefs capture other locals and turn them into corrupt boroughs inside big international unions.

If topside doesn't clean them out and permits the AFL-CIO Ethical Practices Committee to suffocate in some pigeonhole, the scandals will break out.

It will be no one's fault but those who just did not bother with what is happening down below.

And from inside there should be no criticism of the authorities who take seriously their task of defending the people, all the people.

World Still Guessing

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

It was just as if the trees bent under a big wind and then shook the dust out of their hair and stood straight again as the wind passed.

Nikita Khrushchev, after two weeks of rocking and shocking the United Nations with his demands and threats, still leaves the world guessing as it did before he arrived: Why did he come here?

He has accomplished nothing visible. If he wanted to win over the neutrals, there is no sign he did. If he wanted a meeting with President Eisenhower, he did his best to prevent it.

Possibly he did want a meeting with Eisenhower. He didn't say so. He didn't say he didn't. By not slamming the door tight, he left it a little open. Yet, he didn't quite do that, either.

He said he would meet with the President but only on terms he knew Eisenhower wouldn't and couldn't accept. He wanted the President first to apologize for the flight of the American U2 spy plane over Russia.

Then Eisenhower made a summit meeting impossible any time soon by saying nothing doing until American and Russian representative first met to make sure Khrushchev meant business.

Khrushchev tried to save face then by saying what he had said before—that he would not meet with Eisenhower, either, until the President apologized for the U2. This was neither shrewd nor clever. It was an almost childish piece of tit-for-tat.

If not a summit meeting, then what did the Russian want?

In his very first speech to the United Nations he said he wanted disarmament, and in the same speech said he wanted the United Nations to get rid of its one-man secretary-general and set up three secretaries.

One would represent the West, one the neutrals, and one the Communist bloc. But this was a wrecking expedition since, under Khrushchev's plan, any one of the three secretaries could veto what the other two wanted to do.

When he realized he had received a cool reception on this—even among the neutrals to whom he was bidding hardest—Khrushchev then threatened. He said there could be no disarmament unless the United Nations was revised to suit him.

This didn't get anywhere either but it was a piece of outright bullying which could not escape even the most retarded among the neutrals.

Khrushchev demanded that Red China be admitted to the United Nations—a move the United States opposed—and prospects are that Red China will not be admitted.

It has become almost common practice in American journalism now to accept as a fact a reported ideological split between Khrushchev and Red China on the grounds that Khrushchev insists war with the West is not inevitable while the Red Chinese communists insist it is.

It is possible this is part of a plan agreed to between Khrushchev and his Chinese allies for this purpose: to soften the West into thinking Khrushchev is a man with whom peaceful and satisfactory settlements can be worked out. If the West buys this idea, it may then be inclined to slacken its defenses and will to resist Red advances.

That would be a great and cheap victory for communism. But Khrushchev's performance at the United Nations, instead of demonstrating how reasonable he is to do business with, has been all to the contrary.

Dictator Tactics

By David Lawrence

Election May Give K Clue For Moves

Is the danger of a world war being increased by what is happening at the current meeting of the United Nations in New York City?

David Lawrence

The speeches at the General Assembly use high-sounding phrases about "peace and disarmament," and there are frequent references to the need for a "reduction of tensions." But the stark fact stands out that one man — ruthless, capricious, arbitrary and volatile in temperament — can at a moment's notice order a huge military operation to start a small war or a big war on any continent.

Nikita Khrushchev is giving the world a demonstration of the power of his dictatorship over tens of millions of people not only in the Soviet Union but in the captive countries which his armies control.

He is also giving an exhibition of how he exerts a coercive power over a group of so-called neutralist nations which do his bidding.

Khrushchev is still being considered by too many people on this side of the Iron Curtain as merely a bizarre individual who is endeavoring to restrain a war-like Red China and who is himself supposedly anxious to maintain peace.

But Adolf Hitler, who was also something of a showman, was able to convince many people inside and outside the allied governments in the 1930s that he, too, wanted only peace. Suddenly he unleashed his military forces even while the western powers were negotiating with him.

THE MENTALITY of a Khrushchev is scarcly different from that of a Stalin, who, in the midst of apparently friendly negotiations with the West in the summer of 1939, made an alliance with Hitler that enabled the latter to start World War II by concentrating on one military front.

Expediency of the moment usually governs the impulses of a dictator.

The whole world has been watching Khrushchev since he broke up the summit conference at Paris last May. What was hoped would be a passing storm turned out to be the beginning of a diplomatic hurricane, with frequent changes in direction but no loss of intensity.

Higher Power Rates Loom In Households

EAST PALESTINE — Increased power rates for domestic users instead of heavy boosts of rates for industrial and commercial users are apparently scheduled in the financing program for new improvements for the municipal power plant.

Council Tuesday night turned down a proposed rate schedule submitted by the Floyd G. Browne Associates and the Council utilities committee which would place the major burden of rate increases with the city's 243 commercial users, leaving the 2,000 domestic customers with smaller rate boosts or even reductions in some cases.

The engineering firm drew up the rate program to help finance payment of bonds and other costs of an $836,000 improvement, along with future purchase of an $800,000 turbine unit. The schedule called for boosts of up to 45 per cent for the 8 industries and 235 stores and other businesses, leaving domestic rate increase of up to $25.

Councilman Charles Kelley said the proposed rates for commercial clients were "unfair to range almost as much as half," and others agreed. Councilman Robert Smith, chairman of the utilities committee, said the present commercial rates had been lower than was customary.

Final agreement at the end of the three-hour session, which included some heated discussions at time, was that the engineering firm present a revised rate schedule, placing more of the financing costs upon domestic users, at a meeting of Council Thursday night.

Councilmen said it would not be advantageous to the city for power rates to be too excessive for present industry or firms interesting in locating here.

It was indicated that clients outside the city limits face a rate boost of approximately 10 per cent, due to the greater maintenance expenses, longer lines between houses and other factors.

The Thursday meeting was scheduled in an effort to establish an approved rate program so final arrangements can be made on sale of a $600,000 mortgage bond issue with the McDonald & Co. of Cleveland Monday night.

Three Dealers Offer New Pontiac

"Dynamic new styling concepts combine with significant engineering advances to present the most exciting new car in its 53-year history."

That's the word from General Motors on the 1961 Pontiac now being displayed locally at M & A Motors, 1273 Pennsylvania Ave., East Liverpool; Bob Johnson's Pontiac Sales, 241 Wells Ave., Wellsville, and Ludovici's Pontiac Sales, Inc., 6th St. and Carolina Ave., Chester.

The model above is the four-door Vista hardtop.

The new Pontiac is as much as .9 inch lower, 4 inches shorter and 2.5 inches narrower, yet important passenger compartment dimensions have been improved, officials say. Pontiac's wide track design, prevailing in each series, is also proportionately increased.

A new perimeter frame, new front and rear suspension systems and a lighter weight, more efficient V-8 engine are among the car's completely engineering features.

Accentuating the wide, low front end appearance is an expansive hood, channeled on either side of its centerline, which tapers forward with narrow fenders to meet a dominant twin grille of three dimensional design. Each grille houses dual headlamps and an impressive two bar type wrap around bumper adds further prominence to the front end design.

Long sweeping sculptured lines highlight the side view. A central jet-like boom, mounting a tasteful chrome moulding, gracefully spans the entire length of the car. A channeled surface on the boom centerline provides an ideal location for series designations.

A unique bumper design, integrated with the body, distinguishes a sharply profiled rear. Sweeping abruptly upward to cap the rear fenders, the bumper frames a low, rearward slanting trunk lid and a narrow panel containing tail lamps and Pontiac or series name.

Bonnevilles and Star Chiefs feature three matching tail lamps of circular design, while Catalinas and Venturas are equipped with an oval shaped, dual bulb lamp. Safari tail lamps are integral with the chrome rear fender caps.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —An important factor in Nikita Khrushchev's setbacks at the United Nations seems to have been a growing Western awareness of what makes the Kremlin tick.

There is general agreement among most informed Westerners that the Soviet Premier demanded far more than he expected to get in his major offensive against Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold and the world organization's structure. It is now becoming apparent that he overplayed his hand.

Having lost a cold war round the Russians—if they run true to form—probably now will lay down a heavy verbal artillery barrage to cover a tactical retreat.

Khrushchev's angry words and actions in the General Assembly aroused fears the Russians were prepared to wreck the U.N. if they found they could not run it to suit themselves.

But there are grave risks at this moment in trying to destroy the world peace organization. The chances are that Khrushchev, weighing those risks, will attempt to salvage what he can and present what is left to his people at home as a victory for Soviet policy. In some respects, in fact, Khrushchev may consider he has won something important.

Khrushchev, a man with a peasant background, seems to view world politics as something like plain, old-fashioned horse trading.

Horse trader Khrushchev sought to eliminate obstacles the U.N. had placed in the Soviet path in Africa's Congo. He demanded the top price—Hammarskjold's resignation and a new U.N. command setup that would give Moscow a veto over its actions.

It is doubtful Khrushchev expected to get this. But he may think he can make things so hot for Hammarskjold that the U.N. chief will resign, and for all practical purposes the U.N.'s peacemaking machinery will be paralyzed for a long time by inability of the West and the Russians to agree on a successor.

That would suit Khrushchev's immediate purposes. Serious obstacles in the way of the Russians in situations like that of the Congo would be removed.

Glass Hurts Women, Boy

Two area women and a youth, cut on glass, were among eight youngsters and adults treated at City Hospital Tuesday.

Leah Shaw of George St., Chester, a beautician, was treated last night for a laceration of the left foot on which a broken bottle fell.

Mary Moore, 812 Broadway, Wellsville, window trimmer for the J. C. Penney Co., suffered an abrasion of the left foot when a piece of glass fell on her foot while she was arranging a window display.

Larry White, 16, son of Mrs. Helen White of Glenmoor, received a laceration of the left wrist on broken glass of a display showcase.

Mrs. Ada Kennedy, 320 Louisiana Ave., Chester, was treated for cuts and abrasions of the knee in a fall on Louisiana Ave.

While at work at the American Vitrified Products Co., Russell Jordan, 21, of 246½ W. 5th St., suffered a laceration of the left wrist on a sewer pipe.

A splinter from a toy was removed from the throat of Glenna Shook, 4, daughter of Mrs. Norman McCoy, 132 W. 3rd St.

Ronald Gochenour, 7, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Gochenour of Ashland Pl., suffered a cut of the left thumb on a shovel.

Foreign Shipping Inroads On Lake Shippers Cited

CLEVELAND (AP)—An official of the Lake Carriers' Association says Great Lakes shippers feel their longtime misgivings over the St. Lawrence Seaway are being borne out.

Oliver T. Burnham, vice president of the Association, told the Cleveland Engineering Society Tuesday of inroads made by foreign shippers in competition with lake shippers.

Burnham said imports of foreign ore, in competition with lake shipping and domestic ore mines, hit a new peak of 35,645,649 gross tons last year—83 per cent of the amount carried in lake ships. The 1960 import total will equal or exceed last year's total, he said.

Foreign carriers also made inroads in grain shipping.

The major portion of seaway shipping, instead of developing general cargo trade, is in bulk cargo such as iron ore, coal and grain—the lifeblood of lake shipping—Burnham noted. This year 90.2 per cent of the seaway shipping was in bulk cargo.

Burnham noted also that lack of familiarity with lake sailing regulations on the part of officers of foreign vessels has resulted in one sinking and several other accidents on the lakes.

Cuban Craft Reported Only As Fishing Boat

HAVANA (AP) — The Cuban schooner alleged by Guatemalan authorities to have been carrying an invasion force was nothing more than a fishing boat, the newspaper Prensa Libre reports.

Guatemalan authorities reported Monday night the machinegunning of an invasion schooner which was reported forced aground on Cozumel Island by air force planes.

Yankee skipper Capt. Joshua Slocum was the first man to sail around the world alone. His 36-foot sloop ended a three-year globe-girdling voyage at Newport, R. I., June 27, 1898.

Russell W. Davis Elected Head Of Chester Kiwanis

Russell W. Davis, owner of the Conklin IGA Market on Carolina Ave., was elected president of the Chester Kiwanis Club for 1961 at a meeitng Tuesday night in the City Hall Auditorium. He succeeds Alvin (Pete) Arner.

Others elected were: J. Paul Finley, first vice president, and Dave McPherson, second vice president. A secretary-treasurer will be named later. Named to the Board of Directors were Lee C. Adams, Willis F. Bishop, Eugene Boyce, Clifford O. Comm, William W. Harper and Albert Kell.

Arner announced tickets are being printed for the annual public pancake supper Nov. 2-3 in the City Hall Auditorium, along with window placards to advertise the event.

Arner and Raymond Stevens were named team captains for a ticket-selling contest for the pancake supper. Losers will fete winners at a steak dinner.

The Kiwanis will attend an interclub "Ladies Night" with the Weirton club next Tuesday in the Weirton Community Center. Members and their wives will meet at the City Hall at 5:15 for transportation.

Ohioans Collecting Jobless Benefits Dip

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The number of Ohioans collecting unemployment benefits dipped by 1,317 last week. The number of Ohioans who exhausted their benefits — 1,380 — more than accounts for the entire drop.

As of last Saturday, the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation reports, 105,091 Ohioans were collecting benefits. The total the previous week was 106,408.

New claims for benefits filed last week totaled 16,197, approximately the same number as the previous week.

The number of jobless on the benefit rolls Oct. 1 was almost exactly double the average number receiving benefits in October 1959.

Asks Statement Study

BATAVIA, Ohio (AP)—The Clermont County Election Board wants the county prosecutor to study the amended statement of election expenses filed by County Commissioner Con Ison. Ison, on advice of his lawyer, refused to answer questions about the statement at at a meeting Tuesday night and the board said "there are indications of violations of the election laws." Ison's statement, filed Friday, showed primary campaign contributions of $450 by three county builders. His first statement showed no contributions.

Fleeing Gunman Wounds 3 After Robbery's Foiled

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — An armed man walked into a supermarket in suburban Whitehall Tuesday night and tried to rob the store. A few minutes later, three employes of the store were wounded, and the gunman fled without any money.

A half-hour later a man was apprehended and taken to Whitehall police headquarters for questioning.

Officials gave this account of the incident:

A man armed with a pistol walked into the store in the Town and Country shopping center.

He tried to hold up store manager Dwight E. Figlestahler, 32, of Whitehall. But Figlestahler shoved the robber's gun aside, and the holdup man fled out the door.

Figlestahler and two carryout boys—Roger Barrett, 17, and Malcolm Stricklin Jr., 17, both of Whitehall—pursued the gunman.

They spotted him going into a hardware store nearby. The gunman turned in the entranceway of the store, and fired at them, hitting all three. They were taken to a hospital, where they were listed in satisfactory condition.

Drunk Driving Charge Faces Man In Collision

A 32-year-old man faces a Municipal Court hearing Thursday morning on charges of driving while under the influence of alcohol as an aftermath of a two-car mishap Tuesday at 2:53 p. m. on Pennsylvania Ave. near Dewey Ave., East End.

Jack E. Watson of 9th Ave., LaCroft, was cited after his 1955 station wagon struck the rear of a 1959 two-door sedan operated by Hayward Goldsmith, 43, of 2205 Harvey Ave., police said.

Police listed Watson at both the LaCroft address and a Pittsburgh address shown on the Pennsylvania operator's permit he was carrying. The crash damaged the front of the Watson car, owned by Lloyd Ries, also of 9th Ave., and the rear of Goldsmith's auto. Goldsmith told police he halted in a line of traffic and was hit from the rear by Watson's auto.

Foreign Shipping Inroads On Lake Shippers Cited

CLEVELAND (AP)—An official of the Lake Carriers' Association says Great Lakes shippers feel their longtime misgivings over the St. Lawrence Seaway are being borne out.

Oliver T. Burnham, vice president of the Association, told the Cleveland Engineering Society Tuesday of inroads made by foreign shippers in competition with lake shippers.

Burnham said imports of foreign ore, in competition with lake shipping and domestic ore mines, hit a new peak of 36,665,689 gross tons last year—83 per cent of the amount carried in lake ships. The 1960 import total will equal or exceed last year's total, he said.

Foreign carriers also made inroads in grain shipping.

The major portion of seaway shipping, instead of developing general cargo trade, is in bulk cargo such as iron ore, coal and grain—the lifeblood of lake shipping—Burnham noted. This year 99.2 per cent of the seaway shipping was in bulk cargo.

Burnham noted also that lack of familiarity with lake sailing regulations on the part of officers of foreign vessels has resulted in one sinking and several other accidents on the lakes.

Fleeing Gunman Wounds 3 After Robbery's Foiled

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — An armed man walked into a supermarket in suburban Whitehall Tuesday night and tried to rob the store. A few minutes later, three employes of the store were wounded, and the gunman fled without any money.

A half-hour later a man was apprehended and taken to Whitehall police headquarters for questioning.

Officials gave this account of the incident:

A man armed with a pistol walked into the store in the Town and Country shopping center.

He tried to hold up store manager Dwight E. Figlestahler, 32, of Whitehall. But Figlestahler shoved the robber's gun aside, and the holdup man fled out the door.

Figlestahler and two carryout boys—Roger Barrett, 17, and Malcolm Stricklin Jr., 17, both of Whitehall—pursued the gunman.

They spotted him going into a hardware store nearby. The gunman turned in the entranceway of the store, and fired at them, hitting all three. They were taken to a hospital, where they were listed in satisfactory condition.

Drunk Driving Charge Faces Man In Collision

A 32-year-old man faces a Municipal Court hearing Thursday morning on charges of driving while under the influence of alcohol as an aftermath of a two-car mishap Tuesday at 2:53 p. m. on Pennsylvania Ave. near Dewey Ave., East End.

Jack E. Watson of 9th Ave., LaCroft, was cited after his 1955 station wagon struck the rear of a 1959 two-door sedan operated by Hayward Goldsmith, 43, of 2205 Harvey Ave., police said.

Police listed Watson at both the LaCroft address and a Pittsburgh address shown on the Pennsylvania operator's permit he was carrying. The crash damaged the front of the Watson car, owned by Lloyd Ries, also of 9th Ave., and the rear of Goldsmith's auto. Goldsmith told police he halted in a line of traffic and was hit from the rear by Watson's auto.

Autumn Termed Good Time For Poultry Insect Control

LISBON—Fall insect alerts have been received by Floyd Lower, county extension agent in agriculture, from R. P. Holdsworth Jr. and Billie D. Blair, extension entomologists at the Ohio State University. The alerts are for the farm and the home.

For the farm:

Poultry — Fall is a good time for mite and louse control, and removal of manure. Northern fowl mites cluster on the base of feathers near the vent, giving a gray and dirty appearance. Use 4 per cent malathion dust, or malathion spray on birds.

For chicken mites, use malathion spray on litter, walls, roost, ceiling and nests. For lice, use nicotine sulfate painted on roost or use 4 per cent malathion dust on birds. For fly control, remove caged layer manure and spread in field.

Beef cattle — Don't take down the backrubber when cold weather comes. Keep it charged with fresh inseciticide every week and let cattle control their own lice. Another measure is thorough spraying of cattle with lindane, malathion, methoxychlor, toxaphene or korlan in November. This will kill lice and reduce build-up for the winter.

Sheep — Keds can become most serious during the winter. A dip three weeks after shearing can give control for a year if the flock is not exposed to infected sheep. If the flock is infested now, use a dip or drenching spray (with detergent) of DDT, lindane, korlan, malathion, toxaphene (special livestock grade), or rotenone. Read the label for directions and restrictions.

Itch mites — Straw harvested this summer may have enough moisture to harbor straw - itch mites. They will not diminish until freezing weather. If practical, dry out the straw. Sweep up chaff and spray barn walls and floors with malathion (1½ ounces of 57 per cent emulsion concentrate in 5 gallons of water), or kelthane (1¼ ounces of 18.5 per cent wettable powder in 5 gallons of water).

For relief of itching from the straw mite welts, ask a druggist to make this solution: Benzocaine 5 per cent, methylsalicylate 2 per cent, salicylic acid ½ per cent, ethyl alcohol 73 per cent, water 19.5 per cent.

For the home:

Thrips on glad corms — Shake dried out gladiolus corms in a bag with some 10 per cent DDT, or 10 per cent methoxyclor dust. This kills overwintering thrips.

Clover mites — In both spring and fall these nuisances look for roughened areas to lay eggs. They swarm to trees and houses and often enter the latter in numbers. They don't like to cross bare ground. Eighteen inches of bare soil around a house, plus the use of malathion, kelthane, tedion, aramite, or chlorobenzilate as a ground and foundation spray give fairly good control.

Boxelder bugs — These are sinister looking bugs ½ inch long with red eyes that will soon be seen swarming on tree trunks, or the sides of buildings. They will do no harm to persons, pets or furnishings but are a nuisance in the home. Drench the bugs while outside the home with chlordane or dieldrin. Use at least two or four times the dosage recommended for other insects.

Crickets and grasshopers—Crickets and grasshopers are numerous again this year but crickets are more likely to enter homes where they occasionally do damage to fabrics. Insecticides sprayed entirely around buildings, to the foundation and surrounding ground, cellar window wells, etc., will destroy many crickets and grasshopers. Apply one of the following every week or 10 days as either a spray or dust—chlordane, lindane, dieldrin or diazinon. Malathion is also effective but may need to be applied every 5 days.

Bees-wasps-hornets — Whatever they are, wait until evening when they are quiet. Then with a garden dust gun, shoot 1-2 ounces of one of these powders into the nest, or opening: 50 per cent DDT, or 25 per cent lindane, or 50 per cent methoxychlor, or 50 per cent chlordane, or 25 per cent malathion. Leave quickly in the case of a nest in the ground, pour in 2 ounces of carbon tetrachloride and seal the opening with moist earth. In the case of bees, remove comb with honey or it will ferment next spring and make a mess on the walls. Or wait until spring and kill the bees. Most of the honey will be gone by then.

didn't know what the statement might pertain to.

The matter came up rather quickly and was dropped quickly. Following the meeting, Cartwright served coffee and doughtnuts to members of Council and the audience. He had announced previously that he would do so. He had a table set up at the rear of the Council Chambers with a large coffee urn and the doughnuts. He was assisted in serving by two women. about 26 were present in the audience at the close of the session.

Council adopted legislation under suspension of rules granting Safety-Service Director William S. Robinson permission to advertise for bids for a new 1961 police cruiser. Bids will be asked for with and without a trade-in of a 1958 cruiser.

Mayor William J. Shoub's report for September showed $961 collected in fines and fees.

George E. Grafton of 14th St. in a letter requested Council to investigate the Community Fund drive. He said money is solicited in Wellsville but that very little of it returns to the city. He asked councilmen to check into various phases of work backed by funds from the drive.

Stroble remarked that the situation should be studied. The letter was filed.

Council turned down a request from Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Creamer and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hall of the Old Salineville Rd. to tap onto the city's water main where it crosses the Volino farm outside the city limits. The water committee recommended the request be refused because their homes are located on a level much higher than the main and the committee said it was felt that constant water pressure could not be maintained to the houses.

Council ordered in legislation granting an 8-foot easement over 485 feet of city-owned land at Hammond Park. J. Frederick Russell, a former councilman, requested the easement so an 8-inch vitrified sewer line can be laid from Russell Heights Addition to carry away seepage water from the septic tank system at the housing development.

The line will cross the park road at one spot and will end below the pavilion, with the water running into what is known as 15th St. Hollow. Russell said the plan has the approval of the Columbiana County Health Department.

Council received a complaint from a resident of 18th St. and Buckeye Ave. that an odor emits from nearby septic tanks. The matter was referred to the Health Department.

William Fogo of Clark Ave. complained of sewage backing up into the cellar of his home during a hard rain. The sewage committee was asked to investigate.

Stroble, street and light chairman, said his committee will investigate a parking problem at 18th and Clark Ave. He also said further study will be given a proposal to make one-way traffic or no parking on the lower section of Commerce St.

He commended Robinson and council members for the street improvement program which was just completed. Twenty - two streets were sealcoated.

Solicitor William Bush advised Council against any immediate court action at present in an attempt to force Basil Mangano of East Liverpool to speed the razing of the old Whitacre Apartments building on 3rd St.

Bush said he has the building down to the point where it might be a private nuisance and not a public nuisance, which the city would have to prove. Bush said he conferred with Mangano and was told the remainder of the work will be done by Monday.

Councilman Donald Miller said he would go along with the decision until Monday but believes Council should proceed with its original plan to press the matter through court action if the work is not done.

Stroble remarked another building on Broadway near 3rd is in danger of collapsing and should be torn down. Bush said the building was damaged when a storm sewer was installed near it and the owner is attempting to collect damages by court action.

The Rev. Joseph Varner gave the opening prayer.

tinuing that the first step would be for the city to hire a consulting engineer to draw up the plans. The cost of this work would be deducted from the city's share, he said.

"As of the moment, we have no plans ourselves for this improvement although it is included in the 5-year plan for financial purposes. If the money is not spent here, it will be used elsewhere," McKenna said. He continued that if a consultant were hired, the minimum would be 24 months and the maximum 36 months before actual work would begin.

McKenna also outlined problems in the relocation of Route 8 in other cities along the Ohio River. He said the first contract on the East Liverpool California Hollow project will be let in November.

Various councilmen presented several questions. In answer to some of these McKenna pointed out that the residents along Buckeye Ave. would be wise to continue normal repair work on their homes such as paper and painting. "If the home is kept in good condition, this is taken into consideration when it is purchased for the right-of-way," he said.

In regards to the dangerous intersection of Route 213 and 7 at Yellow Creek, McKenna said the Ohio Power Co. now has plans for erecting a high intensity light system in the area. He said if it is installed, it will be the first of its kind used in the state. He also said that bigger signs have been erected at the intersection as warnings to motorists.

Council requested over a year ago the state take some action to correct the hazardous situation at the intersection.

A Father Complains

Barking Up Wrong Tree

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—I don't know about your house, but in our house we are having trouble with our indoor forest.

Perhaps where you live you don't try to raise the outdoors indoors. You grow inside and let the trees grow outside.

This is the approach to nature I was brought up to believe was natural.

Well, in the big city they don't always do things that way.

My daughter Tracy, 7, is in the second grade now, and she keeps coming home from school with a tree in her hand. Well, anyway, an embryo tree, a seedling in a can.

"What is this?" I ask.

"My homework."

"What do you mean your homework?"

"I bring it home and watch it work—I mean grow. Then I bring it to class and show it, then I bring it back home and let it grow some more, then I bring it to class again, and then I—"

Well, she doesn't have to go any further. I get the general idea. Instead of having a child go out and look at a forest, they have her plant one in her father's living room.

This is progressive education. It saves the child from walking. She can sit down in her own home and water her wilderness and watch it grow.

It doesn't work out that way in our house, however. The first time Tracy brought her own tree home from school I was afraid. I feared that in time, on some future lazy weekend, I would be lifted from my usual armchair lethargy and thrust atop a twining limb of greenery to the astonishment of our neighbors.

Well, thanks to our cat, Lady Dottie, I am in no danger of being tree-borne immediately.

I am not sure whether the tree in the can my daughter brought home hopefully the other day is the third or the fourth effort on the part of her and her teacher to make our house a wilderness.

In any case, Tracy waters it with loving care and croons little love songs to it, and it grows during the sun of the day. But at night Lady Dottie creeps up on little fog feet and eats all its leaves away. It seems cats kept indoors have a pent appetite for green and growing things.

I'm not sure how long this can go on, or whether it is fair for a man to let a cat cause his daughter to flunk nature study in the second grade.

I intercepted the following brooding letter from Tracy to herself: "A tree that loses its leaves in winter is deciduous. My maple tree will have bare branches."

There was also this further unexpected fruit of her horticultural learning. Susie, her little friend down the hall, observed during one of those aimless generalities so pleasing to children, "My daddy is fatter than your daddy."

"Yes, he is," Tracy agreed but added proudly: "My daddy is more deciduous than your daddy."

Parade Casualty

NORTH FORT HOOD, Tex. (AP) — Oklahoma Gov. J. Howard Edmondson was the only casualty as the 45th Infantry Division held its annual review. He pricked his finger as he pinned a distinguished service medal on Maj. Gen. Hal L. Muldrow Jr.

Father Admits Bank Robbery

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—A railroad detective nabbed Joseph E. Evans early Wednesday and police said he admitted his part in a father-son bank robbery here last month that netted $52,628.

Capt. Carroll Cutright said $4,000 the 55-year-old Evans had hidden in Akron was recovered shortly after the capture.

On Sept. 26 the West Akron branch of the First National Bank was held up by a gun-wielding man who wore dark glasses, and a man in overalls who had a white handkerchief over his face. It was Akron's biggest bank robbery.

FBI agents broke the case Monday by arresting Evans' son, William Ellsworth Evans, 16, at his mother's home in Pittsburgh. They quoted him as saying he scooped up the money while his father held the gun, and got only $5 as his share of the holdup.

Then the FBI arrested Mrs. Kathryn Evans, 50, the mother, on charges of receiving stolen property, and said she turned over to them $47,500 of the stolen money.

The elder Evans had been in the custody of Akron police last Friday for questioning in another matter, but had been released. A fugitive warrant was issued for him Tuesday.

Meanwhile Mrs. Evans had spent $1,700 of the loot, federal agents said, adding that Evans had left Pittsburgh for Chicago with $13,200.

Early Wednesday James Coolican, an Erie Railroad detective, was checking the arrival of an Erie train from Chicago. Showing a picture of the elder Evans to the conductor, he was told "that man just got off the train." The officer followed Evans and arrested him on the street.

Capt. Cutright said Evans admitted he was the man with the gun during the holdup.

Hold Special Elections

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Willoughby Hills (pop. 4,252) rejected a charter proposal 994-421, and Mentor (pop. 4,353) adopted a charter proposal 432-235 yesterday in special elections. Both Lake County villages now have mayors and six - member councils. The charter proposals were for city managers and seven - member councils.

PUCO Continues Study Of Bid For Crossing Blinkers

LISBON — The Ohio Public Utilities Commission conducted a public hearing Tuesday afternoon in the commissioners' office on a long-standing request to require the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. to install warning blinkers on its Moultrie crossing on Route 172 in West Township, but announced the request will continue under advisement.

Commissioners originally asked the Pennsy to install the blinkers in the fall of 1958, acting at the request of organizations and individuals in the area. Several surveys were made by the railroad, the last on Aug. 22-23, which showed an average of 27 cars an hour used the crossing in a 16-hour period.

At one hearing on the matter in Columbus, commissioners testified before the PUCO. Several other meetings were scheduled on the question, but were called off for various reasons.

Thomas L. Startzman, attorney-examiner for the PUCO, conducted Tuesday's meeting. Donald Brinkworth, assistant general solicitor of the Pennsy, represented the railroad and Prosecutor G. William Brokaw represented the commissioners and residents.

Only one witness was called. He is Victor Vasvari, an inspector for the PUCO who is on leave from the railroad. He gave statistics for the last traffic count. Startzman said the testimony will be reviewed by the PUCO, which will announce its decision later.

Ex-Prosecutor Dies

CLEVELAND (AP)—William A. Abrose, 73, who was Mahoning County prosecuting attorney from 1937 until 1956, died Tuesday in Cleveland Clinic, where he had been a patient for two weeks. A Democrat, Ambrose easily won re-election four times, but lost in 1956 when Frank R. Franko, then a municipal judge, ran as an independent and split the Democratic vote, enabling Republican Thomas A. Beil to win. Franko now is mayor.

Mrs. James Monroe, wife of the fifty President of the United States, won acclaim during the French Revolution for her plea that saved the life of Lafayette's wife. At the time, Monroe was minister to France.

Member Drive Aired For Methodist Group

Plans for a membership drive were discussed when the Methodist Men's Organization of Boyce Methodist Church met Tuesday night at Boyce Auditorium.

It was announced the group will sing in the Church Choir on Laymen's Sunday. Howard Tice and Robert Hammond were named to a committee to obtain furniture for the church study. William Talbott, president, conducted business.

Movies of the Holy Land were screened by David Wagoner. Charles Wagoner conducted devotions on the topic, "God In the Out-of-Doors." The meeting opened with group singing of "Trust and Obey," with the Rev. R. L. Rearic, pastor, at the piano.

Lunch was served by Talbott and Charles Wagoner.

Arson Suspected

CINCINNATI (AP)—Police said an arsonist may be the cause of two fires in two days in nearby Blue Ash. An unoccupied home had a loss estimated at $2,000 in a blaze Tuesday that firefighters said was set in several places in the house. Early Monday, an antique store was destroyed by a fire apparently set with gasoline, with a loss of $35,000.

A Father Complains

Barking Up Wrong Tree

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—I don't know about your house, but in our house we are having trouble with our indoor forest.

Perhaps where you live you don't try to raise the outdoors indoors. You grow inside and let the trees grow outside.

This is the approach to nature I was brought up to believe was natural.

Well, in the big city they don't always do things that way.

My daughter Tracy, 7, is in the second grade now, and she keeps coming home from school with a tree in her hand. Well, anyway, an embryo tree, a seedling in a can.

"What is this?" I ask.

"My homework."

"What do you mean your homework?"

"I bring it home and watch it work—I mean grow. Then I bring it to class and show it, then I bring it back home and let it grow some more, then I bring it to class again, and then I——"

Well, she doesn't have to go any further. I get the general idea. Instead of having a child go out and look at a forest, they have her plant one in her father's living room.

This is progressive education. It saves the child from walking. She can sit down in her own home and water her wilderness and watch it grow.

It doesn't work out that way in our house, however. The first time Tracy brought her own tree home from school I was afraid. I feared that in time, on some future lazy weekend, I would be lifted from my usual armchair lethargy and thrust atop a twining limb of greenery to the astonishment of our neighbors.

Well, thanks to our cat, Lady Dottie, I am in no danger of being tree-borne immediately.

I am not sure whether the tree in the can my daughter brought home hopefully the other day is the third or the fourth effort on the part of her and her teacher to make our house a wilderness.

In any case, Tracy waters it with loving care and croons little love songs to it, and it grows during the sun of the day. But at night Lady Dottie creeps up on little fog feet and eats all its leaves away. It seems cats kept indoors have a pent appetite for green and growing things.

I'm not sure how long this can go on, or whether it is fair for a man to let a cat cause his daughter to flunk nature study in the second grade.

I intercepted the following brooding letter from Tracy to herself: "A tree that loses its leaves in winter is deciduous. My maple tree will have bare branches."

There was also this further unexpected fruit of her horticultural learning. Susie, her little friend down the hall, observed during one of those aimless generalities so pleasing to children, "My daddy is fatter than your daddy."

"Yes, he is," Tracy agreed but added proudly: "My daddy is more deciduous than your daddy."

Parade Casualty

NORTH FORT HOOD, Tex. (AP) — Oklahoma Gov. J. Howard Edmondson was the only casualty as the 45th Infantry Division held its annual review. He pricked his finger as he pinned a distinguished service medal on Maj. Gen. Hal L. Muldrow Jr.

Father Admits Bank Robbery

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—A railroad detective nabbed Joseph E. Evans early Wednesday and police said he admitted his part in a father-son bank robbery here last month that netted $62,628.

Capt. Carroll Cutright said $4,000 the 55-year-old Evans had hidden in Akron was recovered shortly after the capture.

On Sept. 26 the West Akron branch of the First National Bank was held up by a gun-wielding man who wore dark glasses, and a man in overalls who had a white handkerchief over his face. It was Akron's biggest bank robbery.

FBI agents broke the case Monday by arresting Evans' son, William Ellsworth Evans, 16, at his mother's home in Pittsburgh. They quoted him as saying he scooped up the money while his father held the gun, and got only $5 as his share of the holdup.

Then the FBI arrested Mrs. Kathryn Evans, 50, the mother, on charges of receiving stolen property, and said she turned over to them $47,500 of the stolen money.

The elder Evans had been in the custody of Akron police last Friday for questioning in another matter, but had been released. A fugitive warrant was issued for him Tuesday.

Meanwhile Mrs. Evans had spent $1,700 of the loot, federal agents said, adding that Evans had left Pittsburgh for Chicago with $13,200.

Early Wednesday James Coolican, an Erie Railroad detective, was checking the arrival of an Erie train from Chicago. Showing a picture of the elder Evans to the conductor, he was told "that man just got off the train." The officer followed Evans and arrested him on the street.

Capt. Cutright said Evans admitted he was the man with the gun during the holdup.

Hold Special Elections

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Willoughby Hills (pop. 4,252) rejected a charter proposal 994-421, and Mentor (pop. 4,353) adopted a charter proposal 432-235 yesterday in special elections. Both Lake County villages now have mayors and six - member councils. The charter proposals were for city managers and seven - member councils.

PUCO Continues Study Of Bid For Crossing Blinkers

LISBON — The Ohio Public Utilities Commission conducted a public hearing Tuesday afternoon in the commissioners' office on a long-standing request to require the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. to install warning blinkers on its Moultrie crossing on Route 172 in West Township, but announced the request will continue under advisement.

Commissioners originally asked the Pennsy to install the blinkers in the fall of 1958, acting at the request of organizations and individuals in the area. Several surveys were made by the railroad, the last on Aug. 22-23, which showed an average of 27 cars an hour used the crossing in a 16-hour period.

At one hearing on the matter in Columbus, commissioners testified before the PUCO. Several other meetings were scheduled on the question, but were called off for various reasons.

Thomas L. Startzman, attorney-examiner for the PUCO, conducted Tuesday's meeting. Donald Brinkworth, assistant general solicitor of the Pennsy, represented the railroad and Prosecutor G. William Brokaw represented the commissioners and residents.

Only one witness was called. He is Victor Vasvari, an inspector for the PUCO who is on leave from the railroad. He gave statistics for the last traffic count. Startzman said the testimony will be reviewed by the PUCO, which will announce its decision later.

Ex-Prosecutor Dies

CLEVELAND (AP)—William A. Abrose, 73, who was Mahoning County prosecuting attorney from 1937 until 1956, died Tuesday in Cleveland Clinic, where he had been a patient for two weeks. A Democrat, Ambrose easily won re-election four times, but lost in 1956 when Frank R. Franko, then a municipal judge, ran as an independent and split the Democratic vote, enabling Republican Thomas A. Beil to win. Franko now is mayor.

Mrs. James Monroe, wife of the fifty President of the United States, won acclaim during the French Revolution for her plea that saved the life of Lafayette's wife. At the time, Monroe was minister to France.

Member Drive Aired For Methodist Group

Plans for a membership drive were discussed when the Methodist Men's Organization of Boyce Methodist Church met Tuesday night at Boyce Auditorium.

It was announced the group will sing in the Church Choir on Laymen's Sunday. Howard Tice and Robert Hammond were named to a committee to obtain furniture for the church study. William Talbott, president, conducted business.

Movies of the Holy Land were screened by David Wagoner. Charles Wagoner conducted devotions on the topic, "God In the Out-of-Doors." The meeting opened with group singing of "Trust and Obey," with the Rev. R. L. Rearic, pastor, at the piano.

Lunch was served by Talbott and Charles Wagoner.

Arson Suspected

CINCINNATI (AP)—Police said an arsonist may be the cause of two fires in two days in nearby Blue Ash. An unoccupied home had a loss estimated at $2,000 in a blaze Tuesday that firefighters said was set in several places in the house. Early Monday, an antique store was destroyed by a fire apparently set with gasoline, with a loss of $35,000.

5 Motorists Fined, 9 Forfeit Bonds In Salineville Arrests

SALINEVILLE — A total of five motorists were fined and nine forfeited bonds in Mayor Kenneth Leishman's court over the weekend as a result of a radar speed check and an accident stemming from a house fire.

Fire Chief Tony Brandonisio was fined $25 and costs Saturday night as a result of a collision between his car, the village fire truck and a stopped auto on E. Main St. Friday night.

The chief was en route to a blaze at the home of Warren Dunlap of Monroe Heights when his car, following the fire truck driven by Robert Skinner of Schoolhouse Hill, hit the rear of the truck when it slowed suddenly.

Brandonisio's car bounced off the truck and struck a car driven by Dyane Felton of Station Hill, who had halted because of the approaching fire truck. The chief was cited for failure to keep his car under control.

Damage at the Dunlap home was confined to clothing which ignited when the flames flared out as he was lighting the furnace.

Fined $5 and $6 costs for speeding as a result of a speed check conducted by Police Chief Cleo Mellott on W. Main St. Friday night were Henry Davison, Robert Eugene Yohst and Fr. Thomas Beldue of Salineville and Clarence Lintner of Kensington.

Edgar Allen Archinol of New Philadelphia forfeited a $25 bond when he failed to appear for a hearing on a charge of obstructing justice. Mellott said Archinol, passenger in a car of a man who was cited for speeding, later, while on foot, flagged down cars to warn them of the speed check. He stopped a car in which Mellott was riding and was cited.

Forfeiting $11 bonds for failure to appear for hearings for speeding were Meredith Packer, Richard Foutz, Harvey Haver, L. R. Kiser, Clare E. Stevenson, Donald McCoy, Dorothy Crawley and Kenneth Weber.

Union Continues Picketing At GE

CLEVELAND (AP) — International Union of Electrical Workers continued around-the-clock picketing at General Electric Co. plants in the Cleveland area Wednesday.

David J. Fitzmaurice, head of Local 707, whose 2,800 members are on strike, said police told him behavior of pickets yesterday was good.

An executive at the GE lamp division at Nela Park had warned of possible disciplinary action against striking employes after a series of picket-line incidents Monday.

GE reported that 1,050 production workers represented by different unions went into the plant Tuesday. These included members of the International Association of Machinists and the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

There were some reports of shoving and jostling at Nela Park and several other plants, but the gates were not blocked as they were Monday.

Some 70,000 IUE members struck GE plants across the nation early Sunday.

Restyling Marks New Oldsmobile

The 1961 Dynamic 88's, Super 88's and 98's in 18 different models incorporate the greatest change in styling and design to be introduced by the division in many years, according to Jack F. Wolfram, vice president of General Motors and general manager of Oldsmobile.

"In addition to their completely new, fresh and distinctive look, many design changes for passenger comfort have been made to make the 88's and 98's more attractive than ever before," Wolfram said. "Head room is increased, the cars are much easier to get in and out of, and seating comfort is greatly improved.

"This, together with many mechanical advancements, makes the 88's and 98's the most alert, best performing, most comfortable and smoothest riding and handling cars in the division's history," he declared.

Highlighting the styling motif, the sculptured sides of the Dynamic 88, Super 88 and 98 sweep back from the distinctive, alert-looking front end, with a profile tapering at the rear — styling that is unmistakably Oldsmobile Excluding convertibles, a total of eight different roof designs is featured on the various models within the three series.

"In 1961," Wolfram added, "we have taken a most important forward step toward more spectacular and glamorous interiors.

"Oldsmobile's Dynamic 88's, Super 88's and 98's will feature interior fashions of sensational decor — utilizing brighter, newer, more modern fabrics, color-harmonized with exterior finishes and patterned for utility, glamor and elegance."

Union Continues Picketing At GE

CLEVELAND (AP) — International Union of Electrical Workers continued around-the-clock picketing at General Electric Co. plants in the Cleveland area Wednesday.

David J. Fitzmaurice, head of Local 707, whose 2,800 members are on strike, said police told him behavior of pickets yesterday was good.

An executive at the GE lamp division at Nela Park had warned of possible disciplinary action against striking employes after a series of picket-line incidents Monday.

GE reported that 1,050 production workers represented by different unions went into the plant Tuesday. These included members of the International Association of Machinists and the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

There were some reports of shoving and jostling at Nela Park and several other plants, but the gates were not blocked as they were Monday.

Some 70,000 IUE members struck GE plants across the nation early Sunday.

Restyling Marks New Oldsmobile

The 1961 Dynamic 88's, Super 88's and 98's in 18 different models incorporate the greatest change in styling and design to be introduced by the division in many years, according to Jack F. Wolfram, vice president of General Motors and general manager of Oldsmobile.

"In addition to their completely new, fresh and distinctive look, many design changes for passenger comfort have been made to make the 88's and 98's more attractive than ever before," Wolfram said. "Head room is increased, the cars are much easier to get in and out of, and seating comfort is greatly improved.

"This, together with many mechanical advancements, makes the 88's and 98's the most alert, best performing, most comfortable and smoothest riding and handling cars in the division's history," he declared.

Highlighting the styling motif, the sculptured sides of the Dynamic 88, Super 88 and 98 sweep back from the distinctive, alert-looking front end, with a profile tapering at the rear — styling that is unmistakably Oldsmobile. Excluding convertibles, a total of eight different roof designs is featured on the various models within the three series.

"In 1961," Wolfram added, "we have taken a most important forward step toward more spectacular and glamorous interiors.

"Oldsmobile's Dynamic 88's, Super 88's and 98's will feature interior fashions of sensational decor — utilizing brighter, newer, more modern fabrics, color-harmonized with exterior finishes and patterned for utility, glamor and elegance."

MacDonald PTA To Support Wellsville's Playground Levy

The MacDonald Parent - Teacher Association pledged its support of the half-mill levy for city playgrounds to be voted on at the Nov. 8 election when the group met Monday night in the Wellsville school.

Jack Lanam, president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, spoke to the association on behalf of the levy.

The pledge of allegiance was followed by the invocation by The Rev. Robert Andrews, pastor of the First Christian Church, devotional leader. He read proverbs 22 and a poem, "What is a Girl?"

Mrs. Florcine Broderick, co-chairman of the ways and means committee, announced that plans are underway for a carnival and for golf lessons with Andy Petrick, East Liverpool Country Club pro, as instructor.

The group decided to join the County PTA Council.

Mrs. Ethel Clark and Mrs. Mary Heaton were chosen as delegates to its meetings. It was announced that there are 147 paid-up memberships to date.

Committee chairmen appointed by Agnin Bowling, president are: Mrs. Broderick and Mrs. Mary Clark, co-chairmen of ways and means; Mrs. William Palmer, membership; Mrs. Fred Huston, publicity; Mrs. Peggy Todd, hospitality; Mrs. Vivian Bratt, social; Mrs. Ellen MacLean, parliamentarian; Mrs. Chester Beatty, magazines, and Mrs. Nell Platt, Mrs. Louise Dash and Mrs. Paul Headley, program.

Parents visited homerooms. Sixth grade homeroom mothers served lunch. Halloween decorations were used on the buffet table.

Union Figure Dies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Robert E. Noonan, 58, assistant to the president of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, died Monday of a heart attack.

Yellow Creek Grange Sets Meeting Thursday

Atty. Herbert Arfman of Leetonia, Democratic candidate for prosecutor, will speak at the meeting of the Yellow Creek Grange Thursday night at 8:30.

The program, arranged by Mrs. Wilda Shafer, lecturer, also will include a monologue by Lawrence Mick and stunts and games.

Vote Council-Manager

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—Voters at nearby Louisville gave overwhelming approval yesterday to a council-manager form of charter government. The vote in the special election was 853-245. Louisville has passed the 5,000 population mark to move into city status. It is one of two new cities in Stark County. North Canton votes Nov. 8 on a new charter. The Louisville charter provides for a five-member council which will name a mayor from among its ranks and will hire a city manager.

Charged In Embezzling

CLEVELAND (AP) — John M. Cain, 32, Lakewood father of two, has been charged with embezzling $3,000 from the Central National Bank for which he had worked for 10 years. FBI Agent-in-Charge Edward E. Hargett said Cain admitted having a teller cash a fictitious check on Sept. 23 at the Rockefeller office of the bank, where he was assistant branch manager. Hargett quoted Cain as saying he wanted the money "to pay personal debts." Arraigned before U.S. Commissioner H. A. Horn Tuesday shortly after his arrest, Cain was released on $2,000 bond, Hargett said.

The motion picture industry is 64 years old, having had its beginning in 1896.

Board O.K.'s Gas Request

The Western Beaver County Board of Education Monday evening authorized the president and secretary to sign an application with the Peoples Natural Gas Co. for gas for the Industry School.

Bids are being received for the gas furnace, hot water heater and school furniture for Industry School. Specifications for the work may be secured from the office of Frank Meredith, supervising principal. The school now uses coal.

Fluorescent lighting will be installed in Industry School as soon as the work can be scheduled, Meredith reported. Window shades for the school were ordered from Hamilton Awning Co. of Beaver for $156.

The board adopted a resolution stating bidding procedures for the new junior-senior high school. Advertisement of bids and construction of the school will be under the direction of the State Public School Building Authority.

Richard Herter of Ohio View was sworn in as a new member of the board by James P. McClaskey, president. He replaces Walter L. Zischkau, who resigned due to a job transfer.

H. Randall Park of Edinburgh was elected as a fifth grade teacher at Fairview. The board approved parking of school buses on a portion of the land at Fairview School. John Flasco, transportation chairman, gave a report on the transportation of pupils.

The board granted permission for the United Fund drive to be conducted for school personnel and the American Junior Red Cross drive for the student body.

Bills totaling $29,034.17 were ordered paid.

Canton Chief To Quit

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—Canton's police chief here for 13 years, James B. Quilligan, will resign Nov. 1 to become executive secretary of the Stark County Automobile Dealers' Association.

Mercury Presents Two New Lines

The new Mercury will go on display Thursday at Arb Motor Sales, 1340 Pennsylvania Ave.

Mercury has increased its coverage of the low-price field by introducing two all new lines, the Meteor 600 and the Meteor 800. The Meteor 600 four-door sedan is shown above.

"The dramatically lower price of the new Mercury Meteor places it squarely into competition in the low-price field," according to Ben D. Mills, Ford Motor Co. vice president and general manager of the Lincoln-Mercury Division.

"We have completely restyled and engineered our products to compete in the low-price volume market," Mills said. We have shortened our cars by 4½ inches and made them 1½ inches narrower, yet we have retained Mercury's interior comfort, riding qualities and luxury styling."

The move down into the low-price field marks a wide departture from Mercury's traditional competition in the medium-price market. The Mercury line for 1961, which consists of 14 models, is identified as the Meteor 600 series, which is priced with the middle series in the low-price field; the Meteor 800 series, priced with the top series of the low-price field; and the Monterey series, at the top of the line. In addition, there are four Commuter and Colony Park station wagons.

For the first time in its history, Mercury will include a six-cylinder engine.

The front features a sturdy grille with dual headlights which give the appearance of being suspended in the grille.

Two different roof styles are used for sedan models. The Meteor 600 series has a sloping rear glass. All other Mercury sedans and hardtops have a crisply-styled formal type roof with flat rear glass. Both roof designs incorporate a new moderate wrap-around windshield that eliminates the dogleg protrusion into the front door opening, allowing more entrance room.

Parking Ban Motion Fails

NEW CUMBERLAND — A motion to have the State Road Commission eliminate parking on narrow Ridge Ave., a section of State Route 2 running through the village, failed to pass at a meeting of Village Council Tuesday night.

The motion made by Blair Patterson and seconded by Benny Parr lacked the required majority vote when the two other councilmen present did not vote in favor of the proposal.

Welty Vulgamore cast a dissenting vote and Nick Nardo abstained.

The vote followed information presented by Mayor Albert (Jakie) Fuccy that Council had an opportunity to eliminate parking on the narrow street which is being resurfaced.

The mayor noted that Council could, at this time, request the commission to paint center lines and post no parking signs, thereby allowing two lanes of traffic to flow along the crowded street.

Parking is presently allowed on the west side of the street, impeding the flow of traffic since approaching vehicles must alternate in moving north and south.

A motion to suspend the rules to allow Council to adopt an ordinance prohibiting parking on a roadway running behind the Hancock County Courthouse and another between the Courthouse and the New Cumberland High School also did not pass.

The action came after a letter was read from Joseph Endry, assistant principal, requesting that no parking rules be adopted for the two areas.

Mayor Fuccy later charged that Council has moved in a "backward direction in the last year and a half and has failed to precede beyond preliminary agreeing on proposed measures."

Mrs. Harry Newburn, clerk, said new hours will be observed for Town Hall beginning Saturday.

The building will be open Monday through Friday from 9 a. m. to noon and from 1 to 5 p. m. and will be closed Saturdays. Previously, the building was open Saturdays from 9 a. m. to 2 p. m.

The discount period for water bills will be extended to Monday, Oct. 17 since the discount period ends on a Saturday, Oct. 15.

Virginian Held In Weapons Case

A Virginia man, arrested Monday night in Wellsville, was being held in Columbiana County Jail at Lisbon today under $500 bond after being bound over to the Grand Jury on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon at a hearing Tuesday before Judge James MacDonald at Lisbon.

Lewis Johnson of Warrenton, Va., pleaded not guilty. He was arrested Monday night at Central Park, for carrying a hunting knife with a 5-inch blade in his pocket.

Johnson was traveling with the Mills Brothers Circus which was performing at the park. Police were called when he started creating a distrubance around the cook tent.

Police said he had been carrying the knife in a sheath attached to his belt but moved it into his pocket by the time they arrived.

John Walker of England invented the friction match in about 1827.

Kaycees' Youth Fund Drive To End Monday

Harold McNicol reported at a meeting of Carroll Council 509, Knights of Columbus, Tuesday night in the K. of C. Home that the statewide Youth Fund drive will close Monday.

The group also completed plans for the joint Columbus Day district observance with the Wellsville Council 507 Tuesday at 8 p. m. at the Wellsville home.

Kevin O'Brien, grand knight, presided.

Solicitation For United Fund Launched In Crucible Works

Plans were completed Tuesday afternoon for the United Fund solicitation at the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co., which began today and is expected to be finished next week.

About 65 attended a meeting of the Crucible Combined Charities Board, superintendents and grievance committeemen in the Midland Steelworkers Hall.

The Midland area goal is $37,973 and will aid 2 local and 23 Beaver County health, welfare and character building agencies.

A brief speech outlining the United Fund and the reason for a united drive was given by Fingle Bloom, works controller and chairman of Crucible Combined Charities.

Comments were made by George Burrier, works manager and Beaver County United Fund campaign chairman; James Mullen, United Steelworkers Union staff representative, and Joseph D'Alesio, president of Crucible Local 1212.

Bloom said that each exempt manager and employe is being asked to contribute three-tenths of 1 per cent of his base pay and each hourly employ 50 cents per pay period. Employes will sign cards for payroll deductions.

He said that funds collected will be accurately tabulated by residential area. If the contributing employe is from out of the area then his donation will be returned to the recognized charities in his home town, he said.

The Midland area fund drive was kicked off Monday evening with Charles Schmitt, a Crucible superintendent, as campaign chairman. Atty. Edwin M. Wallover is president of the Midland Area Charities which conducts the annual drive along with the Crucible Combined Charities.

Board O.K.'s Gas Request

The Western Beaver County Board of Education Monday evening authorized the president and secretary to sign an application with the Peoples Natural Gas Co. for gas for the Industry School.

Bids are being received for the gas furnace, hot water heater and school furniture for Industry School. Specifications for the work may be secured from the office of Frank Meredith, supervising principal. The school now uses coal.

Fluorescent lighting will be installed in Industry School as soon as the work can be scheduled, Meredith reported. Window shades for the school were ordered from Hamilton Awning Co. of Beaver for $156.

The board adopted a resolution stating bidding procedures for the new junior-senior high school. Advertisement of bids and construction of the school will be under the direction of the State Public School Building Authority.

Richard Herter of Ohio View was sworn in as a new member of the board by James P. McClaskey, president. He replaces Walter L. Zischkau, who resigned due to a job transfer.

H. Randall Park of Edinburgh was elected as a fifth grade teacher at Fairview. The board approved parking of school buses on a portion of the land at Fairview School. John Flasco, transportation chairman, gave a report on the transportation of pupils.

The board granted permission for the United Fund drive to be conducted for school personnel and the American Junior Red Cross drive for the student body.

Bills totaling $29,034.17 were ordered paid.

Mercury Presents Two New Lines

The new Mercury will go on display Thursday at Arb Motor Sales, 1340 Pennsylvania Ave.

Mercury has increased its coverage of the low-price field by introducing two all new lines, the Meteor 600 and the Meteor 800. The Meteor 600 four-door sedan is shown above.

"The dramatically lower price of the new Mercury Meteor places it squarely into competition in the low-price field," according to Ben D. Mills, Ford Motor Co. vice president and general manager of the Lincoln-Mercury Division.

"We have completely restyled and engineered our products to compete in the low-price volume market," Mills said. We have shortened our cars by 4½ inches and made them 1½ inches narrower, yet we have retained Mercury's interior comfort, riding qualities and luxury styling."

The move down into the low-price field marks a wide departure from Mercury's traditional competition in the medium-price market. The Mercury line for 1961, which consists of 14 models, is identified as the Meteor 600 series, which is priced with the middle series in the low-price field; the Meteor 800 series, priced with the top series of the low-price field; and the Monterey series, at the top of the line. In addition, there are four Commuter and Colony Park station wagons.

For the first time in its history, Mercury will include a six-cylinder engine.

The front features a sturdy grille with dual headlights which give the appearance of being suspended in the grille.

Two different roof styles are used for sedan models. The Meteor 600 series has a sloping rear glass. All other Mercury sedans and hardtops have a crisply-styled formal type roof with flat rear glass. Both roof designs incorporate a new moderate wraparound windshield that eliminates the dogleg protrusion into the front door opening, allowing more entrance room.

Parking Ban Motion Fails

NEW CUMBERLAND — A motion to have the State Road Commission eliminate parking on narrow Ridge Ave., a section of State Route 2 running through the village, failed to pass at a meeting of Village Council Tuesday night.

The motion made by Blair Patterson and seconded by Benny Parr lacked the required majority vote when the two other councilmen present did not vote in favor of the proposal.

Welty Vulgamore cast a dissenting vote and Nick Nardo abstained.

The vote followed information presented by Mayor Albert (Jakie) Fuccy that Council had an opportunity to eliminate parking on the narrow street which is being resurfaced.

The mayor noted that Council could, at this time, request the commission to paint center lines and post no parking signs, thereby allowing two lanes of traffic to flow along the crowded street.

Parking is presently allowed on the west side of the street, impeding the flow of traffic since approaching vehicles must alternate in moving north and south.

A motion to suspend the rules to allow Council to adopt an ordinance prohibiting parking on a roadway running behind the Hancock County Courthouse and another between the Courthouse and the New Cumberland High School also did not pass.

The action came after a letter was read from Joseph Endry, assistant principal, requesting that no parking rules be adopted for the two areas.

Mayor Fuccy later charged that Council has moved in a "backward direction in the last year and a half and has failed to precede beyond preliminary agreeing on proposed measures."

Mrs. Harry Newburn, clerk, said new hours will be observed for Town Hall beginning Saturday.

The building will be open Monday through Friday from 9 a. m. to noon and from 1 to 5 p. m. and will be closed Saturdays. Previously, the building was open Saturdays from 9 a. m. to 2 p. m.

The discount period for water bills will be extended to Monday, Oct. 17 since the discount period ends on a Saturday, Oct. 15.

Virginian Held In Weapons Case

A Virginia man, arrested Monday night in Wellsville, was being held in Columbiana County Jail at Lisbon today under $500 bond after being bound over to the Grand Jury on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon at a hearing Tuesday before Judge James MacDonald at Lisbon.

Lewis Johnson of Warrenton, Va., pleaded not guilty. He was arrested Monday night at Central Park, for carrying a hunting knife with a 5-inch blade in his pocket.

Johnson was traveling with the Mills Brothers Circus which was performing at the park. Police were called when he started creating a distrubance around the cook tent.

Police said he had been carrying the knife in a sheath attached to his belt but moved it into his pocket by the time they arrived.

John Walker of England invented the friction match in about 1827.

Kevin O'Brien, grand knight, presided.

Plans were completed Tuesday afternoon for the United Fund solicitation at the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co., which began today and is expected to be finished next week.

About 65 attended a meeting of the Crucible Combined Charities Board, superintendents and grievance committeemen in the Midland Steelworkers Hall.

The Midland area goal is $37,973 and will aid 2 local and 23 Beaver County health, welfare and character building agencies.

A brief speech outlining the United Fund and the reason for a united drive was given by Fingle Bloom, works controller and chairman of Crucible Combined Charities.

Comments were made by George Burrier, works manager and Beaver County United Fund campaign chairman; James Mullen, United Steelworkers Union staff representative, and Joseph D'Alesio, president of Crucible Local 1212.

Bloom said that each exempt manager and employe is being asked to contribute three-tenths of 1 per cent of his base pay and each hourly employ 50 cents per pay period. Employes will sign cards for payroll deductions.

He said that funds collected will be accurately tabulated by residential area. If the contributing employe is from out of the area then his donation will be returned to the recognized charities in his home town, he said.

The Midland area fund drive was kicked off Monday evening with Charles Schmitt, a Crucible superintendent, as campaign chairman. Atty. Edwin M. Wallover is president of the Midland Area Charities which conducts the annual drive along with the Crucible Combined Charities.

Pupil Panel Tells Ohio PTA How Parents 'Look To Them'

CLEVELAND (AP)—A panel of three high school students gave parents attending the Ohio PTA convention here Tuesday an idea of how they look to some teenagers.

Parents don't measure up too well, the Cleveland school students agreed in their discussion of "the challenge of a new decade."

"There should be more family life," said Terry Bettner of West Technical High School. "Families should attend shows together and eat their meals together. There are too many split-shift meals." "There's not enough home life," echoed Bill Schlatterbeck of Lincoln High. "Parents go one place; teen-agers go another."

Audrey Pericha of John Adams noted that many children "will confide in a friend before they will a parent. There is just no family confidence any more."

Parents attending the 55th annual convention of the Ohio Congress of Parents and Teachers heard more critical words from Dr. Novice G. Fawcett, president of Ohio State University.

Citing results of a recent Ford Foundation survey, Fawcett said in a speech that parents are failing to make adequate provision for higher education for their children — "one of the most urgent and important responsibilities which they face today."

Parents should "put first things first" and make sacrifices to see that funds for educating their children are available, the University president declared. He urged parents also to "put forth images of scholarship and intellectualism in the home."

He said the Ford Foundation survey showed that 60 per cent of parents interviewed had no savings plan to provide college educations for their children. The 40 per cent which had such plans put aside only an average of $150 for this purpose last year.

Plans Switch To Put Kennedy In Cincinnati Late Tonight

CINCINNATI (AP)—A switch in plans has advanced the arrival of Sen. John F. Kennedy in Cincinnati to late tonight.

A spokesman said Tuesday night a planned stop at French Lick, Ind., was canceled for the Democratic presidential nominee.

The senator is due to fly to Greater Cincinnati Airport at 10 p.m. after a speech in Louisville, Ky.

The spokesman said Kennedy plans to rest at his Cincinnati hotel most of Thursday before pursuing speaking engagements in nearby Covington, Ky., in late afternoon, and in Cincinnati in the evening.

The Senator plans to fly back to Washington late Thursday.

John A. Wiethe, Hamilton County Democratic chairman, said last night he will try to set up what he calls a "lie-detector" squad to combat the work of a group called a "truth squad" by Republicans.

The truth squad, two GOP senators and three congressmen organized by the Republican National Committee, plans to stop in Cincinnati Thursday to hear Kennedy's talks.

Then the Republicans plan to hold a news conference in rebuttal to Kennedy's remarks.

Wiethe said the Democrats have hired a Dayton man to bring a lie detector to Cincinnati and strap it on the members of the truth squad—if they'll hold still for it.

He said he wants his lie detector squad to go to the press conference and ask the truth squad members to take the polygraph test for a few chosen questions.

Wiethe said, "we resent the ugly inference that anyone opposed to their political philosophy is incapable of telling the truth."

Steubenville College Gets $900,000 Loan

Vandals Are Known

CINCINNATI (AP)—Police had a good idea of the identity of eight juveniles believed responsible for $4,000 damage at a housing unit. The vandals damaged new concrete, tiles, windows and splattered paint around. But in the new concrete, police said, the absentmindedly inscribed their names or initials.

After the head, feet, bones, and inedible entrails of a fowl are removed, the weight has been reduced from 15 to 20 per cent.

1 Killed, 3 Hurt As Vehicle Carrying Sick Child Hits Car

ZANESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—An emergency vehicle, speeding to a hospital with a sick child, and an auto collided in downtown Zanesville early Wednesday killing one man and seriously injuring three others.

The 10-month-old baby, suffering from a heart ailment, was taken from the crash scene by an unidentified motorist and is reported recovering in an oxygen tent in a hospital.

Killed in the mishap was James C. Matheney, 41, a member of the Crooksville Fire Department. He was pinned under the truck.

The crash occurred at the intersection of Seventh and Main Streets.

Reported in serious condition were Richard Emory, 25, driver of the emergency truck, and Ward Mauller, 42, a crewman, both of Crooksville. Driver of the auto, Cecil Humphrey, 22, of near Zanesville, also was listed in serious condition.

A fourth member of the emergency crew, Robert Shreves, 26, also of Crooksville, was slightly injured.

The baby, Harlan Enczi, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Enczi suffered a bruised forehead in the crash.

The parents, following the emergency unit, arrived about 10 minutes after the accident and had several anxious moments until they learned a motorist had taken their son to the hospital.

Farmers may soon be using plastic-coated fertilizer capsules. They would spread fertilizer effects over a longer period, supplying nutrients as they are needed throughout the season.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a mature, sensible, unmarried businesswoman of 44. A man I've known for many years (bachelor) moved to this city several months ago.

He was having a difficult time finding a suitable apartment so I offered to let him move in with me. I have a lovely two-bedroom place and one bedroom was always vacant.

He pays half the rent and we split the utility and phone bills. We never get in each other's way and the arrangement is ideal.

If you think there's any sex involved here you're wrong. We are good friends — and nothing more.

The evil-minded landlady suggested last week I take the man's name off the mailbox or tell people he's a cousin. I told her my conscience is clear and I see no reason to hide him or lie about his identity.

Am I right? Why do people always have to think the worst?—NO FOOLIN.

Dear No Foolin': Your conscience may be clear but your reputation is going to be mighty muddy if you don't move that bachelor out of there.

People make judgments on circumstantial evidence. There well may be no hanky-panky whatever but the setup suggests an illicit relationship. Don't change the mailbox—change his address.

Improper Suggestion

Dear Ann: I'm a boy 17 who dates a certain girl very often. I guess you might say we're going steady. We go out Friday and Saturday nights and sometimes Sunday if there's something special doing.

My problem is my girl doesn't care to eat at night. She says she'd rather have me spend the money on a practical gift for her — like a blouse or a sweater.

I don't like the idea much, although I can't tell you exactly what's wrong with it. Maybe it's because nobody I know does this.

She says she doesn't care what other people do, she believes in leading her own life and in being practical.—WILLING TO LISTEN.

Dear Willing: Refreshments are part of the fun of going out. If your girl doesn't care to eat after a movie or a dance, take her home. You don't have a written contract that you must spend a certain amount of money on her, do you?

A 17-year-old should not have a financial arrangement of this kind with his girl. Her father should buy her clothing.

Forced Feeding

Dear Ann: My neighbor forces her 14-month-old child to eat by pinching his nose shut so he must swallow the food she stuffs into his mouth.

The child screams at the sight of the high chair and it makes me sick the way she abuses that child.

Her little boy is thin and nervous and it worries me that when he grows up he'll be a nervous wreck.

I've hinted that such feeding is not good and she says, "As long as you get the food into 'em it doesn't matter how."

Please tell me what to do—if anything. When I hear that child scream at mealtime it breaks my heart.—NEIGHBOR.

-:-

Dear Neighbor: Tell the woman's husband at once and suggest he ask the family doctor (or the pediatrician) to talk with her immediately. She sounds like a sadistic character who is taking out her anxiety on the defenseless child.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

36 Top Chrysler Executives Seen 'Free Of Bribes'

DETROIT (AP) — Two law firms say the 36 top executives of Chrysler Corp. have no outside interests which conflict with their duties to the company.

These men, the lawyers reported Tuesday after three months of investigation, are free of the taint of bribes, kickbacks or secret commissions.

The corporation's most vociferous critic, Detroit attorney Sol A. Dann, called the reports a whitewash. He vowed to pursue "even more vigorously" his pending lawsuits against the corporation and many of the men who were the subjects of the reports.

The legal opinions were issued by Chrysler's general counsel — Kelley, Drye, Newhall & Maginnes of New York—and by special counsel—Dewey, Balantine, Bushby, Palmer & Wood. The Dewey in this firm is former New York Governor Thomas E. Dewey.

The investigation as outlined by the attorneys consisted of four parts and began June 30. That was the day William C. Newberg was ousted as president of Chrysler because he was found to own half interests in two companies which had supplied small parts for Chrysler cars.

Prof. Herrell DeGraff of Cornell says that on a worldwide basis the typical family puts forth about 60 per cent of its productive effort for securing food. In the United States, however, a typical family uses only 25 per cent of its disposable income for food.

Grandview PTA Sees School Film

Joseph Endry, assistant principal of New Cumberland High School, screened a movie on "How Good are Our Schools?" at a meeting of the Grandview Parent-Teacher Association Tuesday night at the school near Chester.

Mrs. Charles Wagner, president, announced the appointment of six homeroom mothers. They are Mrs. Janet Fox, Mrs. Gaynell Shroades, Mrs. Vernon Whittington, Mrs. Pauline Bryan, Mrs. Shirley Gallop and Mrs. Wilma Lively.

Plans were made for the sale of candy to raise money for projects. Mrs. Wagner will attend the state PTA convention Thursday and Friday at Martinsburg.

The attendance banner was won by the second and third grades taught by Mrs. Clyde Hetzler. Refreshments were served 20 by Mrs. Alvin Hillyard, Mrs. Fox and Mrs. Shroades.

The next meeting will be Nov. 1.

Miss Woodward Given County Job Promotion

LISBON — Miss Grace Woodward of Wellsville has succeeded Bernard G. Freeman of Columbiana as personal tax deputy in the county auditor's office, according to Auditor Kenneth Bell. Miss Woodward has been with the auditor's office since Jan. 1.

Freeman, who returned to private business, was an employe since Bell took over the auditor's office in 1959.

Mrs. Sara Smith of Salineville, who has been working part-time in the office, now will work full time for the present, Bell said.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a mature, sensible, unmarried businesswoman of 44. A man I've known for many years (bachelor) moved to this city several months ago.

He was having a difficult time finding a suitable apartment so I offered to let him move in with me. I have a lovely two-bedroom place and one bedroom was always vacant.

He pays half the rent and we split the utility and phone bills. We never get in each other's way and the arrangement is ideal.

If you think there's any sex involved here you're wrong. We are good friends — and nothing more.

The evil-minded landlady suggested last week I take the man's name off the mailbox or tell people he's a cousin. I told her my conscience is clear and I see no reason to hide him or lie about his identity.

Am I right? Why do people always have to think the worst?—NO FOOLIN.

Dear No Foolin': Your conscience may be clear but your reputation is going to be mighty muddy if you don't move that bachelor out of there.

People make judgments on circumstantial evidence. There well may be no hanky-panky whatever but the setup suggests an illicit relationship. Don't change the mailbox—change his address.

Improper Suggestion

Dear Ann: I'm a boy 17 who dates a certain girl very often. I guess you might say we're going steady. We go out Friday and Saturday nights and sometimes Sunday if there's something special doing.

My problem is my girl doesn't care to eat at night. She says she'd rather have me spend the money on a practical gift for her — like a blouse or a sweater.

I don't like the idea much, although I can't tell you exactly what's wrong with it. Maybe it's because nobody I know does this.

She says she doesn't care what other people do, she believes in leading her own life and in being practical.—WILLING TO LISTEN.

Dear Willing: Refreshments are part of the fun of going out. If your girl doesn't care to eat after a movie or a dance, take her home. You don't have a written contract that you must spend a certain amount of money on her, do you?

A 17-year-old should not have a financial arrangement of this kind with his girl. Her father should buy her clothing.

Forced Feeding

Dear Ann: My neighbor forces her 14-month-old child to eat by pinching his nose shut so he must swallow the food she stuffs into his mouth.

The child screams at the sight of the high chair and it makes me sick the way she abuses that child.

Out Of The Air

By JOHN CROSBY

High-Water Mark For Television

Fred Astaire said this year's show would be his best, and I think that it was. It's pretty hard to top the very first of the Fred Astaire shows because it was — well, the first. It had impact, freshness, originality. Everything afterward would have to lose a bit. But, in the face of all that, this show grabbed you by the throat right at the outset and it never let go. Not only did it set a new high mark for television, but it set a new high mark for anything else.

John Crosby

Where else — on stage or screen or night clubs or anywhere else — would you see a song number as witty, as stylish, as engagingly exuberant, impishly alive as "Miss Otis Regrets"?

There hasn't been anything that mixed melody, civilized lyric, charm, style and grace like that on Broadway since the far-off days of "The Bandwagon" (which starred Mr. Astaire) or "As Thousands Cheer."

-:-

THEN THERE was that number in which the Fred Astaire dancers spoofed their own versatility—doing Russian, Spanish, gypsy, Calypso and what-have-you dances. It was a sort of roundelay of the dance and I don't think I ever saw anything like it.

Now that the ice has been broken, I imagine a lot of choreographers will do it again.

Again, Mr. Astaire was teamd with Barrie Chase who has improved greatly as a dancer. The body always something to be reckoned with but the skill with which she uses it has advanced mightily.

This time instead of Jonah Jones, Mr. Astaire gave us Count Basie's marvelous band. Basie and Astaire did "Sweet Georgia Brown" together with a delicacy and lightness, fresh as spring water.

Always Astaire presents a blues ballad played and sung — but this one, I thought, was just better than the previous one. More complex both choreographically, melodically and storywise, more finished, more complete, more emotionally satisfying.

THE GREAT THING about the Astaire shows — all of them — is that they make no apologies and no stoopings to popular tastes. Mr. Astaire does the best he can which is very good indeed (and sometimes just about perfection) and the public digs it all right.

Whenever you find a performer worried about the limits of popular taste, you safely may set it down that he's really worried about the limits of his own talent.

The other great things about these shows is that they are pure television. You won't find them anywhere else, and you won't find anything this good anywhere else.

-:-

"WITNESS" (Thursday, CBS-TV 7:30-8:30), the new David Susskind show, is certainly the most interesting and original idea that has come along in some time.

This is a taped show that is "a simulated hearing" of a "simulated committee," not a courtroom, not a trial.

The principals include some of the most controversial figures of our time. The first, for example, was devoted to Charles (Lucky) Luciano and it's as if a Kefauver committee called him to query him about his whole life.

This is a very interesting life. The show had strong elements of the confessions of Zsa Zsa Gabor, "Confidential" and the old Kefauver hearings and I found it fascinating. What the show lacked, I felt, was some sort of clear central motivation.

What did this simulated committee want to know all this for?

Also, the show — perhaps understandably — lacks form. The procedure gets a little chaotic.

JUST THE SAME, as a sort of televised profile, sure strokes, you got quite a portrait of Mr. Lucky.

The story about Luciano's rubbing out 30 gangsters scattered in cities all over the country in the same night was news to me. The conclusions, announced with some fanfare, that the hearings had proved Luciano headed the Mafia was malarkey. It proved no such thing.

Telly Savalas was a tough and convincing and rather loathsome Luciano. The four committee members, all real lawyers who will continue week after week, are Charles Haydon, William F. X. Geoghan Jr., Benedict Ginsberg and Richard Steel, and they were all impressive.

(Lawyers certainly are infiltrating television what with "Verdict Is Yours" and all those courtroom things. Harvard law school will have to add a course on makeup pretty soon.)

Coming up soon are "hearings" on such interesting people as James J. Walker, Bill Fallon, Huey Long (this week) and many others.

Auxiliary At Glenmoor To Be Formed Tonight

An auxiliary to Glenmoor American Legion Post 736 will be officially set up at a ceremony tonight at 8 at the post home.

The post, at a meeting Tuesday night, voted to present the auxiliary with a preamble. Mrs. Dorothy McKelvy of Scio, 10th District auxiliary president, will install the auxiliary officers.

Ronald Hopper, commander, presided at last night's session. Thomas Taylor of Glenmoor was reinstated as a new member.

It was announced a work party will meet Sunday at 10 a. m. to complete a basement meeting room at the post.

Robert Buckley served lunch. The next meeting will be Oct. 18.

Would Abandon Line

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Big Four division of the New York Central Railroad wants authority to abandon about 20 miles of line linking Ostrander and Mechanicsburg, Ohio. In asking the Interstate Commerce Commission Tuesday for the authority, the railroad said the line handles too little business to warrant continuance.

NYC Continues Efforts To Gain Control Of B&O

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—The New York Central Railroad, with the overwhelming backing of its stockholders, continued today its efforts to gain control of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad.

The stockholders, by a vote of 4,597,540 to 109,371, favored a stock-transfer offer made to B&O stockholders by the Central.

The Chesapeake & Ohio Railway also is attempting to gain control of the B&O.

About 200 stockholders were present at the special meeting Tuesday when the vote was taken.

Alfred Perlman, Central president, warned that the C&O's efforts must be blocked if the Central is not to suffer. He termed the Central's offer a defensive maneuver and said his road wanted a three-way merger with the B&O and C&O.

The C&O repeatedly has turned down this proposal.

Perlman said such a merger would be in the public interest because the C&P, Central and B&O have vast amounts of common service and trackage and a merger would establish a sound transportation system in the east.

Overheated Furnace Causes Westfield Fire

An overheated furnace set fire to the floor above it at the home of Ralph Shaw of Simmons St., Westfield, at 1:30 a. m. today, according to the Glenmoor volunteer fire department.

Chief Robert Jones said about $150 damage resulted. Eighteen men responded to the call.

Jones said anyone wanting ambulance service should call the department's emergency fire number and not the private number of individual firemen.

Judges Rap Low Pay

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — South Korean judges complained today they can't live decently on less than $100 a month. Fifty judges decided at a meeting today to petition the chief justice for drastic pay scale revisions that will guarantee them at least $160 or 190,000 hwan a month. Starting pay for a judge is now 45,000 hwan, or about $80.

Quality Termed 'Excellent'

Hancock Apple Harvest Nears 250,000 Bushels

Hancock County's apple crop this season may exceed 250,000 bushels and the size and quality of the fruit is excellent, according to Oliver Johnson, agricultural agent.

Already harvested and on the way to markets are the Golden, Red Delicious, Jonathan and blushed Cortlands. The Rome Beauties, Staymen, and Willow Twig are coloring and most will be picked later this month.

"Apples have to be handled like eggs when they are first picked," Johnson commented. "The skin is tender and they bruise very easily. After they have been picked for awhile, the skin toughens and they can stand handling much better."

"Just because an apple is red does not mean it's ripe or of good quality," the agricultural agent said. "Its chief value is sales appeal. There was a time when apples sold by grades such as U.S. No. 1, and the size, such as 2¼ inches and up. Now the apples that draw the premium must be U. S. No. 1 fancy or extra-fancy. The fancy term applies only to color," Johnson continued.

"ACTUALLY, the color has nothing to do with the flavor or the nutrition value of the apple. If an apple is naturally all red such as some of our new color selections of Red Delicious, Jonathans and Romes, it is necessary to look further to see if the fruit is mature and ready to eat."

"The maturity of fruit that is not solid in color can be determined by the background color. If it is green, it is not ripe. If it has turned neutral or yellowish, it may be mature. For all the red sports, we have to look inside the apple," Johnson added.

"The real test is to cut one open. If the apple flesh has lost its green cast and the bitter taste, it can be considered mature. Of course, some prefer their apples juicy, and others mellow. These are different stages of ripeness."

"SOME SAY if the seed is black or the fruit comes off the tree easily, it is ripe," he said. "That can mean they are ready to pick, but not necessarily ripe enough to eat. For example, some Rome Beauties and Staymen Winesap have black seeds now, but certainly are not ripe enough to eat."

Most commercial orchardmen use what they call "stop-drop" sprays on their quality fruit, Johnson said. This is a hormone that causes the fruit to hang on the tree a week or 10 days longer to permit the apple to color more and also continue to increase in size.

"The apple is our most abundant fruit," Johnson declared. "There are enough different kinds to give variety and flavor and to meet the needs of the sauce and apple pie makers and the bakers. The cider pressers like a combination of the sweet, sub-acid and acid varieties.

"The red and golden delicious are excellent for desserts and salads. The Cortland and McIntosh, Staymen and Rome Beauties can be used for nearly all purposes. The Willows and York Imperials are favorites of the sauce makers," Johnson said.

WEST VIRGINIA has its share of apple tradition. The Grimes Golden was found as a chance seedling in Brooke County, believed planted by Johnny Appleseed about 1800. The Golden Delicious was found in Clay County about 1912. Johnson has a piece of the wood from the original tree, which died about two years ago.

"Don't forget its apple cider time," Johnson reminded county residents. "As a special treat, apple cobbler and apple butter will go over big with the family," he added.

Rogers District Man Cited After Collision

James Ady, 68, of Rogers R. D. 1 was cited by the State Highway Patrol at Lisbon Tuesday after his car collided with another auto on Route 154 about 3 miles east of Rogers.

Ady, headed west, attempted to pass an auto operated by William Weikart, 31, of Washingtonville who, also driving west, made a left turn into a private drive. Damage was minor. Ady was charged with speeding in excess of road conditions.

3 Democrats Seek Senate Presidency

CHARLESTON (AP) — The State Senate could count among its big Democratic majority today three avowed candidates for its presidency when the 55th Legislature organizes next Jan. 11. Two, however, have to win re-election this year.

One, Sen. Ward Wylie, D-Wyoming, is the 32-member chamber's oldest current member in point of service. Another, Sen. Howard W. Carson, D-Fayette, is seeking re-election Nov. 8 to only his second four-year term.

In between, service-wise, is Majority Leader Clarence E. Martin Jr., D-Berkeley, now in the middle of his third term and the only one of the candidates for president who does not stand for re-election this year.

Whoever wins will succeed the man — Sen. Ralph J. Bean, D-Hardy — who has held the office longer than anyone else. Bean has headed the Senate continuously since 1953, but did not seek renomination this year. Like Martin, he is from the state's 16th district.

Some other names have been mentioned, including Sen. C. H. McKown, D - Wayne, who unsuccessfully sought the presidency in 1955; and Sen. J. Hornor Davis II, D-Kanawha, veteran of 14 years in the House before winning election to the Senate in 1958.

Those two, however, have disclaimed any presidential ambitions — at least for the moment. McDown explained with a grin that "right now, I'm running for re-election from the 5th District on Nov. 8." His opponent — Wiley Perdue of Ceredo.

Masons Present 50-Year Awards

The presentation of 50-year pins to 2 members highlighted a meeting of Wellsville Chapter 55, Royal Arch Masons, Tuesday night at the Masonic Temple.

Honored for "faithful service" were Leslie J. Michaels, 548 Main St., and John Madden of St. Petersburg, Fla., a former Wellsville resident.

They were presented the pins by O. Earl Greenawalt of East Liverpool, past district deputy grand high priest, who represented the Grand Chapter of Ohio.

Michaels is a retired railroader and florist. Madden, who was present for the ceremony, owned a service station and gasoline and oil distributing business when he resided in Wellsville.

W. Galen Lewis, high priest, presided for business. Lewis and Keith McKinney of East Liverpool are attending the Grand Chapter meeting at Columbus this week. They left today.

Industry Air Officer Transferred To Texas

John Robert Zawoysky, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nick Chuldenko of Industry Heights, has been transferred for further training to Amarillo, Tex.

He was commissioned a second lieutenant Sept. 20 at Officers Training School at Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Tex.

His wife is the former Anne Watkins, daughter of Mrs. Ralph Watkins of Chester and the late Dr. Watkins.

The mountain-top town of Safad in Israel was settled in the Middle Ages by a group of religious mystics, the Cabalists. The town today still has a large community of orthodox-Jewish mystics.

In Sharp Attack

Kennedy Assails Nixon On Jobless Situation

By ARTHUR EDSON

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy, in one of his sharpest attacks so far, said today a million workers have lost their jobs because of policies backed by Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

"Republican unemployment," Kennedy called it.

The Democratic presidential nominee chose this section, which has been hit hard by closing factories, to lash out at GOP economic views—and at Nixon.

In his prepared speech, Kennedy claimed Nixon has said, "You never had it so good," after traveling through distressed areas.

"I say Mr. Nixon has looked, but he has not seen. He has heard, but he has not listened," Kennedy said.

"When it comes to our economy, he sees no evil, hears no evil, speaks no evil."

Even though it has but 13 electoral votes, Indiana has become a political battlefield this year.

Nixon has been here three times. Henry Cabot Lodge, his running mate, has been here once. Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, the Democratic vice-presidential nominee, has also paid one visit.

This is Kennedy's first trip, but he gave Indiana the full treatment. His schedule called for speeches in Anderson, Muncie, Terre Haute and here before leaving for Louisville and a speech there tonight.

Nor is this all. Kennedy will be back in Indiana later this month.

Kennedy, by the way, concedes he's running behind Nixon in this state.

"But in the last three weeks," he said in Indianapolis Tuesday night, "I feel the tide has somewhat moved in our direction."

2 New Members Enroll In Chessmen's Group

Two new members were accepted at a meeting of the Fraternal Order of Chessmen Tuesday at the home of Clarence Wilson, president, of Newell.

The new members are Glenn Earich of East Liverpool and Dave Orr of Chester.

Chess followed business.

The next meeting will be Nov. 1 at Wilson's home, 407-A Harrison St. The Board of Directors will meet Oct. 18.

Out Of The Air

By JOHN CROSBY

High-Water Mark For Television

Fred Astaire said this year's show would be his best, and I think that it was. It's pretty hard to top the very first of the Fred Astaire shows because it was — well, the first. It had impact, freshness, originality. Everything afterward would have to lose a bit. But, in the face of all that, this show grabbed you by the throat right at the outset and it never let go. Not only did it set a new high mark for television, but it set a new high mark for anything else.

John Crosby

Where else — on stage or screen or night clubs or anywhere else — would you see a song number as witty, as stylish, as engagingly exuberant, impishly alive as "Miss Otis Regrets"?

There hasn't been anything that mixed melody, civilized lyric, charm, style and grace like that on Broadway since the far-off days of "The Bandwagon" (which starred Mr. Astaire) or "As Thousands Cheer."

THEN THERE was that number in which the Fred Astaire dancers spoofed their own versatility—doing Russian, Spanish, gypsy, Calypso and what-have-you dances. It was a sort of roundelay of the dance and I don't think I ever saw anything like it.

Now that the ice has been broken, I imagine a lot of choreographers will do it again.

Again, Mr. Astaire was teamd with Barrie Chase who has improved greatly as a dancer. The body always something to be reckoned with but the skill with which she uses it has advanced mightily.

This time instead of Jonah Jones, Mr. Astaire gave us Count Basie's marvelous band. Basie and Astaire did "Sweet Georgia Brown" together with a delicacy and lightness, fresh as spring water.

Always Astaire presents a blues ballad played and sung — but this one, I thought, was just better than the previous one. More complex both choreographically, melodically and storywise, more finished, more complete, more emotionally satisfying.

THE GREAT THING about the Astaire shows — all of them — is that they make no apologies and no stoopings to popular tastes. Mr. Astaire does the best he can which is very good indeed (and sometimes just about perfection) and the public digs it all right.

Whenever you find a performer worried about the limits of popular taste, you safely may set it down that he's really worried about the limits of his own talent.

The other great things about these shows is that they are pure television. You won't find them anywhere else, and you won't find anything this good anywhere else.

"WITNESS" (Thursday, CBS-TV 7:30-8:30), the new David Susskind show, is certainly the most interesting and original idea that has come along in some time.

This is a taped show that is "a simulated hearing" of a "simulated committee," not a courtroom, not a trial.

The principals include some of the most controversial figures of our time. The first, for example, was devoted to Charles (Lucky) Luciano and it's as if a Kefauver committee called him to query him about his whole life.

This is a very interesting life. The show had strong elements of the confessions of Zsa Zsa Gabor, "Confidential" and the old Kefauver hearings and I found it fascinating. What the show lacked, I felt, was some sort of clear central motivation.

What did this simulated committee want to know all this for?

Also, the show — perhaps understandably — lacks form. The procedure gets a little chaotic.

JUST THE SAME, as a sort of televised profile, sure strokes, you got quite a portrait of Mr. Lucky.

The story about Luciano's rubbing out 30 gangsters scattered in cities all over the country in the same night was news to me. The conclusions, announced with some fanfare, that the hearings had proved Luciano headed the Mafia was malarkey. It proved no such thing.

Telly Savalas was a tough and convincing and rather loathsome Luciano. The four committee members, all real lawyers who will continue week after week, are Charles Haydon, William F. X. Geoghan Jr., Benedict Ginsberg and Richard Steel, and they were all impressive.

(Lawyers certainly are infiltrating television what with "Verdict Is Yours" and all those courtroom things. Harvard law school will have to add a course on makeup pretty soon.)

Coming up soon are "hearings" on such interesting people as James J. Walker, Bill Fallon, Huey Long (this week) and many others.

Auxiliary At Glenmoor To Be Formed Tonight

An auxiliary to Glenmoor American Legion Post 736 will be officially set up at a ceremony tonight at 8 at the post home.

The post, at a meeting Tuesday night, voted to present the auxiliary with a preamble. Mrs. Dorothy McKelvy of Scio, 10th District auxiliary president, will install the auxiliary officers.

Ronald Hopper, commander, presided at last night's session. Thomas Taylor of Glenmoor was reinstated as a new member.

It was announced a work party will meet Sunday at 10 a. m. to complete a basement meeting room at the post.

Robert Buckley served lunch. The next meeting will be Oct. 18.

Would Abandon Line

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Big Four division of the New York Central Railroad wants authority to abandon about 20 miles of line linking Ostrander and Mechanicsburg, Ohio. In asking the Interstate Commerce Commission Tuesday for the authority, the railroad said the line handles too little business to warrant continuance.

NYC Continues Efforts To Gain Control Of B&O

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—The New York Central Railroad, with the overwhelming backing of its stockholders, continued today its efforts to gain control of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad.

The stockholders, by a vote of 4,597,540 to 109,371, favored a stock-transfer offer made to B&O stockholders by the Central.

The Chesapeake & Ohio Railway also is attempting to gain control of the B&O.

About 200 stockholders were present at the special meeting Tuesday when the vote was taken.

Alfred Perlman, Central president, warned that the C&O's efforts must be blocked if the Central is not to suffer. He termed the Central's offer a defensive maneuver and said his road wanted a three-way merger with the B&O and C&O.

The C&O repeatedly has turned down this proposal.

Perlman said such a merger would be in the public interest because the C&P, Central and B&O have vast amounts of common service and trackage and a merger would establish a sound transportation system in the east.

Overheated Furnace Causes Westfield Fire

An overheated furnace set fire to the floor above it at the home of Ralph Shaw of Simmons St., Westfield, at 1:30 a. m. today, according to the Glenmoor volunteer fire department.

Chief Robert Jones said about $150 damage resulted. Eighteen men responded to the call.

Jones said anyone wanting ambulance service should call the department's emergency fire number and not the private number of individual firemen.

Judges Rap Low Pay

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — South Korean judges complained today they can't live decently on less than $100 a month. Fifty judges decided at a meeting today to petition the chief justice for drastic pay scale revisions that will guarantee them at least $160 or 190,000 hwan a month. Starting pay for a judge is now 45,000 hwan, or about $50.

Quality Termed 'Excellent'

Hancock Apple Harvest Nears 250,000 Bushels

Hancock County's apple crop this season may exceed 250,000 bushels and the size and quality of the fruit is excellent, according to Oliver Johnson, agricultural agent.

Already harvested and on the way to markets are the Golden, Red Delicious, Jonathan and blushed Cortlands. The Rome Beauties, Staymen, and Willow Twig are coloring and most will be picked later this month.

"Apples have to be handled like eggs when they are first picked," Johnson commented. "The skin is tender and they bruise very easily. After they have been picked for awhile, the skin toughens and they can stand handling much better."

"Just because an apple is red does not mean it's ripe or of good quality," the agricultural agent said. "Its chief value is sales appeal. There was a time when apples sold by grades such as U.S. No. 1, and the size, such as 2¼ inches and up. Now the apples that draw the premium must be U. S. No. 1 fancy or extra-fancy. The fancy term applies only to color," Johnson continued.

"ACTUALLY, the color has nothing to do with the flavor or the nutrition value of the apple. If an apple is naturally all red such as some of our new color selections of Red Delicious, Jonathans and Romes, it is necessary to look further to see if the fruit is mature and ready to eat."

"The maturity of fruit that is not solid in color can be determined by the background color. If it is green, it is not ripe. If it has turned neutral or yellowish, it may be mature. For all the red sports, we have to look inside the apple," Johnson added.

"The real test is to cut one open. If the apple flesh has lost its green cast and the bitter taste, it can be considered mature. Of course, some prefer their apples juicy, and others mellow. These are different stages of ripeness."

"SOME SAY if the seed is black or the fruit comes off the tree easily, it is ripe," he said. "That can mean they are ready to pick, but not necessarily ripe enough to eat. For example, some Rome Beauties and Staymen Winesap have black seeds now, but certainly are not ripe enough to eat."

Most commercial orchardmen use what they call "stop-drop" sprays on their quality fruit, Johnson said. This is a hormone that causes the fruit to hang on the tree a week or 10 days longer to permit the apple to color more and also continue to increase in size.

"The apple is our most abundant fruit," Johnson declared. "There are enough different kinds to give variety and flavor and to meet the needs of the sauce and apple pie makers and the bakers. The cider pressers like a combination of the sweet, sub-acid and acid varieties.

"The red and golden delicious are excellent for desserts and salads. The Cortland and McIntosh, Staymen and Rome Beauties can be used for nearly all purposes. The Willows and York Imperials are favorites of the sauce makers," Johnson said.

WEST VIRGINIA has its share of apple tradition. The Grimes Golden was found as a chance seedling in Brooke County, believed planted by Johnny Appleseed about 1800. The Golden Delicious was found in Clay County about 1912. Johnson has a piece of the wood from the original tree, which died about two years ago.

"Don't forget its apple cider time," Johnson reminded county residents. "As a special treat, apple cobbler and apple butter will go over big with the family," he added.

Rogers District Man Cited After Collision

James Ady, 62, of Rogers R. D. 1 was cited by the State Highway Patrol at Lisbon Tuesday after his car collided with another auto on Route 154 about 3 miles east of Rogers.

Ady, headed west, attempted to pass an auto operated by William Weikart, 31, of Washingtonville who, also driving west, made a left turn into a private drive. Damage was minor. Ady was charged with speeding in excess of road conditions.

3 Democrats Seek Senate Presidency

CHARLESTON (AP) — The State Senate could count among its big Democratic majority today three avowed candidates for its presidency when the 55th Legislature organizes next Jan. 11. Two, however, have to win re-election this year.

One, Sen. Ward Wylie, D-Wyoming, is the 32-member chamber's oldest current member in point of service. Another, Sen. Howard W. Carson, D-Fayette, is seeking re-election Nov. 8 to only his second four-year term.

In between, service-wise, is Majority Leader Clarence E. Martin Jr., D-Berkeley, now in the middle of his third term and the only one of the candidates for president who does not stand for re-election this year.

Whoever wins will succeed the man — Sen. Ralph J. Bean, D-Hardy — who has held the office longer than anyone else. Bean has headed the Senate continuously since 1953, but did not seek renomination this year. Like Martin, he is from the state's 16th district.

Some other names have been mentioned, including Sen. C. H. McKown, D - Wayne, who unsuccessfully sought the presidency in 1955; and Sen. J. Hornor Davis II, D-Kanawha, veteran of 14 years in the House before winning election to the Senate in 1958.

Those two, however, have disclaimed any presidential ambitions — at least for the moment. McDown explained with a grin that "right now, I'm running for re-election from the 5th District on Nov. 8." His opponent — Wiley Perdue of Ceredo.

Masons Present 50-Year Awards

The presentation of 50-year pins to 2 members highlighted a meeting of Wellsville Chapter 55, Royal Arch Masons, Tuesday night at the Masonic Temple.

Honored for "faithful service" were Leslie J. Michaels, 548 Main St., and John Madden of St. Petersburg, Fla., a former Wellsville resident.

They were presented the pins by O. Earl Greenawalt of East Liverpool, past district deputy grand high priest, who represented the Grand Chapter of Ohio.

Michaels is a retired railroader and florist. Madden, who was present for the ceremony, owned a service station and gasoline and oil distributing business when he resided in Wellsville.

W. Galen Lewis, high priest, presided for business. Lewis and Keith McKinney of East Liverpool are attending the Grand Chapter meeting at Columbus this week. They left today.

In Sharp Attack

Kennedy Assails Nixon On Jobless Situation

By ARTHUR EDSON

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy, in one of his sharpest attacks so far, said today a million workers have lost their jobs because of policies backed by Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

"Republican unemployment," Kennedy called it.

The Democratic presidential nominee chose this section, which has been hit hard by closing factories, to lash out at GOP economic views—and at Nixon.

In his prepared speech, Kennedy claimed Nixon has said, "You never had it so good," after traveling through distressed areas.

"I say Mr. Nixon has looked, but he has not seen. He has heard, but he has not listened," Kennedy said.

"When it comes to our economy, he sees no evil, hears no evil, speaks no evil."

Even though it has but 13 electoral votes, Indiana has become a political battlefield this year.

Nixon has been here three times. Henry Cabot Lodge, his running mate, has been here once. Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, the Democratic vice-presidential nominee, has also paid one visit.

This is Kennedy's first trip, but he gave Indiana the full treatment. His schedule called for speeches in Anderson, Muncie, Terre Haute and here before leaving for Louisville and a speech there tonight.

Nor is this all. Kennedy will be back in Indiana later this month.

Kennedy, by the way, concedes he's running behind Nixon in this state.

"But in the last three weeks," he said in Indianapolis Tuesday night, "I feel the tide has somewhat moved in our direction."

The program was highlighted by a talk on "Discipline, a Way of Life," by Mrs. Gertrude Hendricks, director of family life educational programs for the Youngstown Board of Education.

She was introduced by Mrs. Bernice Arter, program chairman. Mrs. Lindesmith pointed out that "it is the hope that many more parents will send in their membership dues to help make their child's room have 100 per cent membership before the next meeting Oct. 10."

The program will be a panel discussion on the topic of "United Guidance."

Want City Manager

LEBANON, Ohio (AP) — Lebanon voters want a city manager-council form of government when the village becomes a city. In a special election Tuesday, they voted for that form, 654-280. The present village mayor-council form will continue through 1961.

Comet To Retain Its Basic Styling

The Comet will retain its basic styling for 1961 and will offer a higher performance optional engine, Ben D. Mills, Ford Motor Co. vice president and general manager of the Lincoln-Mercury Division, has announced.

The new model will go on display Thursday at Arb Motor Sales, 1340 Pennsylvania Ave.

The Comet's styling, economy, quality and riding features have been firmly established with the public," Mills said. "To meet the demand, we are planning to produce more Comets for 1961 and will assemble the new models at plants in San Jose, California; Kansas City, Missouri; and Lorain, Ohio. The Comet was assembled only at the Lorain plant when it was introduced six months ago."

Mills also pointed out that Comet prices will remain competitive with the lower - priced compacts.

Two engines will be available for the 1961 car. The standard 85-horsepower economy engine, "offering excellent gasoline mileage," will be continued. In addition, a 101-horsepower engine will be offered in the new model Comet for the first time at a modest extra cost. The new engine has a displacement of 170 cubic inches and develops its maximum torque, 156 foot-pounds, at 2400 rpm.

The Comet continues with four models: a two-door sedan, four-door sedan, two-door station wagon and four-door station wagon. All are available with either the standard or optional engine and with manual or automatic transmission.

Main styling changes include a new aluminum grille, new fender ornamentation, and new standard and optional trim fabrics. Standard fabrics offer more color harmony with exterior colors, and there is greater variety in the optional fabrics.

Basically, the Comet retains the successful sheet metal treatment of the 1960 model: the styling balance of a larger car, luxury line roof, canted taillights, and ample luggage space.

Agree On Contract

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Electrical Workers Union and General Electric Co. have come to terms on a new contract covering 285 union members at a GE distribution department center in Norwood. But 42 union members are still on strike at a GE appliance service shop in downtown Cincinnati. The distribution workers assented to the new contract Tuesday and a company spokesman said its terms were similar to three-year agreements completed last week with the United Auto Workers and the machinists union.

Tried To Derail Trains

CINCINNATI (AP)—Police said a freight train flicked aside two wooden ties on Baltimore & Ohio tracks in nearby Woodlawn Tuesday, about 200 feet from the spot where a youth, age 18, tried twice to derail trains. Police questioned a cousin of the youth.

In addition, a 101-horsepower engine will be offered in the new model Comet for the first time at a modest extra cost. The new engine has a displacement of 170 cubic inches and develops its maximum torque, 156 foot-pounds, at 2400 rpm.

The Comet continues with four models: a two-door sedan, four-door sedan, two-door station wagon and four-door station wagon. All are available with either the standard or optional engine and with manual or automatic transmission.

Main styling changes include a new aluminum grille, new fender ornamentation, and new standard and optional trim fabrics. Standard fabrics offer more color harmony with exterior colors, and there is greater variety in the optional fabrics.

Basically, the Comet retains the successful sheet metal treatment of the 1960 model: the styling balance of a larger car, luxury line roof, canted taillights, and ample luggage space.

Agree On Contract

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Electrical Workers Union and General Electric Co. have come to terms on a new contract covering 285 union members at a GE distribution department center in Norwood. But 42 union members are still on strike at a GE appliance service shop in downtown Cincinnati. The distribution workers assented to the new contract Tuesday and a company spokesman said its terms were similar to three-year agreements completed last week with the United Auto Workers and the machinists union.

Tried To Derail Trains

CINCINNATI (AP)—Police said a freight train flicked aside two wooden ties on Baltimore & Ohio tracks in nearby Woodlawn Tuesday, about 200 feet from the spot where a youth, age 18, tried twice to derail trains. Police questioned a cousin of the youth.

Second Quarter About Even

Summer Quarter Profits 7% Behind Figures Of '59

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Early reports show profits for the summer quarter running seven per cent behind year ago figures. But the total holds fairly close to that in the second quarter, and the number of companies running ahead of last year is about the same as those falling behind.

The director of the U.S. Budget still thinks that total corporate earnings for 1960 will equal record breaking 1959 but not surpass it, as was rosily predicted at the start of the year.

Prospects for the just-started fourth quarter are for at least an even break with the final three months of last year. The gloomy note in that prediction is that last year saw three-quarter profits clipped in the steel and allied industries by metal workers' strikes and profits of other industries hurt in the fourth quarter by strike-caused shortages.

So just an even break this year isn't too comforting.

A bright spot in current earnings reports is furnished by the banks. The majority show earnings as good or at least even with last year's summer quarter and ahead for the first nine months as a whole by anywhere from 5 to 27 per cent.

Higher interest rates than last year helped the banks in the first part of this year. But the last three months show the results of a drop in total demand for loans, plus the cut Aug. 22 to 4½ from 5 per cent in the basic interest charge for business loans.

Cash dividends also have stayed ahead of last year despite the noticeable squeeze on profits.

For the first eight months of this year the total is $7.8 billion, six per cent better than the previous year. The trend may last through the final three months of the year since many corporations hold dividend rates in spite of profit slips.

The current profit squeeze worries not only management and stockholders but also the U. S. Treasury.

It had counted on corporate income taxes bringing in $23.5 billion when the budget was drawn in January. But now the budget director says $21.5 billion is a likelier figure, with higher spending cutting any Treasury surplus by even more than that drop indicates.

Assault Count Dropped Against Chief Prober

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — Municipal Judge J. T. Lamb Tuesday dismissed assault and battery charges against John Rowe, chief investigator in the Cincinnati office of the state liquor department, because of lack of evidence.

Donald Caron, 25, of Batavia, filed the charge against Rowe as the result of an altercation in a cafe here on Aug. 13 while Rowe was conducting an investigation.

Caron claimed Rowe struck him in the face but Rowe said he only placed his hand on the man's arm when Caron used abusive language.

A charge of interfering with an agent in making a search, which was filed against Caron, also has been dismissed.

Extension Of Mail Delivery Made In North Side Areas

Mounted city mail delivery service has been extended to a North Side area effective immediately, Postmaster Samuel W. Brown announced today.

Brown said the service by mounted carrier 21 (MC 21) has been extended to the 1200 block of Lincoln Ave., Hill St., Oliver St. and Orchard Grove Ave. Ext.

He explained patrons who plan to use the service must file a change of address with the Post Office to avoid delay in mail delivery.

Boxes must be erected at the curb line and the patron's name, house number and street must be painted on the box before service can be started, the postmaster continued.

Nearby residents not in the line of the carrier's travel can erect boxes on the route he follows to receive their mail, Brown added.

More than 4,000 different makes of automobiles have appeared in the markets of the world since the invention of the internal combustion engine.

74 Ohio Polio Cases

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Four new cases of polio last week have boosted Ohio's total for the year to 74. The Ohio health department said Tuesday the four cases were reported from Cuyahoga, Mahoning, Richland and Hancock Counties. The department said only the victim in Hancock County had received a polio shot. The state had twice as many cases at this time last year.

38,000 To See World Series Opener Today At Forbes Field

VERNON LAW, Pittsburgh's 20-game winner, will attempt to give the Pirates a one-game edge as he opens the 1960 World Series today at Forbes Field. (UPI Telephoto)

Condition Of Law, Groat Is Big '?'

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Despite outward optimism, the Pittsburgh Pirates went into the World Series against the New York Yankees today secretly worried about the condition of two key performers—starting pitcher Vernon Law and shortstop Dick Groat.

Law, the Pirates' 20-game winner, has not fully recovered from an ankle injury suffered 10 days ago.

The right-handed ace, 30, said frankly, "It feels better, but it's not 100 per cent yet." He still has some difficulty sliding his foot off the rubber when throwing a curve ball, his best pitch.

Even Danny Murtaugh, Pirate manager, admits Groat's left wrist, fractured a month ago, is "not 100 per cent." The Buc captain and sparkplug still has soreness in his forearm muscles. He still flinches when missing a swing or catching a hard throw in the pocket of his glove.

The Yankees, in sharp contrast, faced the opener before a sellout crowd of some 38,000 in full strength except for a minor nuisance. A head cold is plaguing first baseman Bill (Moose Skowron.

Right-hander Art Ditmar, Casey Stengel's choice to oppose Law, is fit and ready. The 15-game winner worked last Friday against the Boston Red Sox. Law also worked last Friday. Handicapped by the ankle sprain, he was pummeled for 10 hits and eight runs in less than three innings by the Milwaukee Braves.

The odds-makers made the Yankees a 13 to 10 choice to gain their 19th victory in 25 World Series and their eighth in 10 under Stengel. Today's game was rated even money.

The Yankees are hot, the Pirates are lukewarm. Stengel's champions streaked into Forbes Field by sweeping their last 15 games. The Pirates came back nicely after coasting into the pennant, defeating Milwaukee in the final two games of the regular season.

No matter what happens in the opener, Murtaugh planned to pitch Bob Friend (18-12) in Thursday's second game here and follow with Vinegar Bend Mizell, his 14-game winning left-hander, in the third game, on Saturday at Yankee Stadium. Harvey Haddix, another southpaw, is his tentative fourth game choice.

Stengel, who waited until Monday to announce Ditmar as his opening game pitcher, declined to go any further, but it is believed right-hander Bob Turley (9-3) will pitch the second game. That would leave the third game to lefty Whitey Ford.

Wanted-Managers; Shuffle Underway

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Casey Stengel probably will remain as manager of the New York Yankees, and Ralph Houk, widely considered Stengel's successor, probably will become the manager of the Detroit Tigers.

This managerial turnabout shaped up today in the wake of the firing of Manager Bob Elliott by Kansas City, Lou Boudreau's resignation at Chicago and Joe Gordon's walkout at Detroit.

Other reports circulating at World Series headquarters were:

1. Gordon will manage the Athletics. (This is close to being a fact).

2. Bob Scheffing, just re-signed as a Milwaukee Braves' coach, has the inside track to succeed Tom Sheehan as manager of the San Francisco Giants. (The only thing positive is that Sheehan will not return in 1961.)

3. Bill Rigney, replaced by Sheehan as Giant manager last May, is a leading candidate for the managing job with the Chicago Cubs. (Fact: Rigney has applied for the Detroit job).

Gordon, who quit the Tigers suddenly Monday, was to confer with Kansas City General Manager Parke Carroll today. A Kansas City spokesman said, "Unless Joe asks for the moon, he's got the job. It will be a 2-year contract.

Houk, regarded in New York as heir apparent to Stengel's throne when the 70-year-old wizard of the dugouts quits, apparently has given up hope of ever succeeding the old man.

"I'm receptive to a good offer," he said. "I'm getting older and I can't afford to let too many more years slip by."

A year ago, Houk, 41, rejected a bid to manage the Athletics, preferring to remain with the Yankees as a coach.

Houk's decision to consider employment elsewhere was taken as a sign that Stengel would remain with the Yankees.

"I think Casey will stay," said a top New York official, "at least I hope he does. Two months ago, I would have bet anything he would quit. I have changed my mind."

Ump Selects Yanks Again For Crown

By The Associated Press

PITTSBURGH (AP)—"No Irish family ever is small," a guy said to Pittsburgh Manager Danny Murtaugh. "So how many tickets did you have to get for relatives?"

"I'd hate to count 'em up," said Danny. "But the toughest part about it is that they all think I get 'em free!"

A major league umpire broke tradition and unwritten law today and made a pick on the outcome of the Series.

Everything was within bounds, however. The ump was a no-longer ump, Beans Reardon.

His pick? "The Yankees — unless Vern Law can pitch a big series for the Pirates."

An Air Force man who came 4,000 miles to see Pittsburgh play was in the opening day crowd today.

He was Buc Manager Danny Murtaugh's cousin, who is stationed in Spain.

"He told me his commanding officer said he could get a leave if I could get him tickets," said Danny. "I said yes, and so did the CO."

Spokesman for both presidential candidates said it was unlikely either would be able to attend a Series game here.

Democrat John Kennedy might make it, however, since he has a political date here during the Series. But the best an aide for Republican Richard Nixon could offer was "maybe next year."

Officials at the University of Pittsburgh received an interoffice memo today concerning the Series:

"In order to maintain proper safety for personnel during the World Series, it is requested that no university personnel be permitted on the roofs of the Cathedral of Learning, or any other university building, to watch the World Series games."

The cathedral, which is across the street from Forbes Field is 42 stories high.

Wellsville Mayor Gets In World Series Line

Everybody seems to have a touch of World Series fever and Mayor William J. Shoub of Wellsville is no exception.

The mayor, a Pittsburgh Pirate fan, left early this morning to get in line for standing room tickets at Forbes Field.

Although the tickets didn't go on sale until about noon, Shoub said he expected to be in line by no later than 8 a. m. Shoub said he would be accompanied by a "large thermos of coffee."

Forecaster Picks Illini Over Ohio State Eleven

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The brand new crystal ball, complete with radar and other electronics devices, could correctly forecast Iowa's upset of Northwestern last week and could perceive other trouble spots for the favorites, but it was far from perfect.

The weekend's record was 36 correct selections on the college football card and 16 wrong ones for a .694 average. The season's total now is 106-35 for .752.

This week's picks:

Syracuse over Holy Cross: If Harvard could defeat Holy Cross what do you think Ernie Davis and his playmates will do to the Crusaders?

Mississippi over Vanderbilt: The Rebels are getting used to these night games, and are after a strong conference showing to make up for the Memphis State scare.

Michigan State over Iowa: The Hawkeye sophomores have speed, but Michigan State has too many other resources.

Illinois over Ohio State: The Buckeyes haven't been scored on this season but that record goes into the discard. Joe Rutgens sticks out in that Illini line.

Navy over Southern Methodist: They meet in the first bowl game of the season—the Oyster Bowl at Norfolk, Va., Joe Bellino, Navy ace, will serve the Mustangs on the half-shell.

Purdue over Wisconsin: The Boilermakers won't let their runaway victory over Notre Dame spoil them but this time they win by the margin of a single touchdown.

Elsewhere: Arkansas over Baylor; Kansas over Iowa State; Air Force over Missouri; Washington over Stanford; Minnesota over Northwestern; Texas over Oklahoma; Army over Penn State; Florida over Rice.

Wellsville Game Starts On 'Fast' Time Friday

Kickoff time for the Wellsville High - Wheeling Central football game Friday night at Nicholson Stadium will be at 8 o'clock Daylight Saving Time, Don Lowe, faculty manager announced. The school presently is operating on Eastern Standard Time, but the game will start on "fast" time.

Browns Idle Sunday, But Drills Go On

CLEVELAND (AP) — If you imagine that the Cleveland Browns will be taking it easy this week because they have no game this weekend, you don't know their coach very well. The team will work out Wednesday as usual.

Paul Brown is not the kind of coach to ease up just because his club has posted victories over two eastern division clubs that are rated strong contenders—Philadelphia and Pittsburgh.

Cleveland doesn't play again until Oct. 16 at Dallas. It was the Cowboys' entry into the National Football League which resulted in each of the loop's 13 clubs getting an idle weekend on the schedule. Detroit and Washington already have had their byes. Next year when Minnesota's Vikings come into the league, there will be no open weekends.

Coach Brown said he planned "a week of conditioning" and "plenty of running." He said he is "wary of a break in the schedule like this."

"We will continue to build our offense and take on several new plays," Brown added.

With a dozen rookies and seven newcomers on his roster, Brown can put the extra time to good advantage.

Virginia, with a population of about 568,000, had the greatest population at the time the United States was formed.

Houston, Dallas Top AFL In Total Offense

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) —A couple of Texas teams — Houston and Dallas — are leading the American Football League in total offense.

In three games Houston's Oilers piled up 530 yards rushing and 612 passing for an average of 380.7 per game. Dallas has a 345.5 average, picking up 456 yards rushing and 926 passing in four contests.

38,000 To See World Series Opener Today At Forbes Field

VERNON LAW, Pittsburgh's 20-game winner, will attempt to give the Pirates a one-game edge as he opens the 1960 World Series today at Forbes Field. (UPI Telephoto)

Condition Of Law, Groat Is Big '?'

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Despite outward optimism, the Pittsburgh Pirates went into the World Series against the New York Yankees today secretly worried about the condition of two key performers—starting pitcher Vernon Law and shortstop Dick Groat.

Law, the Pirates' 20-game winner, has not fully recovered from an ankle injury suffered 10 days ago.

The right-handed ace, 30, said frankly, "It feels better, but it's not 100 per cent yet." He still has some difficulty sliding his foot off the rubber when throwing a curve ball, his best pitch.

Even Danny Murtaugh, Pirate manager, admits Groat's left wrist, fractured a month ago, is "not 100 per cent." The Buc captain and sparkplug still has soreness in his forearm muscles. He still flinches when missing a swing or catching a hard throw in the pocket of his glove.

The Yankees, in sharp contrast, faced the opener before a sellout crowd of some 38,000 in full strength except for a minor nuisance. A head cold is plaguing first baseman Bill (Moose Skowron.

Right-hander Art Ditmar, Casey Stengel's choice to oppose Law, is fit and ready. The 15-game winner worked last Friday against the Boston Red Sox. Law also worked last Friday. Handicapped by the ankle sprain, he was pummeled for 10 hits and eight runs in less than three innings by the Milwaukee Braves.

The odds-makers made the Yankees a 13 to 10 choice to gain their 19th victory in 25 World Series and their eighth in 10 under Stengel. Today's game was rated even money.

The Yankees are hot, the Pirates are lukewarm. Stengel's champions streaked into Forbes Field by sweeping their last 15 games. The Pirates came back nicely after coasting into the pennant, defeating Milwaukee in the final two games of the regular season.

No matter what happens in the opener, Murtaugh planned to pitch Bob Friend (18-12) in Thursday's second game here and follow with Vinegar Bend Mizell, his 14-game winning left-hander, in the third game, on Saturday at Yankee Stadium. Harvey Haddix, another southpaw, is his tentative fourth game choice.

Stengel, who waited until Monday to announce Ditmar as his opening game pitcher, declined to go any further, but it is believed right-hander Bob Turley (9-3) will pitch the second game. That would leave the third game to lefty Whitey Ford.

Wanted-Managers; Shuffle Underway

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Casey Stengel probably will remain as manager of the New York Yankees, and Ralph Houk, widely considered Stengel's successor, probably will become the manager of the Detroit Tigers.

This managerial turnabout shaped up today in the wake of the firing of Manager Bob Elliott by Kansas City, Lou Boudreau's resignation at Chicago and Joe Gordon's walkout at Detroit.

Other reports circulating at World Series headquarters were:

1. Gordon will manage the Athletics. (This is close to being a fact).

2. Bob Scheffing, just re-signed as a Milwaukee Braves' coach, has the inside track to succeed Tom Sheehan as manager of the San Francisco Giants. (The only thing positive is that Sheehan will not return in 1961.)

3. Bill Rigney, replaced by Sheehan as Giant manager last May, is a leading candidate for the managing job with the Chicago Cubs. (Fact: Rigney has applied for the Detroit job).

Gordon, who quit the Tigers suddenly Monday, was to confer with Kansas City General Manager Parke Carroll today. A Kansas City spokesman said, "Unless Joe asks for the moon, he's got the job. It will be a 2-year contract.

Houk, regarded in New York as heir apparent to Stengel's throne when the 73-year-old wizard of the dugouts quits, apparently has given up hope of ever succeeding the old man.

"I'm receptive to a good offer," he said. "I'm getting older and I can't afford to let too many more years slip by."

A year ago, Houk, 41, rejected a bid to manage the Athletics, preferring to remain with the Yankees as a coach.

Houk's decision to consider employment elsewhere was taken as a sign that Stengel would remain with the Yankees.

"I think Casey will stay," said a top New York official, "at least I hope he does. Two months ago, I would have bet anything he would quit. I have changed my mind."

Ump Selects Yanks Again For Crown

By The Associated Press

PITTSBURGH (AP)—"No Irish family ever is small," a guy said to Pittsburgh Manager Danny Murtaugh. "So how many tickets did you have to get for relatives?"

"I'd hate to count 'em up," said Danny. "But the toughest part about it is that they all think I get 'em free!"

A major league umpire broke tradition and unwritten law today and made a pick on the outcome of the Series.

Everything was within bounds, however. The ump was a no-longer ump, Beans Reardon.

His pick? "The Yankees — unless Vern Law can pitch a big series for the Pirates."

An Air Force man who came 4,000 miles to see Pittsburgh play was in the opening day crowd today.

He was Bus Manager Danny Murtaugh's cousin, who is stationed in Spain.

"He told me his commanding officer said he could get a leave if I could get him tickets," said Danny. "I said yes, and so did the CO."

Spokesman for both presidential candidates said it was unlikely either would be able to attend a Series game here.

Democrat John Kennedy might make it, however, since he has a political date here during the Series. But the best an aide for Republican Richard Nixon could offer was "maybe next year."

Officials at the University of Pittsburgh received an interoffice memo today concerning the Series:

"In order to maintain proper safety for personnel during the World Series, it is requested that no university personnel be permitted on the roofs of the Cathedral of Learning, or any other university building, to watch the World Series games."

The cathedral, which is across the street from Forbes Field is 42 stories high.

Lightweight Champ Chills Torres In 4th

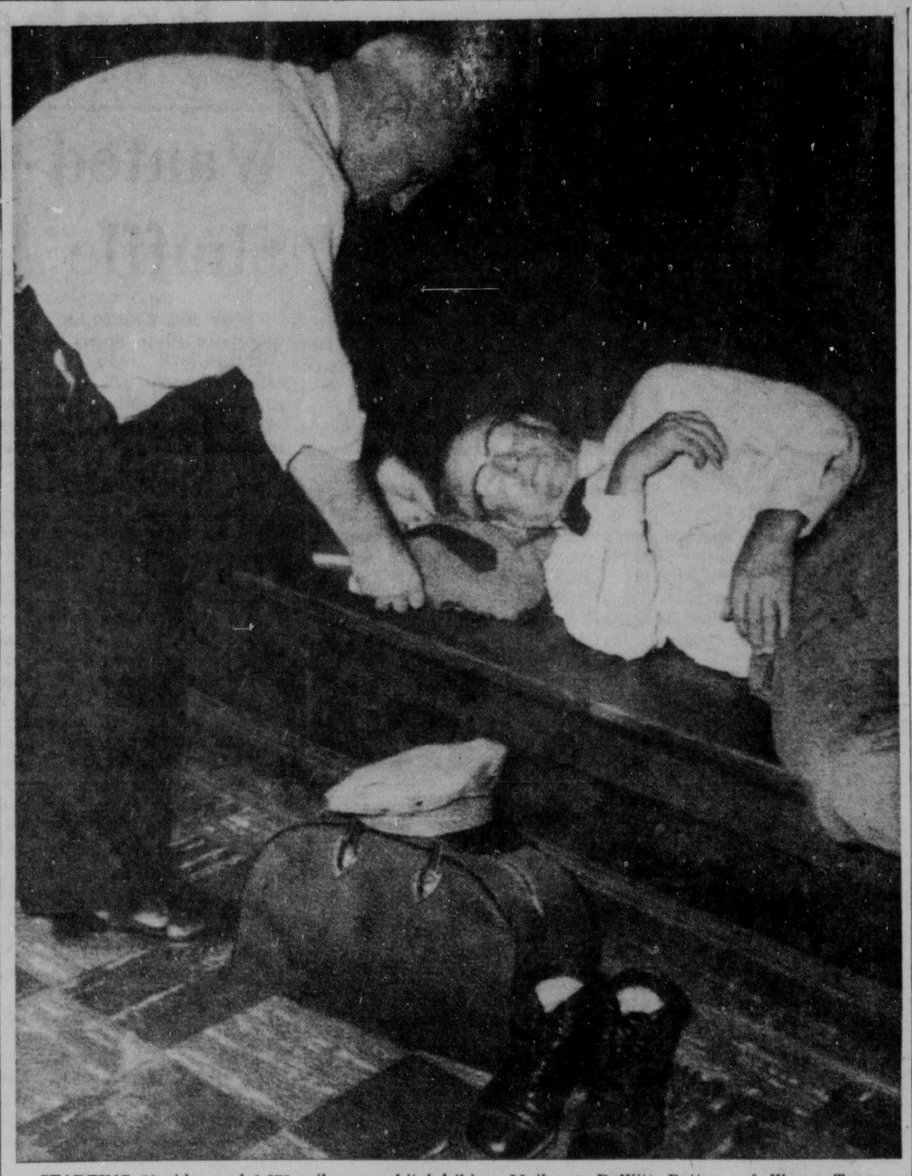
HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Joe Brown, lightweight boxing champion of the world, knocked out sixth-ranked Raymundo (Battling) Torres of Reynosa, Mex., in the fourth round of a 10-round nontitle fight Tuesday night.

Brown weighed 137, Torres 139.

Brown knocked Torres out with a short right cross with 2:24 gone in the fourth.

He dropped Torres for an eight-count with a similar punch in the first round. Brown, 34, was slightly stunned by Torres, 19, in the third round.

The loss was Torres' third in 37 fights. He's won 26 by knockouts.



STARTING 20 rides and 1,375 miles ago, hitch-hiking Mailman DeWitt Bottom of Waco, Texas, awoke this morning on a bench in a Pittsburgh police station. Unable to find lodging in town on the eve of the World Series, (he came to see series,) Mr. Bottom just walked into the nearest police station. DeWitt isn't sure he will be able to get in to see the Series, but he was in line for standing room tickets at 4:30 this morning at Forbes Field. (UPI Telephoto)

Washington State Has Top Receiver

By The Associated Press

Washington State is the passingest team in major college football at this stage of the season and Hugh Campbell is the reason.

Campbell, a 6-1, 183-pound sophomore end, didn't get into the first game at all. But in two games since then, he has hauled in 21 passes for 336 yards and five touchdowns.

Bill Voss of Hardin-Simmons also has caught 21 passes in three games, but has gained only 195 yards and scored once.

Never before since the NCAA Service Bureau has been compiling statistics have two players had as many as 42 catches between them at this stage.

Dave Hoppman of Iowa State continued to lead in total offense and rushing. In three games, Hoppman has gained 551 yards total to 549 for Jim Wright of Memphis State, and has picked up 431 yards on the ground, 40 more than Bob Gaiters of New Mexico State.

Memphis State Star Named Back Of Week

MEMPHIS (AP) — A slender quarterback who would rather be lousy in victory than magnificent in defeat — that's James Earl Wright of Memphis State who was named "back of the week" in the Associated Press poll.

"Not that we don't appreciate the kind words," said Wright, after drawing the national pat on the back. "It is an honor to me and to the team. But wouldn't it have been a blast if we had beat old number one?"

Old number one was mighty Mississippi. Wright led the Memphis State Tigers in an uproarious encounter that nearly did upset Ole Miss, which was atop the AP poll at the time.

Mississippi's difficulty in handling MSU 31-20 helped drop the Rebels to No. 2, behind Syracuse.

Three Deaths Reported In Ohio Hunting

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Three persons—all teenagers—have been accidentally shot and killed while hunting squirrels since the season opened in Ohio Sept. 12, the division of wildlife reports. Two of the fatalities were in wildlife District Six (Southwestern Ohio), the other in District 4 (southeastern Ohio).

Since the year began, there have been six accidental deaths in 25 mishaps, the division said.

The wildlife division says squirrel hunting success in southeastern and eastern Ohio is below pre-season expectations.

Some hunters say the reason is the nut crop is good this year and the squirrels are well-distributed.

Although Ohio may never become a good trout fishing state, the wildlife divisions says, plantings of the fish have been termed fairly successful.

In May Rainbow Trout were stocked in the Mahoning River below Berlin Dam. The trout, in addition to a good rate of survival, also have put on good growth. A census taken by Earl Ressler, Mahoning County game protector, showed a number of trout caught by fishermen which averaged eight inches. One trout grew five inches in 104 days. The census showed most of the trout were taken on worms.

A Burr Oak Lake (Morgan County) fishing contest has been won by a 79-year-old angler, even before the contest is officially over.

John Drumm, former mayor of Somerset, was presented the first prize—an outboard motor—before the contest ended. He caught more than 650 pounds of bluegills, during the contest, and laned more than 2,500 fish, most of them bluegills, during the season. Drumm uses long telescope poles and simple equipment. His most productive bats are meal, catalpa and horse weed worms.

Five eastern and southeastern Ohio counties are slated to receive 3,500 14 - to-17 - week-old Reeves' pheasants during October, the division of wildlife says.

Selected because of the extensive stands of woodland, the five counties are Jefferson, Harrison, Belmont, Monroe and Washington. Half of the 700 birds to be released in each county will go on public lands.

Bass are reported to be hitting hard on the Muskingum River now that the weather has cooled. Clifford Winstanley, Washington County game protector, said that on Sept. 22, he radioed a report that fishermen were making terrific catches of bass at Lake Chute Dam. He estimated that from 400 to 600 bass had been taken in two weeks, most of them on artificial lures. In addition, 40 walleyes were caught.

Nonpareil Club To Purchase Orange Drink For After Game

The Blue and White Nonpareil Club met Tuesday night in the YMCA and approved plans to purchase orange drinks for both the Potters and the opposition after Friday night football games at Patterson Field.

A total of 499 new members have been signed in the 1960 membership campaign being directed by George F. Mueller. The drive fund total has reached $1,415.

Center Gary Montgomery also was cited by Venditti for stellar line play. Venditti said he was "pleased" with the running of Allen Douglas at left halfback, and the Potter coach added Kenny Cunningham, quarterback, played in standout fashion on both offense and defense. The Potters escaped injuries in the Philly battle.

Venditti also reported on Bellaire St. John's (3-1), the Potter opponent this Friday. Movies of the Philly game were screened.

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Greg Mather, Navy end who booted the winning field goal in the Middies' upset 15-14 victory over Washington, was named the lineman of the week today by The Associated Press.

Washington led 14-12 when Mather, a rugged 223-pounder from Woodland Hills, Calif., booted a 31-yard field goal in the last 14 seconds to turn defeat into victory.

Washington State Has Top Receiver

By The Associated Press

Washington State is the passing-est team in major college football at this stage of the season and Hugh Campbell is the reason.

Campbell, a 6-1, 183-pound sophomore end, didn't get into the first game at all. But in two games since then, he has hauled in 21 passes for 336 yards and five touchdowns.

Bill Voss of Hardin-Simmons also has caught 21 passes in three games, but has gained only 195 yards and scored once.

Never before since the NCAA Service Bureau has been compiling statistics have two players had as many as 42 catches between them at this stage.

Dave Heppman of Iowa State continued to lead in total offense and rushing. In three games, Heppman has gained 551 yards total to 549 for Jim Wright of Memphis State, and has picked up 431 yards on the ground, 40 more than Bob Gaiters of New Mexico State.

Memphis State Star Named Back Of Week

MEMPHIS (AP) — A slender quarterback who would rather be lousy in victory than magnificent in defeat — that's James Earl Wright of Memphis State who was named "back of the week" in the Associated Press poll.

"Not that we don't appreciate the kind words," said Wright, after drawing the national pat on the back. "It is an honor to me and to the team. But wouldn't it have been a blast if we had beat old number one?"

Old number one was mighty Mississippi. Wright led the Memphis State Tigers in an uproarious encounter that nearly did upset Ole Miss, which was atop the AP poll at the time.

Mississippi's difficulty in handling MSU 31-20 helped drop the Rebels to No. 2, behind Syracuse.

Three Deaths Reported In Ohio Hunting

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Three persons—all teenagers—have been accidentally shot and killed while hunting squirrels since the season opened in Ohio Sept. 12, the division of wildlife reports. Two of the fatalities were in wildlife District Six (Southwestern Ohio), the other in District 4 (southeastern Ohio).

Since the year began, there have been six accidental deaths in 25 mishaps, the division said.

The wildlife division says squirrel hunting success in southeastern and eastern Ohio is below pre-season expectations.

Some hunters say the reason is the nut crop is good this year and the squirrels are well-distributed.

Although Ohio may never become a good trout fishing state, the wildlife divisions says, plantings of the fish have been termed fairly successful.

In May Rainbow Trout were stocked in the Mahoning River below Berlin Dam. The trout, in addition to a good rate of survival, also have put on good growth. A census taken by Earl Ressler, Mahoning County game protector, showed a number of trout caught by fishermen which averaged eight inches. One trout grew five inches in 104 days. The census showed most of the trout were taken on worms.

A Burr Oak Lake (Morgan County) fishing contest has been won by a 79-year-old angler, even before the contest is officially over.

John Drumm, former mayor of Somerset, was presented the first prize—an outboard motor—before the contest ended. He caught more than 650 pounds of bluegills, during the contest, and laned more than 2,500 fish, most of them bluegills, during the season. Drumm uses long telescope poles and simple equipment. His most productive bats are meal, catalpa and horse weed worms.

Five eastern and southeastern Ohio counties are slated to receive 2,500 14 - to-17 - week-old Reeves' pheasants during October, the division of wildlife says.

Selected because of the extensive stands of woodland, the five counties are Jefferson, Harrison, Belmont, Monroe and Washington. Half of the 700 birds to be released in each county will go on public lands.

Bass are reported to be hitting hard on the Muskingum River now that the weather has cooled. Clifford Winstanley, Washington County game protector, said that on Sept. 22, he radioed a report that fishermen were making terrific catches of bass at Lake Chute Dam. He estimated that from 400 to 600 bass had been taken in two weeks, most of them on artificial lures. In addition, 60 walleyes were caught.

Flyweight Champion Is Fighter Of Month

NEW YORK (AP) — Flyweight champion Pone Kingpetch's second victory over Argentina's Pascual Perez earned the lanky Thai Ring magazine's "fighter of the month" award today.

Pone stopped the former champion in the eighth round of their return title bout at Los Angeles.

The defeat dropped Perez to second contender among the 112-pound set. Spain's Mimum Ben Ali was boosted to No. 1.

Former heavyweight champion Ingemar Johansson was raised to No. 2 contender behind Sonny Liston of Philadelphia with Americans Eddie Machen third and Zora Folley fourth.

FIELD AND STREAM

By R. L. LIDE

It's pretty rough when a resident spends a lot of money building a modern brick home in the suburbs, throws in an additional $1,100 to have the lawn prepared and seeded into top quality grass, then has a skunk come along and dig holes all over the place, with practically all of the grass dying.

Such is the situation that was called to my attention last week by a Salem resident. It looked as if every "duffer" in the county had teed-off on the lawn, with divots scattered here and there.

After looking over the situation, it was easy to see the skunk had been attracted by beetle grubs and many other insects and moles which provide good eating for the little animal. No doubt great damage had occurred before the skunk moved in, as undesirable an associate that he is.

In cases of this kind I would recommend a trip to the nearest chemical sales company for sound advice on how to get rid of the burrowing insects, etc. Once one of the natural foods of a skunk has been removed his digging will end and the skunk will move on. Getting rid of the skunk will not save the lawn, however, since it is full of dead spots that occurred before the skunk took over.

The choice of the property owner is simply this: Should the skunk be left alone and continue to exterminate the pests one at a time or should it be removed and the lawn left to continue to die? Strangely enough the neighbor's lawn is apparently in good shape.

MEMBERS OF the trapping fraternity that like to "sling the steel" should get the latest fur market quotations before they set their traps.

I have been told that o'possum hides will bring from $1 to $2.50 this season, depending on the quality. Also, I have been advised that the market is flooded with muskrat hides and the prices will be down this season.

FISHERMEN at Zepernick Lake are taking home blue-gills by the dozens from 6 to 8 inches in length. Maggots are doing the trick. Bass are also biting on minnows, but not by the dozens.

Two 12-inch bass are not bad for a few hours fishing with the hopes of hooking on to one much bigger.

Lodge Cites Foreign Relation Key Issue

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Qualifications to direct U.S. foreign relations is the major issue of the campaign, Henry Cabot Lodge said Tuesday night.

He said that Richard M. Nixon and he, the Republican presidential and vice-presidential nominees, have the qualifications.

Nixon has gained the experience as vice president, Lodge said, and he gained it in eight years as U.S. ambassador to the United Nations.

CINCINNATI (AP) — The new Ohio Civil Rights Commission has planned its first meeting in Cincinnati Wednesday to open its southwest region office. The office is to cover 21 southwest Ohio counties. The commission was set up by the last legislature under the Fair Employment Practices Act.

NHL To Launch Season Tonight

By The Associated Press

The National Hockey League season opens tonight on two fronts when the Boston Bruins play the New York Rangers in New York and the Chicago Black Hawks entertain the Detroit Red Wings.

The other two clubs—the Toronto Maple Leafs and the Montreal Canadiens—get their season under way in Montreal Thursday night.

The Canadiens, even without the retired Maurice Richard, are favorites to outdistance the opposition once again. Montreal has won the Stanley Cup the last five years and has taken the NHL title in four of those years.

Richard, now 39, announced his retirement a few weeks ago after 18 record-breaking seasons with Canadiens.

Gen. William T. Sherman (1820-91) said "If nominated, I will not accept. If elected, I will not serve."

Garfield PTA Airs Projects

Discussions of future projects featured the first fall meeting of the Garfield Parent-Teacher Association Tuesday night at the school.

The ways and means committee, headed by Mrs. June Tice, will present several suggestions at the November meeting.

Business was conducted by Charles Heasley, president, and the Rev. Edward John Phinn, pastor of the Grace United Presbyterian Church, gave the invocation.

The Myers group, comprised of Cathy, Randy and Jerry, presented a tap dance revue during the entertainment period. They are students of the Bill Cassiday Dance Studio.

The attendance banner was awarded the third grade of which Mrs. Catherine Kelly is teacher.

Refreshments were served by the homeroom mothers of the special education class.

CD Platoons Discuss Plans For Test Alert

Plans for a test alert Sunday, Oct. 16, at 2 p. m. were discussed at a meeting of the 2nd and 5th Platoons of the 31st Mobile Support Group, Civil Defense, Tuesday night in the Glenmoor fire station. Twenty-five attended.

Participating units, all part of the 31st Mobile Support Group, will be from Glenmoor, Salineville, Winona, Lisbon, Carrollton, Leetonia and Roswell. The site has not been selected.

William Lockhart conducted business. The next meeting will be Oct. 18.

South Africa Balloting On Republic Plan

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—Long lines of South Africans voted today on the nationalist government's plan to make this member of the British Commonwealth a republic.

The plan—opposed by British-descended whites—could result in South Africa's being turned out of Britain's multiracial family of nations.

The radio of the white-supremacist government proclaimed: "This is the most crucial vote in the history of our country."

Both sides agreed it probably would be a record poll of 90 per cent of the eligible voters.

The opposition worked hard to get out a big vote. Prime Minister Hendrik F. Verwoerd's Dutch-descended nationalists acknowledged a massive vote might go against a republic, but they were favored to win. Afrikaners outnumber voters of British descent by a ratio of 55 to 45.

More than 1,800,000 whites in South Africa and the neighboring mandate of Southwest Africa were eligible to vote. The nearly 12 million non-whites had no vote.

First results were expected to be known by tonight.

Verwoerd has said that if there is a majority of as much as one vote for the plan, he will consider it a mandate to submit to Parliament a measure declaring the country a republic. His party's majority in Parliament would assure approval.

According to one recent survey, about three out of every 100 American husbands admitted their wives did the proposing. Possibly this ratio will increase during this present Leap Year of 1960!

Strong Motive Strengthens Will Power

So many struggling dieters ask, "How can I strengthen my will power?" First, let's analyze what gives power to the will. Basically it is desire and interest. If your motive — your reason — for wanting to reduce is strong, you have the necessary will power.

By Ida Jean Kain

For unlikely example: Supposing you had a Rich Uncle who promised you a million dollars, tax-free, if you would slim down to shapely weight. From that moment on, you would enthusiastically pursue a slimming course. Would you have more will power? No, but you would be so strongly motivated to slim down that there would be no possibility of your failing.

Well, not many of us have Rich Uncles. So what to do? A challenge is a great help. Make a date to do something special two or three months from now, something where it will be really important for you to weigh 20 pounds less.

ENLIST THE AID of your husband or a friend. If someone you love or admire is constructively interested, this will help enormously.

Set yourself a goal — for true will is tied to a goal. If achieving it is important to you, then the will becomes subservient to this goal. Then bring the prize nearer, aim toward your next smaller dress size. This means you will need to take off from 10 to 20 pounds. (If you have a small stature, there will be fewer pounds between each dress size.) Challenge yourself with this thought. . . anyone can take off 10 pounds or 20!

In dieting you bump up against another force—habit. The will is bound in with habit. . .so instead of reinforcing the old, fattening habits, substitute some new, slimming habits. This calls for a plan of action. A big hurdle is to get away from the dinner table at night before you have eaten to satiety. Plan some action to take place immediately after dinner. . . even if it's just to walk to the post box to drop in a letter.

Psychologist William James advocated this method for habit breaking: (1) Launch yourself with as strong a drive as you can muster. In your case, it will help to focus your attention on how wonderful it will be to be slim again!

(2) Do not allow a single exception to break the rhythm. By establishing an unbroken rhythm at the beginning, you strengthen the new habit in an amazing way . . this amounts to compound strength.

WHEN TEMPTED to think. . . "Oh, just this once won't matter," pull up short and flash a picture on the screen of your mind of yourself looking willowy slim.

Get excited about the slim, attractive you toward which you are aiming. Effort and excitement create new energy. . .and strengthen will. Happy Slimming!

Send a long, self - addressed stamped envelope for "Revised Calorie Chart." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of this newspaper.

Bringing Up A Family

Pitfalls Lurk In Grouping Students

In the modern school a teacher in the primary grades may have her children divided into two or more groups for reading—a group of the best readers, a group of readers not so good and so on. The purpose is to let the better readers go forward and the less skillful ones progress as they are able. Such grouping has long been encouraged by reading experts. But some dangers lurk in this plan if the teacher strongly emphasizes it as a means for disciplining each child and threatening him with demotion to a slower group when she supposes he is not trying as hard as he might.

Dr. Garry Meyers

FOR EXAMPLE, a New York mother writes of her son, six, in first grade:

"His teacher has just put him in the bottom third of the class in reading and told him if he didn't learn his words she would put him back in kindergarten and now he's worrying about that."

One can see that a teacher could be tempted so to threaten a child, hoping thereby to goad him to greater effort. But once she does so, she defeats the main purpose of grouping, which is to let each child work at the level where he can enjoy success.

Naturally, she will discover that some children of a slower-reading group could profit from working with a faster group or vice versa. But the effect on a child moved to a slower group may be vastly more serious than on the child moved to a faster group.

SO THE teacher must exercise rare skill as she does any regrouping, if she is not to do harm to some children. She must do the regrouping so that the children and their parents see that the grouping on the basis of reading skills gives all the children maximum opportunity to learn to read.

And we parents also need to be skillful in our relations with this teacher.

Some parents are also tempted to warn the child he might be demoted to a slower-reading group. Others, alas, keep telling a child he won't pass his grade unless he works harder.

If they sense the likelihood of their child's lag in his group or grade, they can do best for him by providing him with more help at reading, even by providing a tutor for him.

My bulletins, "Home Helps in Reading (I and II) may be had by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

Dr. Garry Meyers

In the modern school a teacher in the primary grades may have her children divided into two or more groups for reading—a group of the best readers, a group of readers not so good and so on. The purpose is to let the better readers go forward and the less skillful ones progress as they are able. Such grouping has long been encouraged by reading experts. But some dangers lurk in this plan if the teacher strongly emphasizes it as a means for disciplining each child and threatening him with demotion to a slower group when she supposes he is not trying as hard as he might.

—:—

FOR EXAMPLE, a New York mother writes of her son, six, in first grade:

"His teacher has just put him in the bottom third of the class in reading and told him if he didn't learn his words she would put him back in kindergarten and now he's worrying about that."

One can see that a teacher could be tempted so to threaten a child, hoping thereby to goad him to greater effort. But once she does so, she defeats the main purpose of grouping, which is to let each child work at the level where he can enjoy success.

Naturally, she will discover that some children of a slower-reading group could profit from working with a faster group or vice versa. But the effect on a child moved to a slower group may be vastly more serious than on the child moved to a faster group.

SO THE teacher must exercise rare skill as she does any regrouping, if she is not to do harm to some children. She must do the regrouping so that the children and their parents see that the grouping on the basis of reading skills gives all the children maximum opportunity to learn to read.

And we parents also need to be skillful in our relations with this teacher.

Some parents are also tempted to warn the child he might be demoted to a slower-reading group. Others, alas, keep telling a child he won't pass his grade unless he works harder.

If they sense the likelihood of their child's lag in his group or grade, they can do best for him by providing him with more help at reading, even by providing a tutor for him.

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — David Botts and Eugene Adams, both 23, had something approaching a roller coaster ride on the Marshall Street viaduct here.

Their automobile crashed through a guard rail and wound up on a grass plot 85 feet below. Police said it slid down a telephone pole guy wire. They were uninjured.

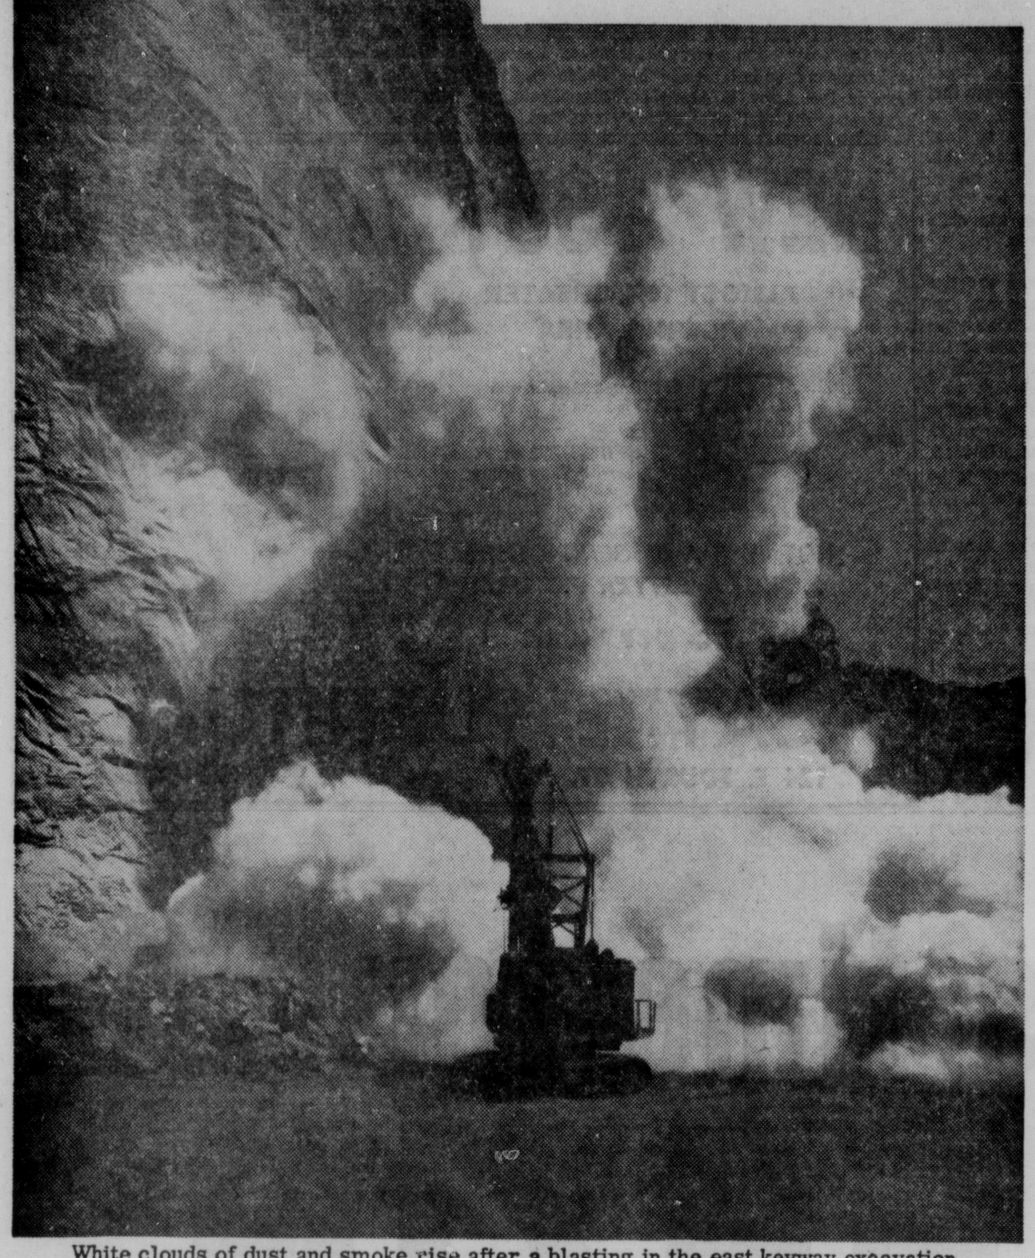
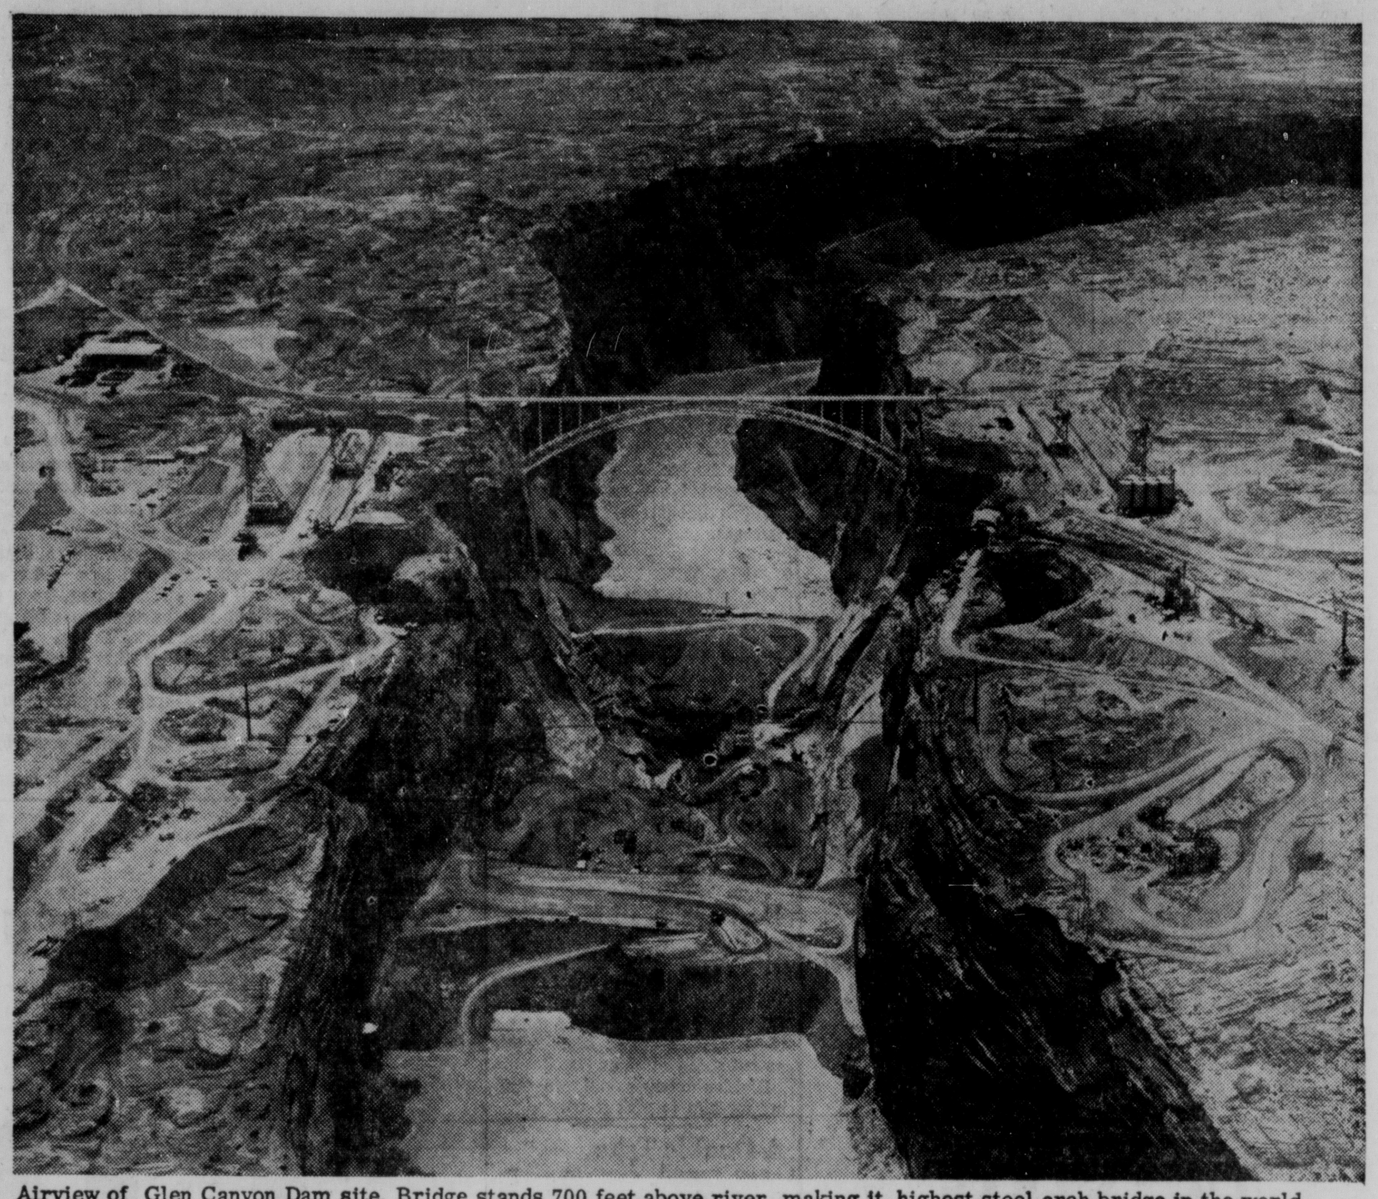
NEW DAM--GIANT TASK



White clouds of dust and smoke rise after a blasting in the east keyway excavation.



Airview of Glen Canyon Dam site. Bridge stands 700 feet above river, making it highest steel arch bridge in the world.

Construction of Glen Canyon Dam, near Page, Ariz., key unit of the Upper Colorado River Storage Project, is near the halfway mark—but you'd never guess it by looking at it.

At this stage, the project resembles little more than a hole in the ground.

But a lot of work has been done since construction began in October 1956. The turbulent Colorado River has been moved from its channel by coffer dams and two diversion tunnels carved through the solid rock canyon walls. Spillway tunnels and excavation of the river bed have been completed and pouring of concrete has begun at the foundation about 200 feet below the normal water level.

In the next 2 1/2 years, more than 5 million cubic yards of concrete will be poured forming a barrier towering from 300 feet at its base to 35 at the crest 700 feet above. The top of the dam will be 573 feet above the river bed.

When completed about 1964, the dam will extend 1,500 feet between the pastel-colored walls of the canyon.

It will create 186-mile-long Lake Powell covering 162,700 acres and contain a power plant with a capacity of 900,000 kilowatts. This is 75 per cent of the total power to be generated by the Upper Colorado project.

The National Park Service already has plans for a national recreation area at the lake, one of the multiple benefits Arizona, Colorado, New Mexico, Utah and Wyoming will receive from the dam and the overall development project.

Aside from power production, the major function of the dam is to control the flow of the river, storing water from the Upper Basin to meet needs of the Lower Basin. This will make it possible for upstream states to use water through other units of the program.

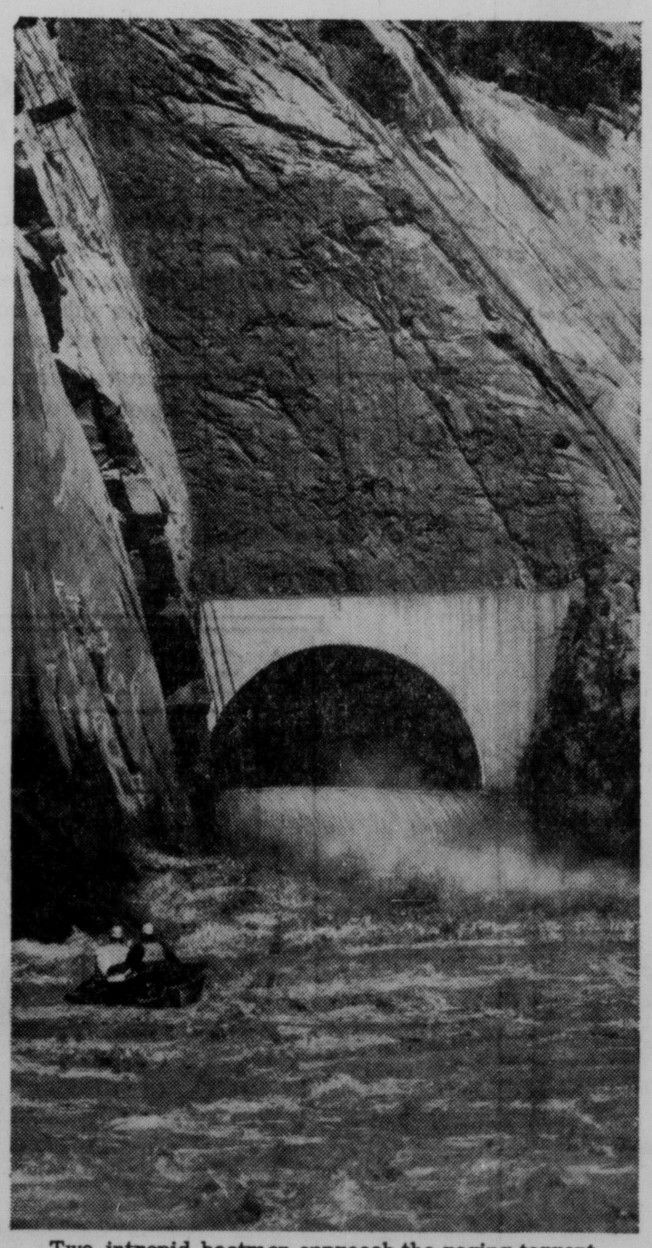
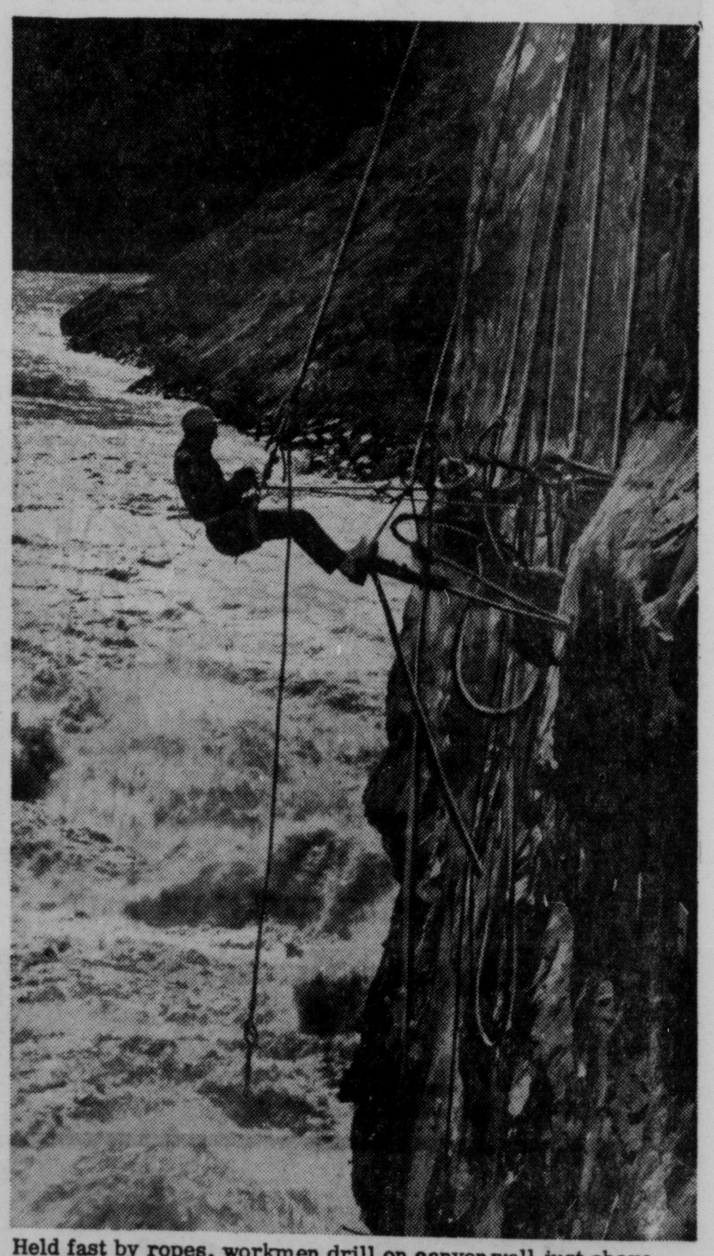
Small stream of water flows into left diversion tunnel after level of cofferdam lake had been lowered by cooler weather. Picture taken looking out of upstream portal.



Two intrepid boatmen approach the raging torrent of water pouring from the right diversion tunnel.



Held fast by ropes, workmen drill on canyon wall just above the rushing water as it pours from right diversion tunnel.

A Look At Medicine

Americans Not So Healthy As Is Generally Believed

By The Associated Press

A look at medicine finds good health not so widespread as it might be and ribs used to help repair deformed faces:

Sicker Than We Think

Americans apparently are not so healthy as generally thought. There are more minor illnesses and days of being below par, than has been suspected.

This is indicated, at least, by 10 scientists who kept careful records upon themselves for nine months, beginning in the fall.

On average, they were free of some symptoms of minor ills only 45 per cent of all that time. The 10 suffered 45 bouts of upper respiratory ailments.

But they averaged only 1½ days absence from their jobs. This suggests absenteeism records don't accurately reflect the extent of minor illnesses, at least among persons who like their work, says the report in the American Review of Respiratory Diseases.

Wine As Medicine

Drinking a dry, white wine helped patients overcome one after-effect of surgery in which part of the stomach is removed because of ulcers or cancer. These persons no longer could absorb fats from their food normally, and this caused pain, indigestion, and sometimes far more serious complications. The wine boosted ability to utilize essential food fats reports Dr. Theodore L. Althausen University of California Medical School.

Ribs for Repair

The 4-year-old boy was so ashamed of his deformed face that he hid in a closet rather than face other youngsters in a hospital ward.

He's one of a number of children whose faces since have been rebuilt by using ribs taken from the youngsters' own chest cages. If care is taken not to damage the membrane surrounding the rib, the rib grows back again, and can even be used repeatedly in step-by-step plastic surgery to repair defects, Drs. J. J. Longacre, G. A. deStefano and Kaj Holmstrand of Cincinnati Report.

Skin Spiler

Carbon paper is not uncommon as a cause of allergic skin rashes, particularly among secretaries and stenographers, a medical journal says. Patch-tests easily can show if carbon paper is causing the trouble.

Defendant Bound Over On City Check Charges

A former Burgettstown auto dealer was bound over to the Grand Jury under a $1,000 bond following a lengthy preliminary hearing Tuesday morning in Municipal Court.

Mario Pace, now residing in Akron, was held on a charge he issued a fraudulent check for $1,792 to the Central Service Co. of W. 7th St. on Dec. 12, 1957, for partial payment on a car he purchased for a customer.

Pace, through his counsel, Atty. Ben H. Berman, entered a not guilty plea.

Rotarians See New Products

Two sales engineers from the Metropolitan Brick Co. in Canton exhibited several new masonry products and screened a film at the Rotary Club's luncheon Tuesday noon in the Travelers Hotel.

Bill Pilati of Minerva, formerly of Negley, and Bill Jones, a recent graduate of Kent State University, represented the brick firm and discussed the new products briefly.

One new development in masonry production shown the club is a pre-cast panel reinforced with steel rods and designed for heavy structural loads. It will compete with metal paneling in the sales field.

Also shown were samples of SRC Brick, solar screen masonry and Acoustile. Jones pointed out that the SRC brick is not new in the masonry field but has shown signs of having good insulation qualities in tests.

The solar screen product still is in the development stage, while the pre-cast masonry panel is the first breakthrough in the industry to develop a brick panel possessing its qualities of strength.

They screened a film, "Man in Masonry." They were introduced by Dr. George VanHorne, who acted as program chairman for Robert F. Beatty, who is in Toronto, Canada, attending an architect's convention. George Hargraves, president, presided.

Navy Lays Claim To Speed Record For F4H Phantom

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy claimed a closed circuit speed record Tuesday for its new McDonnell F4H Phantom II fighter.

It announced that in runs over Edwards Air Force Base, Calif., on Sept. 25, the fighter, flown by Cmdr. John F. Jeff Davis of Chicago, had averaged 1,390.21 miles per hour over a 62-mile circular course.

Navy officials said the feat of flying the fighter in a circle only 20.2 miles in diameter while holding a sustained speed more than double the speed of sound was of "major significance."

The flight by Davis will be submitted for final certification by the Federation Aeronautique Internationale. The previous record of 1,167.35 m.p.h. was set by Brig. Gen. Joseph H. Moore of the Air Force in 1959.

Davis will receive the Distinguished Flying Cross from Navy Secretary William B. Franke later today.

Davis reported the circular course was flown at an altitude of about 45,000 feet above the Mojave Desert.

2 School Supervisors To Attend State Session

Two city school supervisors will participate in the fifth annual workshop for Ohio supervisors sponsored by the State Department of Education Thursday and Friday in Columbus.

Asst. Supt. Paul Blair will serve as leader of a discussion group in language arts specializing in emphasis on reading instruction. Miss Mildred McGregor, assistant principal at Westgate School, will serve as a consultant to the group.

The theme of the meeting at the Youth Center at the State Fairgrounds will be "Curriculum Adjustment for Talented Pupils."

Robinson explained he has been "practicing" by picking cotton in southeast Missouri and northeast Arkansas.

A Look At Medicine

Americans Not So Healthy As Is Generally Believed

By The Associated Press

A look at medicine finds good health not so widespread as it might be and ribs used to help repair deformed faces:

Sicker Than We Think

Americans apparently are not so healthy as generally thought. There are more minor illnesses and days of being below par, than has been suspected.

This is indicated, at least, by 10 scientists who kept careful records upon themselves for nine months, beginning in the fall.

On average, they were free of some symptoms of minor ills only 45 per cent of all that time. The 10 suffered 45 bouts of upper respiratory ailments.

But they averaged only 1½ days absence from their jobs. This suggests absenteeism records don't accurately reflect the extent of minor illnesses, at least among persons who like their work, says the report in the American Review of Respiratory Diseases.

Wine As Medicine

Drinking a dry, white wine helped patients overcome one after-effect of surgery in which part of the stomach is removed because of ulcers or cancer. These persons no longer could absorb fats from their food normally, and this caused pain, indigestion, and sometimes far more serious complications. The wine boosted ability to utilize essential food fats reports Dr. Theodore L. Althausen University of California Medical School.

Ribs for Repair

The 4-year-old boy was so ashamed of his deformed face that he hid in a closet rather than face other youngsters in a hospital ward.

He's one of a number of children whose faces since have been rebuilt by using ribs taken from the youngsters' own chest cages. If care is taken not to damage the membrane surrounding the rib, the rib grows back again, and can even be used repeatedly in step-by-step plastic surgery to repair defects, Drs. J. J. Longacre, G. A. deStefano and Kaj Holmstrand of Cincinnati Report.

Skin Spiler

Carbon paper is not uncommon as a cause of allergic skin rashes, particularly among secretaries and stenographers, a medical journal says. Patch-tests easily can show if carbon paper is causing the trouble.

To Lead Discussions

LISBON — Mrs. Marilyn Solak, Columbiana County high school consultant, will serve as chairman of a high school discussion group on "Organizing for the Academically Talented Pupil" at a meeting of Ohio school supervisors Thursday and Friday at Columbus.

Defendant Bound Over On City Check Charges

A former Burgettstown auto dealer was bound over to the Grand Jury under a $1,000 bond following a lengthy preliminary hearing Tuesday morning in Municipal Court.

Mario Pace, now residing in Akron, was held on a charge he issued a fraudulent check for $1,792 to the Central Service Co. of W. 7th St. on Dec. 12, 1957, for partial payment on a car he purchased for a customer.

Pace, through his counsel, Atty. Ben H. Berman, entered a not guilty plea.

Man In Crash Fined

NEW CUMBERLAND — Robert Patrick Theiss, 24, of Follansbee was fined $10 and costs on a charge of failure to have his vehicle under control at a hearing Monday before Squire John D. Herron. He was cited by sheriff's deputies after a two-car accident Friday night on State Route 2.

Rotarians See New Products

Two sales engineers from the Metropolitan Brick Co. in Canton exhibited several new masonry products and screened a film at the Rotary Club's luncheon Tuesday noon in the Travelers Hotel.

Bill Pilati of Minerva, formerly of Negley, and Bill Jones, a recent graduate of Kent State University, represented the brick firm and discussed the new products briefly.

One new development in masonry production shown the club is a pre-cast panel reinforced with steel rods and designed for heavy structural loads. It will compete with metal paneling in the sales field.

Also shown were samples of SRC Brick, solar screen masonry and Acoustile. Jones pointed out that the SRC brick is not new in the masonry field but has shown signs of having good insulation qualities in tests.

The solar screen product still is in the development stage, while the pre-cast masonry panel is the first breakthrough in the industry to develop a brick panel possessing its qualities of strength.

They screened a film, "Man in Masonry." They were introduced by Dr. George VanHorne, who acted as program chairman for Robert F. Beatty, who is in Toronto, Canada, attending an architect's convention. George Hargraves, president, presided.

Midland's Legion Slates Halloween Parade On Oct. 29

Plans for sponsoring the annual Halloween parade and party Oct. 29 were outlined at a meeting of Midland American Legion Post 461 Monday night at the post home.

A parade will be held on Midland Ave. for children. Treats, candy and prizes will be presented.

William Coble, commander, presided. The post received an invitation to participate in the Beaver County Veterans Day celebration Nov. 11. Beaver Post 389 will be host. Midland will send a color guard and also invited the High School Band.

A blood drive was started to assist a member who is ill. Registration will be at the post. Members will go to the Beaver County blood bank at Beaver Oct. 13 to donate blood.

Two new members were accepted. James E. Fry of New Brighton, district representative of the Sons of the Legion, spoke on forming a group in Midland. The organization is for sons of members.

The next meeting will be Oct. 17.

Navy Lays Claim To Speed Record For F4H Phantom

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy claimed a closed circuit speed record Tuesday for its new McDonnell F4H Phantom II fighter.

It announced that in runs over Edwards Air Force Base, Calif., on Sept. 25, the fighter, flown by Cmdr. John F. Jeff Davis of Chicago, had averaged 1,390.21 miles per hour over a 62-mile circular course.

Navy officials said the feat of flying the fighter in a circle only 20.2 miles in diameter while holding a sustained speed more than double the speed of sound was of "major significance."

The flight by Davis will be submitted for final certification by the Federation Aeronautique Internationale. The previous record of 1,167.35 m.p.h. was set by Brig. Gen. Joseph H. Moore of the Air Force in 1959.

Davis will receive the Distinguished Flying Cross from Navy Secretary William B. Franke later today.

Davis reported the circular course was flown at an altitude of about 45,000 feet above the Mojave Desert.

2 School Supervisors To Attend State Session

Two city school supervisors will participate in the fifth annual workshop for Ohio supervisors sponsored by the State Department of Education Thursday and Friday in Columbus.

Asst. Supt. Paul Blair will serve as leader of a discussion group in language arts specializing in emphasis on reading instruction. Miss Mildred McGregor, assistant principal at Westgate School, will serve as a consultant to the group.

The theme of the meeting at the Youth Center at the State Fairgrounds will be "Curriculum Adjustment for Talented Pupils."

Cotton Picking Event Has Alaska Contestant

BLYTHEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The National Cotton Picking Contest has a contestant from Alaska.

Vernon Robinson of Sitka will compete Friday with 100 or so other cotton pickers for a 1,000 prize.

15 From Area Enlist In Navy

Fifteen area men enlisted in the Navy during September, Chief Shipfitter James M. Pattison, local Navy recruiter, said today.

The enlistees included Arthur C. Wilkes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Wilkes, 1807 Buckeye Ave., Charles R. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Tice, 2019 Danbury Ave., and Gary L. Kidder, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin L. Kidder, 1111 White St., all of Wellsville; Frank D. Powell, son of Mrs. Mamie E. Powell, 653 Bradshaw Ave., and Charles E. Leffler, nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Oliver of Hammondsville.

Smith, who was graduated this year from Wellsville High School, and Powell, a Lisbon High School graduate, enlisted as an airman recruit and seaman recruit, respectively.

All five were assigned to Great Lakes Naval Training Center for recruit training.

Also assigned to Great Lakes for training were James F. Pickens, son of Mrs. Norma G. Beadnell of Lisbon R. D. 2; Archie W. Kleist Jr. of Columbiana; Loraine E. McGath, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester McGath, 100 W. Main St., East Palestine, and Charles G. Metcalf of Salem, who enlisted as a hospitalman recruit.
